Timken Set for Formation of New Rock Bit Section

The formation of a new Rock Bit Division was announced today by W. R. Timken, President of the Timken Roller Bearing Company. Prior to this reorganization, rock bit operations were associated with the Company's Service-sales Division.

In making the announcement, Mr. Timken said that headquarters for the new division will be located at the Company's Colorado Springs plant.

Walter Jehu, formerly Managing Director of Australian Timken Proprietary Limited, has been appointed to head the new Division as General Manager. F. M. Barry has been named Sales Manager and R. H. Holsing will serve as Chief Engineer. Mr. Barry and Mr. Holsing have been associated with rock bit operations in Canton, Ohio. Frank Gavin, formerly Plant Manager at Colorado Springs, has been named Factory Manager and Ward Pontius will continue to

New Plant Being Built for Mail Order Firm Here

Walter Drake and Sons Mail Order Co. will move into a new steel and masonry building in the Rustic Hills industrial park September 1, the Gazette Telegraph has learned.

The new building, for which the foundation work has already begun, will be located on an 11-acre lot which adjoins the Starlight Drive-in property on U.S. Highway 24 east of Colorado Springs.

J. R. Betts of the Smartt Realty Co. negotiated the $500,000 sale of the land and building.

George Knox of Hi-Valley Constructors Inc. is the designer and builder of the new building.

The building will have 21,760 square feet of space, of which 3,500 square feet will be office space. The rest of the building will be plant area. One third of the general office space will be for the advertising and promotion departments with another third for a store to sell outdated merchandise at reduced prices. The rest of the office area will be for company officers.

The Colorado Builders Supply Co. is doing the steel work and Hi-Valley will do the carpentry work. Such jobs as plumbing and utilities installment will be sublet by Hi-Valley.

Walter Drake and Sons, which is presently located at 22nd Street and Bott Avenue, mails merchandise ranging from ornamental Christmas trees to kitchen utensils and has customers in all fifty states, in Mexico, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The firm is listed as the largest mailers in the Pikes Peak Region, according to Post Office officials.

Nikita Slaps Red China; Leaves 'Peace' Talks

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in a seeming rebuff to Peking, was disclosed Saturday to have left Moscow as negotiators from Communist China and Russia met in the first business session of their historic showdown conference.

Khrushchev, who had returned to Moscow only two days ago from a trip to East Germany, was in Kiev. The premier's absence from the city at the time of the vital talks was disclosed by Moscow Radio.

There was no explanation of Khrushchev's seemingly pointed absence from the Soviet capital during the talks, but there was little doubt about the obvious indirect rebuke to the Communist Chinese delivered by publication Saturday of a new peace appeal from President Kennedy.

Geologists Warn Fry-Pan Reservoir Location Wrong

DENVER (AP) — Directors of the Rocky Mountain Assn. of Geologists said they have asked Congress to stop work on a key unit of the Fryingpan-Arkansas Reclamation Project pending a geological study.

The action supports a claim by one of their members, William A. Newton, who said last month that his review of geology at the proposed Ruedi Dam location "raised serious doubts about the feasibility of constructing the reservoir at the present proposed site."

The proposed site is about 13 miles east of Basalt on the Fryingpan River. The Bureau of Reclamation answered Newton's report with an assertion its studies and investigations confirmed the suitability of the Ruedi site.

Arthur F. Brunton, president of the geologists' association directors, said the group asked that "an independent geological engineering firm be selected by Congress to report directly to Congress concerning the feasibility of the present site of the Ruedi Reservoir."

Newton said he had determined that faulty geology at the site would cause the Ruedi Reservoir to leak and might cause the dam to collapse.

He estimated the cost of the Ruedi unit at $12,831,000 and said its location at the proposed site, because of geological hazards, represented a waste of taxpayer money. Newton proposed that the dam be located 10 miles further downstream.

Dogs for Food To Be Raised By Red China

ROME (UPI)—Communist Chinese authorities, who launched a war of extermination against sparrows a few years ago, are now killing off dogs to save food for the people, the Italian news agency Continentale reported Friday.

Dogs which are not killed are being raised in cages and will be eaten, it said.

The agency, which specializes in Communist affairs, said under a Hong Kong dateline that Chinese authorities have mobilized the army, police and party activists to kill dogs throughout the country "for economic and hygienic reasons."

The idea, it said, was that all animals which are not useful should be wiped out because they consume precious food.

37 New District Judges Needed, State Group Says

BOULDER (UPI) — District judges working on the court reform constitutional amendment passed last year, Friday favored a million-dollar expansion program at the district court level with nearly twice the present number of judges.

The judges said at least 37 more district judges were needed to handle the states rapidly-increasing caseload. Colorado now has 41 district judges.

The judges revealed their position at a seminar ordered by the Colorado Supreme Court.

The district judges based their position on the assumption that all county court judges will be experienced lawyers and will handle a bigger share of cases and that county courts will handle all juvenile cases.

Judges at the meeting voted 16 to 9 to recommend that the Legislature give county courts jurisdiction over juvenile matters. The vote was a major policy decision.

Under the amendment, justice of the peace courts will be abolished with their caseload going to the county courts.

Presiding Judge Henry E. Santo of Denver said his city needed eight more district judges. Denver

NAACP Friction Healthy, Says Leader Wilkins

By CHRISTINE E. CZURYLO

CHICAGO (AP) — Friction between James Meredith and other leaders of the NAACP youth division over leadership in the Negro civil rights campaign was termed healthy Saturday by Roy Wilkins, the NAACP executive secretary.

Meredith, pioneer Negro student at the University of Mississippi, criticized what he termed the "very low quality leadership present among our young Negroes and the childish nature of their activities."

Meredith, still smoldering Saturday, issued a statement from his hotel room bitterly commenting upon platform criticism of his speech at a youth banquet Friday night by John Davis, a NAACP youth division director and subsequent cheering of Davis.

Davis also is a Negro.

Meredith said that he was unable to sleep and added, "I shed my first tears this morning since I was a child."

He said he could not endure intolerance and "to be so dishonored by my own people."

"If we are to take the same characteristics as our oppressors and our enemies," Meredith said, "I feel that certainly our cause may be doomed."

Wilkins told a news conference at the close of the six-day convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that "alert, enthusiastic, imaginative, impatient Negro youth were one of the mov-

Kennedy's Trip Was Damaging, Londoners Told

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Express, in an acid attack on President Kennedy, said Saturday his trip to Europe only flattered the Germans, further infuriated France and left a dubious impression in Britain.

Chief correspondent Rene MacColl said Kennedy's "remarkable European invasion" was ill-advised and ill-time and that it was prompted only by the "calamitous fall in his popularity at home."

The Daily Express, which often voices an anti-American attitude in its special reports, is owned by Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook. Coincidentally or not he is reported to have lunched Friday with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Why should Kennedy have "insisted on deserting the White House, against a quantity of good advice, at a time when pressures and problems were piling up around him at home?" MacColl asked.

He answered his own question: ". . . The calamitous fall in his popularity, as shown by both private and public polls, among the electorate" showed "an eye-catching diversionary operation of glamour and color was urgently necessary. Thus—Europe."

The Germans "screamed their appreciation in the hysterically rhythmic chantings" for U.S. aid and dreamed of the day "when they too will possess nuclear weapons," he wrote.

Kennedy's German speeches "had harsh anti-De Gaulle overtones . . . which revealed how sharply he resents De Gaulle's intransigence towards American polices and the Frenchman's massive threat to the American master plan for Europe's future."

"Repeatedly by inference Kennedy stressed and undoubtedly deepened the existing U.S.-French split," he wrote.

NAACP Pledges To Join March on Nation's Capital

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) pledged Saturday to join with "other militant groups" in a march on Washington next month in support of the civil rights legislation pending in Congress.

The NAACP convention shouted acceptance of a resolution calling for a nation-wide campaign of sound in support of President Kennedy's civil rights bills.

During the march on Washington, "efforts will be made to secure the cooperation of churches, temples, public and private institutions which have bells, chimes, horns, whistles and other sound producing devices and instruments," the resolution said.

The delegates agreed to a plan "to simultaneously sound daily these devices all across the nation at high noon for a period of five-minutes duration."

The resolution called for similar five-minute blasts of sound every Wednesday noon thereafter until the legislation was passed or until Congress adjourns.

Traffic Deaths On Upswing Thruout Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deaths in traffic accidents on the nation's highways reversed an earlier trend and took an upturn in the long Independence Day weekend and the heavy traffic of homeward-bound motorists was yet to come.

Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, said there was a strong upward trend which indicated that highway deaths might exceed the record high of 509 set in 1961, the most recent four-day July 4 observance.

An Associated Press tabulation late Saturday reported 366 deaths in traffic accidents, 32 in boating accidents and 95 by drowning.

The council had estimated that 550 to 650 persons would die in traffic accidents between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday.

The record for a four-day Independence Day observance was set in 1961 when 50 persons were killed in traffic accidents.

The record for a holiday of any kind was set in 1956 when 706 persons died during a four-day Christmas holiday.

The Associated Press conducted a survey for comparative purposes of a four-day nonholiday weekend from 6 p.m. June 19 to midnight June 23. The death toll in traffic accidents was 458.

Multiple deaths in traffic accidents occurred in a number of states.

Six members of one family died in an accident at Butler, Pa. The

Rail Unions May Turn Down Plea to Prevent Big Strike

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs mounted Saturday that the rail unions will turn down a plan advanced by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to head off a nationwide railroad strike.

Although none of the union officials would say so outright, their comments indicated that their answer will be "no" when they and railroad representatives meet Sunday afternoon with the secretary.

In St. Louis, H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, described the Wirtz plan as "unacceptable."

In Cedar Rapids, Iowa, George Harris, senior vice president of the Independent Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, said, "We wouldn't reject the proposal until after the meeting."

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds went over the details of the plan with representatives of the five operating unions Saturday. He said later he had no idea what the unions' answer would be.

Meanwhile, a Labor Department source said the fact that union representatives sought further clarification from Reynolds raises at least a "glimmer of hope" that they might accept.

Union officials have a meeting scheduled Sunday morning. Only at that time, said one, would a final decision be made on what to tell Wirtz.

The long-standing, bitter rail dispute came to a head Wednesday when the railroads said they would impose new work rules, which would eliminate thousands of jobs, at 12:01 a.m., next Thursday despite union objections.

The unions subsequently said that in this event they would immediately call a national strike.

In an effort to head off such an eventuality Wirtz advanced his plan Friday. In essence, it would use a Presidential Emergency Board's recommendations that

Spleen Transplant Boy Reported In Good Condition

DENVER (AP)—A 10-year-old Pueblo boy who received a transplanted spleen from his mother June 28 was reported in satisfactory condition Saturday at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

"The first week has been very good," a hospital spokesman said.

The 31-year-old mother, who lives normally without her spleen, is also in satisfactory condition.

Their names have not been disclosed.

The transplant, first of its kind, was performed in an effort to correct a deficiency in the boy's blood resulting from the inability of his spleen to produce antibodies. This made him a target for infections, particularly in his lungs, doctors said.

A team of surgeons removed the mother's spleen and implanted it in the boy's lower right pelvic area, without removing his defective spleen.

Doctors said it will be several weeks before they know whether the unprecedented operation is successful. The boy's body soon will attempt to reject the organ, they added, but he is being treated with drugs to combat this reaction.

Physician Warns View of Eclipse May Be Blinding

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) —A physician warned Saturday that looking at a partial eclipse of the sun may cause blindness or permanent blurred vision.

Dr. C. C. Gullett, director of medical services for Trans World Airlines, issued a danger memorandum to all TWA personnel regarding the approaching July 20 eclipse.

Gullott described a simple "sunscope" and said it would give an adequate view of the clipse without risk of eye damage.

The sunscope can be made by making a sharp hole the size of a nail in a piece of cardboard about one foot square. The viewer should stand with his back to the sun and hold the cardboard at an angle so the sun's rays shine through it onto a second white surface placed at the same angle at a distance of five feet.

Dr Gullott noted that the 1959 eclipse caused 59 cases of eye burn in Seattle and 170 cases in Australia.

"These patients felt no pain, but all experienced permanent blurred vision," he said. "They could never read again because their finest point of vision was burned."

Dr. Gullott said many of those persons used inadequate filters such as sunglasses, smoked glass, beer bottles or exposed photofilm.

"There are no reliable filters generally available to the public which are safe for prolonged viewing of an eclipse directly," he said. "Children's eyes are much more susceptible to burn," he cautioned.

U.S. Will Send High Diplomat To Red Hungary

BUDAPEST (UPI) — The United States may name a minister to Hungary next month, healing a breach dating from the 1956 revolution, informed Hungarian sources said Saturday.

A charge d'affaires has led the U.S. mission here since the Hungarian revolt of November, 1956, and Joszef Cardinal Mindszenty took refuge in the Amerigan legation.

The sources said the minister's first task would be the smoothing over — and possible settlement— of Mindszenty's position and the resulting frictions. The Roman Catholic primate has lived in self-exile within the legation since Nov. 4, 1956.

Contacts aimed at freeing the cardinal were established between the Vatican and Hungarian government some time before the death of Pope John XXIII last month. Vatican intermediaries to the Hungarian government were Vienna's Franziskus Cardinal Koenig and Msgr. Agostino Caseoli. They also met Mindszenty in his "exile" on the third floor of the legation building.

Tiros Satellite Will Photograph Solar Eclipse

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Tiros 6 weather satellte will help provide special forecasts for scientists during the solar eclipse July 20, the weather bureau said Saturday.

The eclipse will be total along a 60-mile corridor extending from Japan across Alaska, Canada, and Maine to the Middle Atlantic. It will be visible as a partial blackout in all other states, weather permitting, except Hawaii.

The weather bureau said Tiros 6 is scheduled to photograph the area of totality throughout the entire period of the eclipse. Cloud maps based on its potographs will be available at weather stations.

Boy Survives 40 Days In Northern Wilderness

FORT SMITH, N.W.T. (AP) — The 13-year-old son of a Missouri evangelist told today how he survived for 40 days on raw potatoes after his teacher died, leaving him alone on an isolated northern island.

"I wasn't afraid," said Kenneth Youngman, son of Alexander Youngman, an evangelist working in the Northwest Territories.

The elder Youngman, who represents the Association of Fundamental Ministers of Missouri, said he took Kenneth and his school teacher, Anna Thiessen, 47, of Coaldale, Alta., to a cabin on an unnamed island in the Peace River about 80 miles south of Fort Smith last March.

He stocked the cabin with food before leaving them to go on an evangelical mission. Kenneth gave this account of what happened after his father departed.

For more than a month things went quietly as Miss Thiessen taught Kenneth Bible studies and his school lessons.

On May 1, the boy awoke to hear water rushing around the cabin. He went outside and began building a raft.

Ice chunks in the flooding river frightened him so he and Miss Thiessen climbed to the roof of the cabin. For the next two days, they had nothing to eat and kept warm by tearing tarpaper from the roof and burning it.

Miss Thiessen slipped into the icy waters about two days later after their cabin became awash.

"I saw circles going out in the water where she fell in but she didn't come up again," he said.

Later he found her lying face down near the cabin. Kenneth lived on potatoes and potato peelings for the next 40 days.

He waved a white cloth to tug boats on the river after the flood waters receded, but no one noticed him.

Kenneth's father returned to the cabin June 30 to pick up the pair. He didn't know about the teacher's death.

"I wasn't afraid. I had faith in the Lord and I knew my Daddy would come," Kenneth said.

New Blue Law To Be Tested In High Court

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Atty. Gen. William Ferguson said today he will advise all Kansas county attorneys to withhold attempts to enforce the new Sunday closing law until the Kansas Supreme Court rules on it.

Ferguson said much litigation could be avoided if enforcement of the law were not attempted Sunday by the county attorneys.

This was in the wake of a decision by Dist. Judge James J. Noone Friday at Wichita that the new law, which was to have had its first application Sunday, was unconstitutional.

The Noone decision specifically applied to Sedgwick County, but Ferguson said it actually affects all 105 counties in the state.

Military Feature Column To Be Launched in GT

A new feature column, to appear twice-weekly in the Gazette Telegraph and of special interest to area-based military men and women, will begin this week in the GT.

"Armed Forces News," written by award-winning reporter Steve Tillman, will carry vital news affecting military personnel from Washington and Pentagon sources.

The Tillman by-line will be recognized by many. It appeared for 10 years under the well-known "Pentagon Post" heading in Army Times and the Army and Navy Register.

A little more than a year ago, Tillman left the Army Times to form his news syndicate on military news. The column is a regular feature in several newspapers thru out the country and now adds the Gazette Telegraph to its growing list.

The column is being added to the Gazette Telegraph as part of its policy to present all the news of interest to all of its readers.

Tillman, who is a retired colonel in the U.S. Army, is an Honorary Doughboy, accorded the honor by the Infantry School (he was a cavalryman; has been given membership in the Falcon Club of the Air Force Academy here and has twice been awarded the Reserve Officers Association in recognition of outstanding services. He is the only member of the news fraternity so honored.

The author of 10 books, his book, "Pension and Retirement" has remained at the top of the list in its category since 1950. Another book, "Man Unafraid," is an eye-witness account of what happened at Ft. Myer in the summer of 1908 when the Wright Brothers demonstrated their flying machine to the Army and has been accepted by the Air Force as the authorized text on the early days of military aviation.

Cadets Will Get Whiff of Space Pressure

BROOKS AFB, Tex. (UPI) — Three Air Force Academy cadets will take a high ride Monday at the school of aerospace medicine without leaving the ground.

The cadets will be outfitted with air force pressure suits and enter one of the school's altitude chambers. Air will be pumped out of the chamber until air pressure equals about 75,000 feet of altitude.

The cadets are Robert R. Tindall, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert W. Tindall of San Antonio; Davy M. Bass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. Bass of Lexington, Ky., and Gerald P. Democko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. Democko of Seattle, Wash.

The purpose of the altitude chamber is to familiarize the cadets with the operation of the pressure suit in an environment simulating the real thing.

Epidemic of Crib Deaths Probed in Philadelphia

By NOAH HALPER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—In the last two weeks of June, 30 apparently healthy babies were put to bed here for the night and died—adding a new puzzle for medical researchers to unravel in their long study of so-called "crib deaths."

In reporting the rash of deaths Saturday, city medical examiner Joseph W. Spelman said he could not explain them.

Asked about a report that the recent high incidence of deaths might have resulted from a severe heat wave and dehydration of the victims, Dr. Spelman commented:

"It's true, more or less, that the deaths coincided with the heat wave . . . but . . . we had a couple more Friday and there certainly was no heat wave."

And a pathologist who studied many of the crib death cases for Dr. Spelman's office, Dr. Marie Valdes Dapena, says some objective studies support the dehydration theory. But, she adds, "this is just one little brick in the wall."

Dr. Dapena, on the staff of St. Christopher's hospital for children, said that in about 85 per cent of the cases she lists the death cause as undetermined.

Spelman said that Philadelphia annually averages about 150 crib death reports, with the highest incidence in the cooler months. Normally, the summer month average is about 5—compared with 15 a week for the last two weeks of June. It was in this period that Philadelphia experienced eight straight days of 90 plus temperatures.

The victims in this surge ranged in age from 2 weeks to 15 months.

The parents who are checked "usually say they just don't know what happened," Dr. Dapena said.

Dr. Frederic Rieders, the city's chief toxicologist, said that among the 150 "crib deaths" in the city last year, he found an unknown red substance in the brains of 88 per cent of the victims.

Rieders said the red substance also shows up in the brains of children who die of well established causes — but only about 20 per cent of the time.

Auto-Rama Set For City Aud. In August

The Venturis Car Club of Colorado Springs has announced it will hold the Auto-rama '63 at the City Auditorium, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 3-4. The first day's session will take place from 5 to 10 p.m., and the final day's show from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m.

On display will be custom cars, hot rods and antiques. The club also hopes to have a Detroit "experimental" model on display. Club members will be on hand for explanations.

Advance tickets will be sold for 75 cents, or tickets may be had at the door of the City Aud at 90 cents on either day of the show. The advance tickets will be offered at the House of Chrome and Empire Auto Supply.

'Family Court' System Fails To Get Backing

BOULDER (AP) — Two veteran judges failed to get support at a judicial conference here Friday for a proposal to establish a family court system in Colorado.

District Judge James Noland of Durango and Jean Jacobucci of Brighton sought to place all domestic relations and juvenile cases in one court.

Colorado District Court judges voted, however, to give jurisdiction of juvenile matters to the county courts and that divorce matters could be handled by both county and district courts.

Noland and Jacobucci charged the judges with shirking responsibility placed on them by voters who passed Amendment No. 1 in turning juvenile matters over to county courts.

Noland urged the district judges to "leave the door open at least" for the legislature to consider a family court. But his plea was rejected by the other judges who claimed another level of courts would complicate judicial system.

The judges recommended that county courts handle domestic relations matters with no limit on the amount of money involved. There is now a $2,000 limit on domestic cases which can be handled by county courts.

This, in effect, would offer citizens a choice of either the county or district court judge to hear a divorce matter involving more than $2,000.

In another action, the jurists reported they need at least 37 more judges to handle the bulging caseload through the state.

The Denver group asked for 8 more judges. The Fourth and Eighth Districts each asked for four more; the First and Thirteenth, three more judges each; the seventh, Tenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth, two each, and the Fifth and Twelfth Districts asked for no additional judges.

Mrs. Margaret Vest Dies; Rites Monday

Mrs. Margaret C. Vest, wife of John H. Vest, 621 E. Fountain St., died Thursday at a local nursing home. She was a member of the Baptist church of Morse Mills, Mo.

Mrs. Vest was born in Morse Mills Jan. 13, 1899. She was married in Hillsboro, Mo., in November, 1919. Besides her husband she is survived by two nephews, Howard Bittick and James Bittick, both of St. Louis, Mo.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Our Chapel of Memories. The Rev. Marvin Essing will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

New President Named for Local Coin Club

John Carlin was elected president of the Colorado Springs Coin Club at a recent meeting of members who now number more than 100.

Other officers elected were Jack Hoeppner, first vice president; Vince Ortiz, second vice president; Harvey Black, secretary treasurer; and Jack Guemmer, seargent-at-arms.

In addition to electing officers for the new year, club members participated in a coin contest with Tom Pollard and Karol Stoker winning first place honors. Both received a proof set as top prize.

Guests are welcome to attend club meetings which are held the first Sunday of each month at 1:30 p.m. and the third Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m.

The meetings are held at the Merri-Laine Restaurant, 2411 W. Colorado Ave.

Argyll Divorce Case Probed in Profumo Affair

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—A judge investigating the Profumo scandal was today reported checking into testimony delivered at the Duchess of Argyll divorce case, the heavily headlined sensation of two months ago.

Newspapers said Lord Denning, the judge assigned by Prime Minister Macmillan to probe circumstances surrounding the Profumo case, had called for a transcript of the divorce action.

The uproar over former war minister John Profumo's affair with playgirl Christine Keeler sparked rumors that other high officials were involved in activities. Gossip has linked officials with persons involved in the Argyll divorce hearing. Denning is committed to tracking down every aspect of the rumors.

Under British law, the testimony delivered in a divorce case must remain secret, except for that portion mentioned in a judge's summation.

The judge in the Argyll case found the 49-year-old duchess guilty of adulerty with four men.

Meanwhile, Scotland Yard was investigating another new turn in the Keeler case, a 12-hour tape recording allegedly made by the 21-year-old redhead.

Her former business manager, Robin Drury, claimed the recording contains new facts in the case of Negro jazz singer Aloysius "Lucky" Gordon, once Christine's lover. Gordon was jailed for three years in June for beating up the 21-year-old red head. He is appealing the conviction.

The recording may also help investigations into the security aspects of Profumo's affair with Christine at the time she was sharing her favors with a Soviet diplomat.

Investigators questioned Drury about the recording for two hours Wednesday. He claimed it was made at his apartment to provide material for Christine's memoirs.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

(© 1963: By the Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

OBESITY AND EATING

Some people gain weight because they enjoy eating. They can reduce by dieting—cutting their caloric intake in half. The excess blubber is no mystery; too much goes in and not enough is burned up by activity.

Other fatties eat too much because they have lost control of their appetite. They eat compulsively somewhat like the alcoholic who drinks compulsively. This escape mechanism is known as emotional eating. these people are happy when nibbling or gorging and are unahppy when dieting. Many of the extreme heavyweights belong to this fraternity.

But their cause is not hopeless. A low caloric diet is needed but they must realize why they gorge and decide to do something about it. Motivation, plus the use of a suppressant, may be successful, but some ought to see a psychiatrist to gain insight into the problem.

Physicians encounter from time to time a patient who claims to eat like a bird but continues to put on weight. These obese men and women may have a body that requires only a small number of calories to function properly. If they were automobiles we might brag about their low gas consumption and high mileagle to the gallon.

Heredity also may play a role. Weight is gained on a normal diet and they must eat sparingly to remain on an even keel. It is not difficult to imagine what happens when this type of individual loves food or is compelled by emotions to eat. The few portly ones with this type of metabolic obesity lose poundage only after remaining on a low caloric diet over a prolonged period of time. Thyroid extract also may help.

Corpulency due to a glandular disorder is uncommon despite the fact that it makes a wonderful excuse for a large waistline. Weighty persons ought to weigh these factors; the majority must decide whether they want to slim down more than they want to eat.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Safe Disposal

A.E. writes: Your advice to discard medications when they no longer are needed is admirable but why not tell the proper way to dispose of them? The thought that people will dump them in a garbage can makes me shudder.

Reply

Right you are. Empty the contents down the drain or incinerator before throwing out the container. More than one child has found a discarded, half-full medicine bottle in an alley and been poisoned by swallowing its contents.

Enemas For Baby

Mrs. M. writes: My 7 month old child suffers from gas and constipation unless I give him an enema every day. Fruits, vegetables, juices, and meats do not solve the problem. Are enemas habit forming?

Reply

Yes. Bring this situation to your family physician's attention because constitpation at this age is not normal. X-rays may be needed or more radical dietary changes.

Leg Clot

M.R. writes: How does a doctor know when a blood clot in the leg has dissolved, after an attack of phlebitis?

Reply

The clot does not dissolve; it is replaced with scar tissue. The physician is more concerned with the causative infection. He is able to determine whether inflammation has subsided by means of examination and blood tests.

Prostate and Age

M.U. writes: Is 49 too young to be operated on for prostate trouble?

Reply

Not if surgery is needed. Most victims of this disorder are over 55.

Woman Survives Plane Crash in Southwest Desert

By HARRY MOSKOS

GRANTS, N.M. (AP) —"My prayers were answered."

Mrs. Frances Tweed of Van Nuys, Calif., summed up a week-long ordeal after a plane crash last Saturday in which her husband died.

Mrs. Tweed, a slim brunette, lived on pastry and rainwater in a semi-desert desolate area six miles southwest of Grants.

She was found by a Civil Air Patrol search plane Friday, beside the wreckage and her husband's body.

"She is a remarkable . . . fantastic woman," the Cibola Hospital administrator, George Williams said. "And she is in remarkably good condition."

Unknown to Mrs. Tweed, she was only a half-mile from a water tank, and while wandering on the mesa, she did not see the houses of Grants, visible from a point a half-mile from the crash site. She was, however, able to hear the noise from nearby Santa Fe trains.

Her husband, Wendell, 47, died of injuries about six hours after the single-engine globe swift plane crashed.

"There was no engine failure," the 47-year-old Mrs. Tweed said from her hospital bed, where she was treated for second degree burns on the feet, a cut over the left eye and other cuts and bruises.

She suffered the burns while trying to put out a small fire.

Mrs. Tweed had no water until Tuesday, when it rained.

Her only food was what she described as a "Norwegian tortilla," which she said a relative, Maxine Ferguson of Legrand, Iowa, gave her when the Tweeds left June 25 on their homeward flight after a vacation.

A CAP pilot noticed the wreckage, Mrs. Tweed waving a piece of clothing, and "SOS" and "HELP" signs nearby. Mrs. Tweed used the plane's charts and rocks to make the signs.

Planes dropped water and food at the site and a helicopter was sent to pick up Mrs. Tweed and take her to the hospital where she had her first full meal in a week.

Her husband's body was taken to a mortuary.

The New Mexico Civil Air Patrol started the search Tuesday after it was notified the plane was missing.

He Dares to be Different Without Stifling Security

By LYNN POOLE

The John Hopkins University

Years ago a sage man told me, "Young man, decide what you want to do, and do it NOW. Go out and meet life with zest."

I have always respected this advice as a good guideline for an exhilarating life, lived in satisfying segments; each segment melding into the next with increasing fullfillment and satisfaction. Owen Lee must have received the same advice. He does what he wants to do NOW; meets each segment of life with gusto.

Owen Lee can't remember a time when he wasn't near, on, or under the water — in Florida, the Mississippi and many oceans of the world. Before his college days were over he had been a salmon fisherman in Alaska, a lifeguard and a sailor. He studied at the University of London and the Sorbonne. His omnivorous desire for knowledge led him to studies in science literature, history and music. His insistence on reading works in the original gave him command of three languages. An enterprising young mann with an unquenchable zest for adventure, he joined the famous Vigo Bay diving expedition in Spain to hunt for sunken treasure. There he logged more than 1,000 hours of free diving with the aqualung, produced a color film "Treasure Divers on Vigo Bay" and his exploits were featured in the book with the same title.

The Vigo Bay hunt ended and to get home he delivered a three masted schooner from Spain to Miam. Food ran short, so he periodically slid over the side and speared fish. One day he hit the water and himself was hit amidship by a barracuda's nose. The barracuda was as startled as was Mr. Lee, and the barracuda followed him for fifteen minutes, "gnashing his teeth and kicking up an awful fuss." This was not Lee's first or last encounter with a sea creature!

Back in America Owen Lee joined an underwater construction company as free diver and photographer; then took off again for Europe. He met Captain Jacques-Yves Cousteau, and became the only American on the staff of Cousteau's famed Calypso Oceanographic Exepdition. Lee's underwater color films were so startling that Cousteau sest him to America for a round of the winter lecture circuit where he charmed audiences with his infectious ebullience, scientific knowledge and vivid tales of underwater exploration.

Owen Lee is also adept at the typewriter, as is evidenced by his newest book, "Complete Illustrated Guide to Snorkel and Deep Diving" (Doubleday, 467 pages, 215 photos), with a charming foreward by Captain Cousteau. Spiced with stories of his own experiences, this comprehensive guide gives encyclopedic coverage to every aspect of free diving; including many fascinating, unusual methods of diving used around the world. He begins by outlining the basic requirements for free diving — "physical condition, emotional make-up and some swimming ability." He discusses the techniques, problems and details of learning to snorkel (skin dive), the selection and use of proper equipment, spearfishing, diving psychology and physiology, methods of underwater photography and other vital facts for skin divers, of which there are more than ten millions today.

For those who dare to seek adventure and add to man's knowledge, there is a map of the world, pinpointing all the known sunken ships. Home-bound, in an arm chair one is tempted to close the book and take off for the watery world of sunken ships and treasure troves.

Owne Lee's knowledge of anatomy, physics, oceanography, photography, history and free diving blends with exciting stories of archaeological discovery, scientific investigation and treasure hunting in what he calls, "the rhapsodic world of Inner Space." Formulating his aesthetic and lyric, practical and ideological love for the sea, he contends that. "Today's new age embraces two of the last of the world's frontiers: the realm of outer—the selestial environs of our plaset,—and the realm of inner space our aquatic environs — the sea. Together these two realms hold the key to man's future. Inner space is an area of endless beauty, enchantment and opportunity."

This inner world always beckons him. But, Owen Lee is one of the many who dare to meet new segments of life. His creative imagination, used so forcefully and artistically in the sea, has brought him back to land with his latest book. Exchanging the aqualung for a typewriter, he has edited another book of famous sea stories, written many short stories, a novel and is about to dive into the churning waters of television with a series he has written and directed. Directing TV shows led him to training as an actor, the better to direct his actor, priving again that in this enter a new segment of life as an actorg proving again that in this age of stifling security and commanding conformity there are people who dare to be different by racing "out to meet life with zest."

Old West Conditions Still Exist in Mexico Writer Says

By RAY DORR

Do you ever yearn to have lived in the exciting days of the old West when Indians and whites raided each other's settlements and bandits menaced roadways: When starvation, sickness and raw, brutal and prolonged pain were everyday occurrances?

I have just returned from an isolated land where all of these things exist today.

Where Indians live in caves and white men carry loaded and cocked .45 automatic pistols in their belts. This backward region is less than 300 miles south of El Paso, Tex., in the Sierra Madre Occidental mountains of Mexico.

I was traveling with a volunteer DOCARE medical mission in Tarahumara Indian country. But I wanted to search for the fabled "Lost City of Bells" in the dreaded Burranca country about 30 miles from the village that we had flown to in a small aircraft. So I went to the priest at Sisoquichi, Father Verplanken, a personable young man, and told him of my plans to search in the Cobre Cayon area.

"You cannot go there," he said. "No white man goes into that area. Those Indians are very hostile."

I thought he was kidding me as Coloradoans often kid easterners about Indians being on the warpath in the Rockies, but he was quite serious. On a table he unfolded a map of the region and made a small circle on it with his fingertip.

"Here, to the south of Sisoquichi, are hostile Indians, And here," the fingertip moved to the east, "are more hostile tribes. But we have a priest who is gradually working his way into this area. In another two or three years, perhaps, it will be safe to travel there. And in this area," he made a large circle between Sisoquich and Chihuahua City, "is the center of witch doctor influence. Here the Indians and Mexicans still raid and murder each other. Up here, to the north, is the town of San Juanito, on the railroad. It is a bandit town. And here at Carichic an American stole one of the three canes of authority from a church last year. I would not go there if I were you. Six days by horseback to the south is a region that is practically unexplored. I would like to see what is there someday."

"What about the Tarahumaras in other areas? Are they sometimes dangerous?" I asked.

"No this time of the year," Father Verplanken answered. "Now there is no corn for tezwino, their whiskey. When they are sober they probably won't bother you. But after harvest time they often get drunk and become very mean. Then—," he shrugged hisshoulders. "Of course, most of them have only bows and arrows. But bows and arrows are quite adequate."

Because only two of us in our party of eight spoke Spanish, I soon found myself busy translating for the DOCARE dentists, Dr. W. T. Scholl of Commerce City, Dr. William Mackey of Boulder and Dr. L. H. Fairchild of Lakewood. This was usually a three way translation between the Indians, Catholic nus, myself, and the dentists. Fram Tarahumaran to Spanish to English.

The suffering these people endure is unbelievable. A toothless old woman is unable to shut her mouth. A tumor has grown across her gums. It has been there for three years.

A crippled old man has a horrible looking eye infection. With him are his wife and two children. The children are 2-years old and 18-years old. Between them have been born 11 children, now dead.

A teen-aged girl has a growth across her upper lip and nose. Possibly it is leprosy.

Virtually everyone, regardless of age, has to have multiple tooth extractions. All the members of one tribe are vomiting worms.

It is the plight of the children, however, that pulls at your heartstrings. While I was visiting the mission one day an 18-month-old boy — immediately nicknamed William — was brought in from the mountains. He was no bigger than my children had been at the age of 3 months.

His arms and legs were like thin sticks, his stomach was bloated and his eyes were large and birdlike in a tiny, pinched face. His mother had died in childbirth and he had been given to a wet nurse who soon grew tired of him.

Another Indian woman had tried to feed him on a mixture of root and herb juices. Now he was on the threshold of death. This condition is not unusual as 80 per cent of the Tarahumara children die before reaching their fifth birthday, mostly from malnutrition.

When the corn crop fails, as it is failing this year because of drought, the children starve the next winter. William is lucky. He will be raised with the children at the mission.

I sat up until two o'clock one morning with the men of our medical group discussing the prospect of facing life as a Tarahumara father has to face it. Each of us imagined himself living in a cave or crude hut in midwinter with snow on the ground, surrounded by his wife and children, some of whom are very sick, without food and no place to get any, no medicine, no doctor, no communication other than by footpath.

The old West? I enjoyed visiting it and plan to return. But live in it? Never!

Color slides taken on the trip will be shown at the next meeting of the Ivywild Improvement Society.

Increase of Federal Tax Collection Seen

DENVER (AP) — Federal tax collections in Colorado for the first six months of 1963 increased approximately $6.1 million from the previous year.

The Internal Revenue Service said today that the federal tax take through June 30 amounted to $690.8 million. Individual income taxes were up $5.1 million.

Secretaries Will Meet at CU Next Weekend

Thirty Certified Professional Secretaries — the elite corps of secretarial field — will meet at the University of Colorado for a three-day seminar next weekend.

Theme of the seminar will be "Living and Working in the Space Age." Speakers from business, government, theology and the C.U. faculty will address the seminar.

Speaking Saturday are Mrs. Madeleine Losee of Washington D. C., chief of the legislative reference branch of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA), who will talk on what we have learned from outer space, and Klenn K. Kennedy, director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Technical Services Division at Idaho Falls, Ida., who will discuss how applications of atomic energy may effect business and industry.

Dr. Lee C. Moorehead of the St. Paul School of Theology, Kansas City, Mo. will discuss the science-religion relationship. Asst. Prof. Conrad McBride of the C.U. political science faculty, will speak on space age problems in international affairs.

Two IBM executives, Mrs. Marian Wood of Schenectady, N.Y., and Ken Brooks, Denver, will close the conference Monday with a presentation of the future impact of automation on the office and the secretary.

Certified Professional Secretaries are required by the National Secretarial Association to have passed a rigorous 2-day, 12-hour examination. There are only 2,500 such secretaries in the United States.

Galen Stutsman, professor of business education at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio, is in charge of the seminar. It will be administered by the CU Bureau of Continuation Education.

AFA Men Retire After Long Service Careers

Three Air Force Academy staff members retired Monday after careers totaling more than 60 years of active federal service.

Retiring are Lt. Col. Willis E. Cude Jr., associate professor of Chemistry; MSgt. Jay A. Witte, Accounting and Finance Superintendent, Comptroller; and TSgt Harold D. Schofield, food service supervisor, Cadet Dining Hall.

Col. Cude and Sgt. Witte received the Air Force Commendation Medal for outstanding performance of duty at the Academy prior to their retirements.

A native of Texas, Col. Cude entered the Air Force in October 1942 as an aviation cadet. He served as a navigator with the 390th Bombardment Group (Heavy) in Europe during World War Two flying seven combat missions.

After returning from overseas, Col. Cude was stationed in North Carolina, Texas, and Oklahoma. From 1946-48 he was assigned to the 15th Weather Sq. on Okinawa.

The colonel received a master of science degree from the Ohio State University in June 1953 following two years graduate study.

From June 1953 to October 1956 he was nuclear research officer and assistant plans and operations officer with Joint Task Force 7.1 participating in "Operation Teapot" at the Nevada Testing Site and "Operation Castle" and "Operation Redwing" at Eniwetok.

Col. Cude joined the Academy staff July 1, 1959 after a tour at the Wright Air Development Center, Ohio, as nuclear research officer of the Aeronautical Research Laboratory.

Sgt. Witte, born in Passaic, N. J., began his military career at Ft. Belvoir, Va., July 21, 1941. From November 1943, he served with the Finance Department at Westover AFB, Mass. Following assignments included tours at Mitchell AFB, New York, Hq. ADC in Colorado Springs, the 7100th Support Wing in Germany, and the 4602nd Support Group at Ottowa, Canada.

The sergeant joined the Academy staff July 18, 1960.

Third of the retirees, Sgt. Schofield was born in Chillicothe, Ohio. He began his military career Nov. 5, 1942 at Camp Campbell, Ky. The sergeant served also at Ft. Meade, Md., Orlando AFB, Fla., Eglin AFB, Fla., Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio, Brooks AFB, Tex., with the 7150th Air Base Group in Germany, at Chenault AFB, La., with the 388th Food Service Service Sq. in France, and at Hill AFB, Utah.

He joined the Academy staff Dec. 23, 1961.

Germany-France Fail to Agree on Common Market

BONN, Germany (UPI) — A summit meeting between Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle ended here with both nations divided on Allied and Common Market policy.

The problem of Britain's future relations with the Common Market went unmentioned in the final communique, and informed sources said this reflected the depth of difference between France and Germany.

France vetoed British market membership, but the Germans have said since that some British alignment with the group was necessary.

De Gaulle professed his loyalty to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Adenauer said he hoped a solution that suited both France and NATO could be found before the scheduled withdrawal of the French Atlantic fleet from Allied control Jan. 1.

A three-year argument over grain prices remained unsolved with both sides calling for another expert study.

German and French defense ministers agreed, however, to jointly develop a vertical take-off and landing combat aircraft.

The only direct reference to the United States during the meeting which began Thursday morning was by Adenauer in a toast to De Gaulle Thursday night.

With his mind obviously on American concern regarding the Franco-German treaty of friendship and consultation signed in January — of which this meeting was the first practical application —the chancellor said:

"That it has been possible to conclude such a treaty of friendship between France and Germany is clearly to De Gaulle's credit. For this we are grateful to him, the whole world is grateful to him, I can tell you that even America is grateful to him."

The statement took on added significance in the light of President Kennedy's visit here 10 days ago.

THREE-DAY BOOTS

CANTON, Tex. (AP) — George Friday, 61, has been making hand-tooled cowboy boots for 40 years and estimates he has turned out about 15,000 pairs.

Friday says a pair of custom-made boots takes about three days to complete. However, he isn't interested in making boots in the larger sizes and doesn't even have a last for a size 13.

Relatives Join Manhunt for Alleged Kidnaper

By ROBERT HOLTON

NEW YORK (AP)—A heartsick and lonely retired policeman prowled the littered alleys separating rows of Bronx tenements today in one of the most tragic of all manhunts—father against son.

In another rundown section of the borough, a young city policeman with but a few months service on the force peered into dim hallways and musty, abandoned buildings—seeking out his brother.

A police detective canvassed the seedy neighborhood of still another section in quest of a young man—his nephew.

Such was the lot of the Egan family today as the father, brother and uncle of an armed and desperate fugitive joined 100 other police in a manhunt for 19-year-old Gregory Egan.

Gregory leaped through a Bronx court house second-floor window last Thursday and escaped in a hail of police bullets.

The youth, with a record of seven earlier arrests, had just been ordered held in $40,000 bail on a charge of kidnapping a cab driver and having used his car in two robberies.

Yesterday the boy's father, James Egan Sr., a 51-year-old cop who retired from the force eight years ago with a meritorious record, asked to join the manhunt.

The fugitive's brother, patrolman Fred Egan, 23, asked and was given permission to hunt his brother down. Detective William Egan volunteered to join the manhunt for his erring nephew.

"We've got to get him before he kills someone or gets killed himself," said the brother, Fred.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED

DENVER (UPI) — A half-hour wind, rain and hailstorm over Denver June 15 left more than $2 million damage to insured property in its wake, the National Board of Fire Underwriters said Friday. The report represented a doubling of the board's estimate of damage shortly after the storm.

BRIG. GEN. EDWARD C. DUNN

Farewell Review Salted for Retiring General

The 5th Infantry Division and Ft. Carson will conduct a farewell review for Brig Gen Edward C. Dunn, assistant division commander, at 10 a.m. Tuesday on Pershing Field.

Col. H. V. Middleworth, chief of staff, will command the 8,000 troops which will pass in review. Maj Gen John A. Heintges, CG, will be reviewing officer. Receiving the honors with the commanding general will be General Dunn. The public is invited to attend.

Gen Dunn leaves Ft. Carson to become assistant commandant Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va.

He arrived here in October 1961 and was greeted with a set of stars to replace his eagles when he reached Ft. Carson headquarters.

In the European Theater during World War II he commanded the Task force which seized Les Isles de Marcouf off Utah Beach two hours before the first wave of troops waded ashore to begin the Normandy invasion.

He took part in five campaigns in Europe serving as battalion commander, regimental executive officer and regimental commander.

His basis branch is armor. He served two tours at the U. S. Army Armor Center, first as deputy chief of staff in 1951 and 1952 and later as regimental commander of the 6th Armored Cavalry in 1959 and 1960.

He has served MAAG assignments in Viet Nam and Turkey.

Gen. Dunn was graduated from West Point in 1936. He has attended the Cava Cavalry School, Command and General Staff College, and earned his master's degree in history from Harvard in 1950.

United Church Plans Drive For Integration

DENVER (AP)—A nine-member committee composed of Negroes and whites will direct a new, militant drive for racial equality being launched today by the United Church of Christ.

The president of the church, the Rev. Dr. Ben M. Herbster of New York City, said he intends to name the committee members during the day.

They will work with Dr. S. Garry Oniki of New York, who will serve as executive coordinator of the new effort. It will be financed initially with $100,000 which can be borrowed from other church funds.

A special emergency collection will be taken in all the churches this fall to carry out the program which includes furnishing bail and defense funds for persons arrested while demanding social justice and even authorizes aid for persons who lose jobs while working for the cause. It calls for support of businessmen who may suffer losses supporting integration and commends persons "who take steps to integrate their own residential neighborhoods.

Cooperation with other Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish efforts at integration on a community basis also is included.

Delegates to the church's fourth general synod "radically committed" the church to the integration struggle by shouting approval of the program late yesterday. Only two or three scattered "no" votes were audible.

The church is a merger of the Evangelical and Reformed churches and the Congregational Christian Churches, and is the sixth largest in the United States.

Legal Liquor Drinks Still Need Permits

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—You could buy a legal drink of liquor in Iowa today for the first time since national prohibition but the potables weren't exactly flowing over.

In fact, if you were a visitor to this state, which formerly sold liquor only in state stores, you'd need some direction to find a place where you could sit down and lift one.

The 1963 legislature passed a law allowing local governing councils to issue licenses for liquor by the drink. But the permits must be approved by the state Liquor Control Commission in Des Moines.

The law went into effect July 4, a legal holiday in which no permits could be issued. Friday it was different. Some town councils rushed through applications and permittees hurried to Des Moines by plane or car to get state approval.

They hurried back and the first legal drink was poured at a restaurant in the lakes resort area in northwest Iowa.

Many cities, especially Des Moines and other larger ones, were moving slowly in the licensing procedure, however.

By the time the state liquor commission closed up shop for the weekend it had endorsed some 90 licenses.

CRUELTY TRIAL

BOULDER (UPI)—The Boulder County District Attorney's office said Friday Clair J. Bankston, charged with mistreatment of a dog which allegedly bit to death a Boulder boy, will stand trial July 19. The charges stem from the death of Brett A. Whitney, son of Mr and Mrs Douglas W. Whitney, who was found covered with dog bits lying near a dog owned by Bankston.

Early internal revenue collectors were paid on a commission basis, earnings determined by how much they collected.

Local Drivers Receive Safe Driving Awards

Seven Colorado Springs residents and two of Ft. Carson received State Highway department commendations for safe driving and competed for the June Safety Award presented by the Denver Post and Denver U. S. National Bank. Four other Colorado Springs residents received like commendations and will compete for the July Safety award.

Those who are to compete for the July Safety award are: Don N. Neal, 1327 N. Weber St.; Dr. James M. Stone, 32 Polo Dr.; Deanna M. Bailey, 1221 Norwood St., and Sara L. Ramer, 1501 E. Fountain St.

Those who competed for the June award were: Lyman A. Van Voorhis, 14 Sunflower Rd.; Edward L. Bydelek Jr., 120 E. Jackson St.; Ferrel L. Hilton, 1116 Palmer Park Blvd.; Ralph U. Moser Pikeview Trailer Ct.; Madeline G. Steckler, 502 E. Moreno St.; Lawson E. Noble, 710 Iowa Ave.; Margaret Krause, 2224 E. Willamette Ave.; Herminio A. Martinez, A Bat., 1st and 19th Art., Ft. Carson, and Robert E. Allen V Co. D, 7th Eng., Bn., Ft. Carson.

PAID IN FULL

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—In 1923 William E. Paul pledged $400 toward the establishment of Hartwick College in Oneonta, N.Y., but business reversals kept him from making good.

Now with his daughter graduating from the college and his finances in better shape, he sent the school a check for $1,200. This covers the original pledge plus 5 per cent interest for 40 years.

Bodies of Two Babies Found In Shallow Grave

OZARK, Ark. (AP) — Officers following a map provided by Albuquerque, N.M., authorities found the bodies of two infant girls Friday in a shallow mountainside grave near Highway 64.

Capt. Paul McDonaid of the state police said the bizarre case also reaches into Russellville, Ark., 46 miles east of Ozark, where police believe the babies died, and into Santa Ana, Calif.

The bodies were sent to the state medical examiner in Little Rock for autopsy. McDonald said the deaths may have been from natural causes but it would be "highly unusual for two babies to die the same night."

Authorities in Russellville, Ozark, Albuquerque and Santa Ana were working to put the pieces of the complicated case together.

McDonald said the police know the names of the parties involved but no names would be released until the investigation is more complete.

McDonald said information now in hand indicates that the infants, both about three months old, died while their parents were traveling through Arkansas with a "station wagon full of people" on March 18. They were buried that night, according to word from Albuquerque, McDonald said.

The case broke, he said, when the parents of the mother of one of the children asked her where her baby was. This was in Santa Ana. She told of the burial and gave officers the name of an Albuquerque couple, parents of the other child, McDonald said.

Albuquerque authorities talked to the couple and got a map showing location of the bodies.

Prosecutor Jeff Mobley said at Russellville that he would not file charges until he receives a complete report from state police, probably Monday or Tuesday.

GIANT HUMMING BIRDS

NEW YORK (AP)—A pair of humming birds three to four times the size of the more than 400 other species now are on display at the Bronx Zoo.

The "giant" birds, native to the Andes, are nine inches long and eat three times their weight daily. Their diet includes a nectar of honey, condensed milk, vitamins, and beef extract, plus insect cultures for between-nectar snacks. The Bronx Zoo had one giant hummer before, in 1952, but it lived only six months in captivity. Head bird keeper, Joe Bell, is hopeful that this pair can be kept longer.

Last year $200 million was contributed to higher education facilities by American corporations, the Council for Financial Aid reports.

Board to Hear Adjustments, And Appeals

For petitions and appeals will be presented to the El Paso County Board of Adjustment this month at their regular meeting set for 2 p.m. Thursday in the auditorium of the County Office Building.

The following petitioners will appear before the board:

Fred Kempin, for permission to change the use of land to enlarge an existing trailer court by six trailer spaces at 3600 N. El Paso St. Application is for approval of location only.

Lester J. Rose, for permission to change the use of a private garage to a cabinet shop in an R-1 residence district at 539 Warren Ave. Application is for interpretation of use in the zone.

Cimarron Development Co., for apartment buildings in an M-industrial district on E. Highway 24. Application is for approval of location only.

Francis O. Farrow, for permission to construct an addition to a dwelling in an R-1 residence district at 543 Chatfield Dr. partly within a rear yard setback which does not conform to the zoning resolution.

More Use for Telstar Urged by U.S. Agency

DENVER (UPI)— The U.S. Information Agency could put the orbiting Telstar satellite to effective use in foreign countries—if its budget allowed payment for the service, a USIA official said here.

Robert Evans, special aide to USIA director Edward R. Murrow, said in Denver Congress either would have to allocate more money to the agency, or rates to the government for use of the satellite would have to be lowered.

Evans used as an example a satisfactory arrangement, in which the USIA would be allowed to use seven television circuits located in key geographical areas for 90 minutes a day for one year.

He said under existing rates, the cost would be $919 million—eight times the total budget of the entire USIA yearly budget.

CITY'S NICKNAME

Lord Cornwallis, who held the city for a time during the Revolutionary War, called Charlotte, N. C., a hornet's nest because the city's citizens were so active in anti-British activities. Today's slogan-nickname of "hornet's nest" continues to typify activities of the community.

Meat now accounts for one-fourth of the shopper's food dollar and demand is expected to grow.

Nikita Slaps Red Chinese; Quits Peace Talks

revealed Kennedy's Friday appeal as the Soviet and Chinese Communist ideological experts met in the headquarters of the Communist party Central Committee.

The message from Kennedy to Khrushchev thanked the Soviet premier for his July 4 offering of good wishes and urged a joint effort to solve "key problems which divide us."

Reliable informants said the two negotiating delegations confined their secret session Saturday to a presentation of "position papers."

The Soviets were led by Mikhail Suslov, a presidium member, and the Chinese Communists by Teng Hsiao-ping, secretary general of the party.

There was no hint of the exact contents of the documents exchanged Saturday, but the substance of the conflicting views has been made clear over recent weeks.

The center of the dispute is the theory of peaceful coexistence with the capitalist world. The Chinese Communists insist that a transition from capitalism to socialism can be achieved only through violent revolution. They also have attacked the de-Stalinization program which has been Soviet policy for the last six years.

As the Russians went out of their way to stress the coexistence theme Saturday in publication of President Kennedy's message, the Chinese found fresh ammunition for use against the Soviets. The New China news agency in a commentary monitored in Tokyo charged that the recent international women's conference in Moscow was "manipulated" by the Soviets who tried to impose their "erroneous line" of peacaeful co-existence of the delegates.

NAACP Friction Healthy, Says Leader Wilkins

ing forces of this year's convention."

"They were dissatisfied, and we want them to be dissatisfied," Wilkins said. He added that it was because of this we was at a loss to understand Meredith's charge of "childish antics."

He told reporters that youthful impatience was good but, "There are some things you don't learn until you are 50 about civil rights and other matters."

Lines of attack on segregation in public school education and labor unions were drawn in resolutions adopted Saturday.

The NAACP closed its convention by deploring use of police dogs and other devices used as physical offensive devices for crowd dispersal.

The police dog resolution took note of the use of police dogs in Chicago by foot patrolmen in some Negro neighborhoods.

"We deplore the continued and expanded use of police dogs, of electric prodders, of fire hoses against citizens by police departments in many cities throughout the country," the resolution continued.

"The flagrant use of such inhuman tactics were odiously displayed in such places as Birmingham, Ala.; Danville, Va.; Jackson, Miss., and Gadsden, Ala."

37 New District Judges Needed, State Group Says

now has 10. Santo said five more judges were needed for civil trials, two for domestic relations and one for criminal trials.

The 18 judicial districts listed their needs as follows, with the present number of judges in parentheses:

1st District —(3), 3 more; 2nd (Denver)—(10) 8; 3rd—(1) 1; 4th—(4) 4; 5th—(1) 0; 6th—(2) 1; 7th—(2) 2; 8th—(3) 4; 9th—(1) 1.

The judges were scheduled to meet late Saturday with a special legislature committee which has been charged with drawing up legislation implementing the court reform.

Vandals Upset Car Near Krazy Cat

Two cars were vandalized while parked outside the Krazy Kat, 2005 N. Nevada Ave. Friday night, according to the Sheriff's Office.

A car owned by Norman Lee Rader of Denver was turned on its side causing $85 worth of damage and another car belonging to John David Huntsman of 110 Easy St. in Security was scratched and had a tail light knocked off.

Rail Unions May Turn Down Plea to Prevent Big Strike

some 40,000 firemen's jobs be dissolved by attrition as the basis of negotiations for 20 days, beginning Sunday. If the talks failed, Reynoids would prescribe procedures for a final settlement.

At the same time, in an effort to work out a long-term solution, union-management boards would study the work rules with a view to making binding recommendations at the end of two years. If the union and rail members could not agree, neutral members would be added to make binding recommendations.

The unions have been adamantly opposed in the past to final determination by outside neutrals and it is on this point that the Wirtz plan may founder.

If the secretary is turned down, President Kennedy probably will send to Congress early next week emergency legislation to forestall a strike. He probably will call for compulsory arbitration.

Minor Auto Damage Suits Are Speeded

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"You may not go along with me," the judge said to the attorney, "but I believe it would be a waste of time and money to go to trial. I don't see how a jury would come in with a verdict for you."

The speaker was Andrew J. Eyman, presiding judge of the San Francisco Municipal Court. It was a pre-trial hearing of a minor auto damage suit, a procedure Eyman instituted 18 months ago as a means of speeding the course of justice.

So far, it's had spectacular results.

In January, 1962, the court had such a backlog of cases that it took 14 months for one to come to trial.

"And then in many cases there would be a settlement called," Eyman said. "This cost a lot of money in jury fees and the costs of running a court."

The pre-trial hearing is used in California superior courts. But it had not been tried in municipal courts, which handle damage suits up to $5,000.

Eyman began bringing opposing counsel before him in advance of trial for some "Dutch uncle" talk. He listens to a brief outline of their cases, offers a candid opinion of their merits and tries to coax them to settle out of court.

In the first year of the experiment, Eyman settled 265 cases. This year he's been averaging some 30 a month.

By unclogging the court calendar, the time it takes for a case to come to trial has been cut in half, to about seven months.

In the aforementioned case, Eyman told the attorney for the plaintiff, victim of a "fender-bender" type accident, that a two-day jury trial would cost the public about $350.

"It's a case of what's good business," the judge said. "How about settling for $325? This would give you a $50 fee, with no risk of a trial that probably will end up with you getting nothing."

Opposing counsel said "it's okay by me," and the attorney for the plaintiff agreed to take it up with his client.

"They'll settle," the judge remarked out of court later. "I can always tell."

On that day, Eyman whirled through a half dozen cases in less than 90 minutes. In one instance he gently took an attorney to task over the rights and duties of citizens.

"Just because we have the power to demand a jury trial," he said, "we should give thought as to whether it would be conscientiously just. In this case it doesn't seem to be."

Eyman currently is breaking in other judges on the pre-trial hearing technique.

Burglars Steal Car, Guns From Local Man

Joseph F. Brennan, 336 E. Colorado Ave., came home Friday night and found the door of his apartment standing open. On checking around, he discovered that his car key was missing from a dresser drawer and that several guns were missing from a closet, according to a police report.

He went to the rear of his home and found that his car had also been stolen from its parking place. Police said that the missing items are worth a total of $780.

Decimal Coinage Posts Problem For Australians

SYDNEY (AP) — The Australian government has announced plans to switch the coinage from pounds shillings and pence to a decimal system in 1966, but what will the new currency unit be named?

Treasurer Harold Holt says he favors "Auster" to give the unit a nAustralian flavor. Several business leaders have said they would like it called a dollar. Others, not too seriously, have suggested "quid" (present day slang for an Australian pound), and "roo" after Australia's famous animal, the kangaroo.

The currency plan is for a unit equal in value to the present 10 shilling note, which would make it worth 11 cents more than an American dollar on today's exchange rate. It would be half the value of the pound, the present unit.

The smallest coin would be equal to one — hundredth of the unit, or a fraction more than one American cent. The present halfpenny, today worth slightly less than half a cent, would disappear.

There would be other coins worth 20, 10 and 5 of these cents —if that is what they are to be called.

Money Taken, Blood Left In Burglary

The Sheriff's Office reported that the Golden Dragon restaurant, 1409 S. 8th St. was burglarized early Saturday morning. Thieves got away with $30 in change after smashing an 8' by 7' plate glass window in the south side of the building to gain entry, the report said. The window was worth $90.

Deputies found a large quantity of blood on the broken glass and on the pavement outside the restaurant. There was no blood inside the building and it was assumed that the thief or thieves received cuts while escaping, according to the report.

The money was taken from a box which is kept under the front counter of the restaurant.

Augustus W. Parks Dies; Rites Monday

Augustus W. Parks, 1116 N. Weber St., died Thursday, at 87, at a local hospital. He had been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1948, but mined in Cripple Creek in 1898. He lived in Caldwell, Id., for 30 years and was a deputy sheriff there. He was a veteran of World War I, in which he enlisted April 11, 1918, and was discharged July 25, 1919. He was a member of the First Southern Baptist Church.

Mr. Parks was born in Peoria, Ill., Jan. 11, 1876. He was married Feb. 24, 1961, in Colorado Springs. His wife, Mrs. Mabel C. Parks, of Colorado Springs, survives him. He is also survived by five neices and three nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at Our Chapel of Memories. The Rev. R. D. Yancey will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field.

There was typical summer weather over the country Saturday afternoon with weak low pressure areas dominating the bulk of the weather map.

The weather was fair to partly cloudy with scattered afternoon and evening showers and thunder showers from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic coast, except in New England.

Mostly cludy conditions with scattered showers occurred in the Pacific northwest while it continued mostly fair in the southwest and in the northeast sections of the country.

The heaviest rainfall amounts were reported at Escanava Mich. which had one and 5 hundredths of an inch in 23 minutes and one-and-a-half inches in six hours. Atlanta, Ga. recorded one and 22 hundredths of an inch in six hours.

High temperatures Saturday afternoon were in the 60's and 70's in the northeast and along the Pacific coast.

There were readings in the 90's over the southern half of the nation with some 100 degree temperatures recorded in Oklahoma, Arkansas and eastern Colorado and the desert southwest. Most of the remainder of the nation showed readings in the 80's.

Car Skids, Rolls Off Highway; Six Injured

Six persons were injured one critically when the car in which they were riding skidded off U.S. 85-87 early Saturday morning, according to the State Patrol. The accident happened two-and-a-half miles south of Fountain.

The driver of the car, Maria Elena Aguirre, 19, of Pueblo was thrown from the car when it rolled over after skidding 226 feet the report said.

She was taken to Penrose Hospital with a severe head injury. Her condition Saturday night was reported to be critical.

Penrose officials siad the condition of the other five passengers in the car was satisfactory.

The passengers were Senaida Aguirre, 16, of Pueblo, who received a fractured collar bone; Steven Aguirre Jr., 5, of Denver, who was taken to Penrose for observation; Elizabeth Aguirre, 2, of Denver who suffered a concussion; Steven Aguirre Sr., of Denver, who sustained multiple contusions, and Elsie Marie Aguirre 26, of Denver, who suffered a fractured collar bone and multiple abrasions.

The investigating patrolman was Arnold C. Ferrero.

Six-Denomination Merger Plan Is Urged by Church

DENVER (AP) — The United Church of Christ authorized Saturday development of a plan to merge six Protestant denominations into a single church, possibly with as many as 25 million members.

The action came in a resolution passed by acclamation during the fourth General Synod of the church, a two million member body created by a merger of Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Churches.

Other churches involved in preliminary discussions of the union are the Methodist, United Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, Disciples of Christ and Evangelical United Brethren.

The resolution is the first approved by any of the denominations to call for actual development of a merger plan.

Its passage came after one of the United Church of Christ representatives in the unity discussions said that progress in two years "has gone far faster than any of us would have dreamed at the start."

Unique Girl's College Run At Lido Paris

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA) — The most unusual girls' college in the world is run by Miss Bluebell at the famed Lido in Paris. Candidates seeking admission must be at least 5 foot, 8 inches tall, have studied classical dancing and be well endowed with beauty and figure.

The students make field trips to Las Vegas, London and Tokyo. The school uniform is red tights and a slinky black sweater. Full-dress regalia is a microscopic bikini, a multitude of waving white ostrich feathers, black fishnet stockings and patent slippers.

The Bluebell Girls' College turns out the most beautiful and the sexiest chorines in the world.

The Bluebells, 150 strong, are mainly British - born, with a sprinkling of Scandinavians and Germans. Because 5 feet 8 inches is not a common height in Latin countries, French and Italian dancers are rare.

Miss Bluebell, the college principal, alone selects every candidate. Admission is at the rate of one out of three hundred applications.

In 1930 Miss Bluebell, then Margaret Kelly, first came to Paris to dance at the Folies Bergeres. In 1934 she married Hungarian-born Marcel Leibovici, a talented pianist who had courted her from a distance for five years. Shortly afterward, Margaret decided to form her own group of dancers and decided they would be the tallest girls in show business.

She called them the Bluebell Girls and they were an immediate success. They have had top billing at the Lido for the last 18 years and are internationally famous.

One thing which distinguishes the Bluebells from other ballet companies is the insistence on feminine curves as well as looks and talent. A half-starved fashion model could never hope to pass the entrance examination to the Bluebell college.

According to 23-year-old Patrick Leibovici, it takes about three weeks to "fashion" a Bluebell. Patrick, a science student who has just finished his military servicet is the eldest of Margaret Kelly's four children. Although steeped from his early youth in show business, neither Batrick nor his two brothers and sisters were trained for the stage.

"My father decided we would be brought up the same as other children." He was killed in an automobile accident two years ago and since then Patrick has replaced him as his mother's assistant. His job is to see that everything runs smoothly.

There are five Bluebell Girls troupes touring abroad year in and year out. Right now there is one each in Las Vegas, Athens, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Rome. The most highly paid chorines in Europe, they add considerably to their income by posing for fashion magazines, appearance at galas, in movie and television.

No married Bluebell is ever sent abroad. "My mother thinks it is not a good thing for a girl to leave a husband at home. He is apt to worry and get restless," suid Batrick.

Rules of this particular college are very strict. Miss Bluebell is as much of a disciplinarian as a mother superior in any Spanish convent. The younger members usually live in pairs in a studio apartment, hotel room or with a French family.

Those under age have to report to their consulates every two weeks. No stage-door Johnny is ever allowed to hang around the exit and the girls are absolutely forbidden to accept any invitation "out front" either before or after the show. But an admirer can send flowers or candy.

A Bluebell signs a yearly contract, and some of the clauses are stringent. Punctuality is demanded and no member of the troupe can go farther than 30 miles out of Paris.

Miss Bluebell has trained something like 5,000 chorines. Of these 3,150 have married. So far there has never been a divorce. All keep in touch with their Alma Mater, and every Christmas thousands of greeting cards pour into Miss Bluetbetll's vast Paris apartment off the Champs Elysees, a stone's throw, logically, from the Lido.

Death Dodged In Spectacular Car Crash

A California man was taken to Ft. Carson Hospital with bruises and abrasions after his car ran off U.S. 85-87 Saturday morning 16 miles south of Colorado Springs, according to the State Patrol.

Thomas Garbutt, 23, of Miramar, Calif. was south bound when his car left the road and flew 44 feet thru the air, rolled three times and came to rest 68 feet off the pavement, the report said.

State Patrolman Jake McDaniel investigated the accident.

Sutherland Cops Cycle Meet at Glenwood Springs

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, (AP)—Jim Sutherland of Glenwood Springs steered his six horsepower vehicle over a 20-mile twisting, climbing course to win top honors Saturday in the Mountain Cycle Races sponsored by the Glenwood Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Sutherland was timed in 2 hours 4 minutes 10 seconds. Guy Wakefield, Tempe, Ariz., came in second in 2:13.08 and Derold Nichols of Pueblo finished third in 2:16.02.

There were 45 riders in the six horsepower division.

Stanley Lauriski of Aspen won the four horsepower division in 3:06.19. He was followed by Walter Bassett, Pueblo, 3:13.21 and Jim Tod Phoenix, Ariz., 4:31.26. There were eight entries in the lighter division.

Of the 53 riders in the two divisions, 22 completed the rugged race. They came from Utah, California, Arizona, Texas and Colorado. The three top finishers in each division won new mountain cycles.

The three - day program concluded Saturday with a mounted softball game between women members of the Glenwood Springs Tote Goat Club and the Jaycees.

CHURCH FOR CHILDREN

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The average worship service is planned for the adult and children often get little benefit, the Rev. Darris D. Hamilton of East Dayton Church of Christ believes. So the church emphasizes graded Christian education.

Each group of children has its own worship service. Children from the first through sixth grades have their own junior deacons, issue their own bulletins, do ushering and sing in a choir.

Teenagers Throw Rocks In Swimming Pool

Sheriff's Deputies are searching for several teenagers who threw large rocks in the swimming pool at the Stratmoor Development offices and also entered the Stratmoor Hills Fire House and played with a resuscitator Friday night, according to a report.

The teenagers, who were seen in the area at the time the damage was done, also broke a spot light at the pool and took a gas can from the fire truck, the report said. It is not yet known how much it will cost to repair the damage.

SICKNESS IN CHURCHES?

WESTWOOD, N.J. (AP)—Neurotics hold the reins of leadership in many church congregations and shape whole congregations in "their own sick images," the Rev. Robert James St. Clair, of Akron, Ohio, says in a new book, "Neurotics in the Church," published by Fleming H. Revell Co.

He says religious neurotics use "religious ideas to defend their positions at all costs" and capitalize on every disorder and irritation they find."

TV Building Flock of Paper Stars Shawn Says

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Television is building a flock of paper stars. That's the opinion of Dick Shawn, the brilliant comedian, who does just enough television to satisfy his agent and no more.

"Television success," Shawn says, "is just paper stardom. The public never has any respect for what it gets for free. I could buy three suits for $80 each but if I bought one for $240, I'd have more respect for it.

"The public gets television free, and really doesn't have any respect for television stars. The proof of this is the fact that television success lasts such a little while. Once a person is off television, that's it, unless he's had success in another medium first.

You take people like Genevieve and Dody Goodman and George Gobel and Bob Newharat —they were big on television for a while, but now they're all having their troubles."

Shawn feels there's more permanence to stardom achieved through other show business avenues. He has a good night club career, but is trying to reach the bigger time through the stage. Currently, he's doing tours with tried-and-true vehicles like "Do-Re-Mi" and "Bye-Bye Birdie." His ultimate goal is Broadway.

He limits his television to "two shots a year." And he won't make a comedy record.

"I always said," he says, "that if you make a record of your act, you might as well throw the act away. Proof? Look at the hot record sellers — the Shelley Bermans, the Vaughan Meaders—they were big record smashes and now the public won't go to see them."

Shawn points to the techniques of the people he calls "the permanent stars" to buttress his reasoning.

"They never overexposed themselves," he says. "Crosby makes one picture a year. Fred Astaire makes even less. When they do appear, the public wants to see them. That's the only way."

So don't look for a Dick Shawn Show or a Dick Shawn record. He says he just won't do it.

Boys Being Sought By Police for Theft

Grant Awarded CU Biology Professor

Dr. Paul W. Winston, University of Colorado assistant professor of biology, has been awarded a $17,200 grant by the National Science Foundation to determine how insects sense the amount of moisture in the air.

Winston will be working primarily on grasshoppers, studying their "humidity receptor," an organ located in their antannae which senses humidity.

The receptors also could be organs for determining temperature, Winston said, and the study may lead to knowledge of similar apparatus in mammals. It is possible to study the receptors of insects because they are isolated, in contrast to the unknown methods used by animals.

Winston added. "We know where these organs are located and what they do, but we don't know how they work." He will attempt to answer the question with the use of micro-electrodes placed in the receptors to record nervous activity.

The organs are one three-thousandth of an inch in diameter, so extra-sensitive miniature equipment must be used.

There are nearly two million divorced women in the country.

Professor Names American Imports To Asia

The three main imports in Asia from America are soft drinks, popular music and the expression, "O. K.," according to John D. Mitchell, assistant professor of journalism at the University of Colorado.

Mitchell formed that judgment while spending a year in Bangkok, Thailand, where he paid $225 a month to house his family in a two-bedroom apartment with no hot water and "hot and cold running lizards."

The CU teacher was in Thailand to serve at Thammasat University on a Fulbright lectureship. His prime function at Thammasat was to assist the university in revising its journalism program.

It's almost impossible to determine the enrollment at Thammasat, Mitchell recalls. "About the only way to do it is to add up all students who have registered at the university since it was founded in the 1930's and subtract those who have been awarded degrees."

That formula usually produces a figure of about 25,000 students, he added.

he reason for the confusion is that there has been no limit on the number of years one may take to complete work for a degree and there has been virtually no screening of incoming students. The university plans to set a limit of eight years in which to obtain a bachelor's degree, Mitchell said. Enrolment probably will be stabilized at 8,000 students.

With less than 10 per cent of the kingdom's population, Bangkok has 19 of the 20 daily newspapers in Thailand. The government indirectly operates all newspapers and radio station. Thus, while strict censorship regulations are in force, they are rarely used, Mitchell explained, because the editors know the rules and stay clear of violations.

Even so, one magazine was shut down and a newspaper suspended for 30 days during Mitchell's stay in Thailand for having strayed beyond the accepted bounds of comment critical of the government.

The close connection between the government and the newspapers is typified by the fact that the chief assistant to the prime minister serves as the publisher of the most influential newpaper.

Thammasat University was founded in the mid-1930's to train civil service workers sympathetic to the new government rather than to the ancient monarchy which was overturned in a bloodless revolution in 1932, Mitchell said.

Consequently most of Thammasat's students have been civil servants, and virtually all of them hope for a job with the government after graduation.

Mitchell found the best students in Thailand to be "every bit as good as the best students here." The poorest students there, however, were much poorer than the poorest here because of the almost total absence of screening processes, he said.

The universities in Thailand, led by Thammasat, are going thru an educational revolution, Mitchell said. Traditionally, the approach has been to educate almost solely through lectures with the students required only to memorize what the teacher said and feed it back on the examinations — never would the student challenge anything that he was told in class.

Now the institutions are more inclined to pattern themselves after the major American universities with the goal of teaching their students how to study and how to think.

The change is creating tensions, Mitchell said, but he believes there is sufficient academic freedom in existence to allow the change to occur as the universities find the way to resolve the tensions and make the changes while retaining some continuity with the past.

Mitchell said that he and a Thai colleague started requiring attendance in class as well as some field work and work outside the classroom. Many Thais said the students would not do the work outside the classroom, but they did do it and the experiment worked rather well, Mitchell said.

Along with his lecturing and working to improve the journalism curriculum, Mitchell also worked to improve the journalism library at Thammasat, which Mitchell described as small but adequate on the basis of recent book acquisitions.

Living conditions were good in Bangkok, Mitchell said, but the cost of living is high with any imported good or goods requiring machinery for manufacture being quite expensive. Any product which was manufactured primarily by human labor usually is inexpensive there, he said.

Mitchell has been a member of the University of Colorado faculty since 1958 when he came from Kansas State College. He also has a background as a newspaperman.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Active and Passive Influence

Environmentalists contend that man is little more than the product of his surroundings. Some would even remove "little more" and then would argue that man is nothing more than the product of his environment.

They can make a good case for their position. And we will have to concur to this extent, that man frequently permits himself to be influenced in a decisive way by those things that make up his environment.

But we have contended for some time that there are other factors at work going to make up the total person. For one thing, we cannot completely dismiss hereditary factors. Tho they may not play as large a part as was once thought, the fact is that heredity is a separate source of influence and pre-conditioning, and does influence.

Also, as our regular readers will recall, we have specified that there is another factor within the nature of the human being which does not properly fall either to environment or heredity. It has no scientific name of which we are aware. It relates to the function of choice, of freedom to distinguish and determine, which can and does entirely contravene both environmental and hereditary factors from time to time.

But the environmentalists return to the fray at this point, armed with this same factor which they again attribute to environment. They contend that regardless of what appear to be heredity factors, man, by his ability to practice natural selection (choice) has actually set in motion those heredity factors which are so labeled. Thus, heredity becomes no more than a record of prior environment. And in the end, according to those who espouse this theory, all is environment and there is nothing more.

Without dwelling on the obvious and obscure weaknesses inherent in this conclusion at the moment, we would like to direct our attention to this broad area of concern called environment.

Here we believe the environmentalists have tended to generalize so completely that their argument becomes tautological. What we would like to see is a classification of influences at work in the environment so that distinctions could be drawn.

For instance, it is apparent that there are both active and passive influences which tend to mold both character and action. There are the subtleties provided by our passive surroundings. A person raised in a rural area will be more familiar with trees and flowers and open fields than a person raised in a metropolitan district. To some degree he may be influenced in his likes and dislikes as a result of this kind of exposure. Yet, the influence is passive and is readily overcome by more potent factors. Thus, education, reading, listening to lectures, to newscasts, attending concerts, and so on, doing those things or attending to those activities which engage the mind actively, have a more pervasive effect upon the development of the person than any background matter.

Environment obviously falls into more than a single broad field. And if environmentalists could forget, at least temporarily, their attraction to the TOTAL effect of ALL influences, they might come forward with a new line of reasoning of greater weight than what they have presently acquired.

If and when this is done, we will still contend that the unnamed factor relating to choice and to freedom plays an even larger part than the most active of environmental influences. For always the individual is confronted with the short time of his own life, the scarcity of his own energy, and the imperative necessity to choose between things having relative value to himself.

The tendency of pure environmentalism is to border on mysticism. We believe merit will one day be discovered in abandoning that slippery and fog-bound route.

No Reason

Because we should beware the flatterer is no reason to seek a way to belittle those we know.

'Social Responsibility'

Those who support themselves out of the taxpayers' pockets are always engaged in trying to promote something they call "social responsibility."

The unspoken assumption contains their vested interest. Since they receive their livelihood thru tax channels it is important to them that you keep on putting up the money so they can continue to live according to the standards they have set for themselves. What they want to do is to convince you that you have a "responsibility" to support them, as they equate their own functions with the social whole.

In this day and age when personal responsibility seems sadly lacking in many quarters, a discussion on the nature of responsibility must be in order. But before we discuss it, we must separate it from some of its accustomed modifiers. So we propose not to discuss "social" responsibility until we are certain we know what responsibility is.

Here, we think, there is a tendency to equate the meaning of responsibility with the meaning of obligation. And it might be helpful were we to begin by showing that these are two words with two distinct and separate meanings.

To be obligated is to be bound. An obligation is something that one agrees to do IN ADVANCE. It relates to a possible contractual obligation. An obligation is always self-imposed. It has long been considered both unlawful and immoral for one person to bind another without his consent. A contract entered into under duress, is not binding.

But upon examination, responsibility, tho it means something else, also relates to an individual and to his own conduct. Thus, by the nature of man each individual IS responsible for what he does. Responsibility relates to what has happened in the past. Each person controls his own energy. Thus, each person is responsible for what he does and for what he has done.

There is no such thing as a "responsibility" in respect to some future behavior. A future requirement to behave in some particular way is an obligation, not a responsibility.

Similarly, one is not obliged as a result of a prior act. If a person performs an act, he was responsible for that performance but we do not say that his obligation still exists there. It is possible that the act occurred because of a prior obligation and that now the obligation is terminated. Thus, obligation relates to future actions to which one is bound. Responsibility is the word we use to indicate what has already transpired.

The use of the phrase "social responsibility" is a corruption of proper usage and an effort to corrupt men in their moral obligations. Since it is true, both in law and in morals, that no one can be obligated in advance against his will, the social reformers in our midst are constrained not to tell us that we are "socially obligated." So, they introduce an improper phrase in an effort to create a fiction. They tell us, in so many words, that we are individually required to support their particular sinecure, not because we have individually approved of it, but because, thru long custom, an implied obligation exists.

But there can be no such thing as an implied obligation, any more than there can be a moral requirement for you to pay another person's debts, against your will and without your consent.

In precise reasoning there is no such thing as either a social responsibility or a social obligation. Society cannot be responsible, only individual men and women can be responsible. Society cannot acquire an obligation. Only individual men and women can consent to their being bound in any contractual fashion.

When individuals recognize the fact that they are responsible for their individual thoughts and actions, then we have responsible individuals. When a number of individuals realize this at a given time in a given location, the fact still exists. It is the individuals who are responsible, not the group.

To The Point

Who's Mentally Healthy?

By RUSSELL KIRK

The Senate of these United States has voted to appropriate more than $800,000,000 for a federal "mental health program." But I suspect that mental health can't be bought. Certainly there are many neuroses afflicting our society; yet "institutionalizing" many more Americans is unlikely to solve the difficulty.

Years ago, a friend of mine visited an insane asylum with his college class in psychology. A member of that class was a waggish theological student named Fred, now a Presbyterian minister.

The college students were shown all sorts of distressing cases by their psychiatrist-guide. Presently they came to a rough-looking man brooding in a corner.

"This is Hendrix," the psychiatrist told the class. "Now, Hendrix, you left this Home without premission last week, didn't you?"

"Yeah, that's right," said Hendryx, calmly enough. He seemed rather a commonsensical inmate.

"Now, then, Hendrix," the psychiatrist went on, "that wasn't the way to behave, was it? Next time you want to leave, you'll follow the regular procedure, won't you?"

"I don't care whether I go out a window or a door, so long as it's out," replied Hendrix, sardonically.

The psychiatrist was distressed. "Why — why, Hendrix, that's not the proper attitude — not proper at all. But when you do receive a leave of absence, how will you spend your time?"

"I'll get drunk and find a woman," said Hendrix, unabashedly.

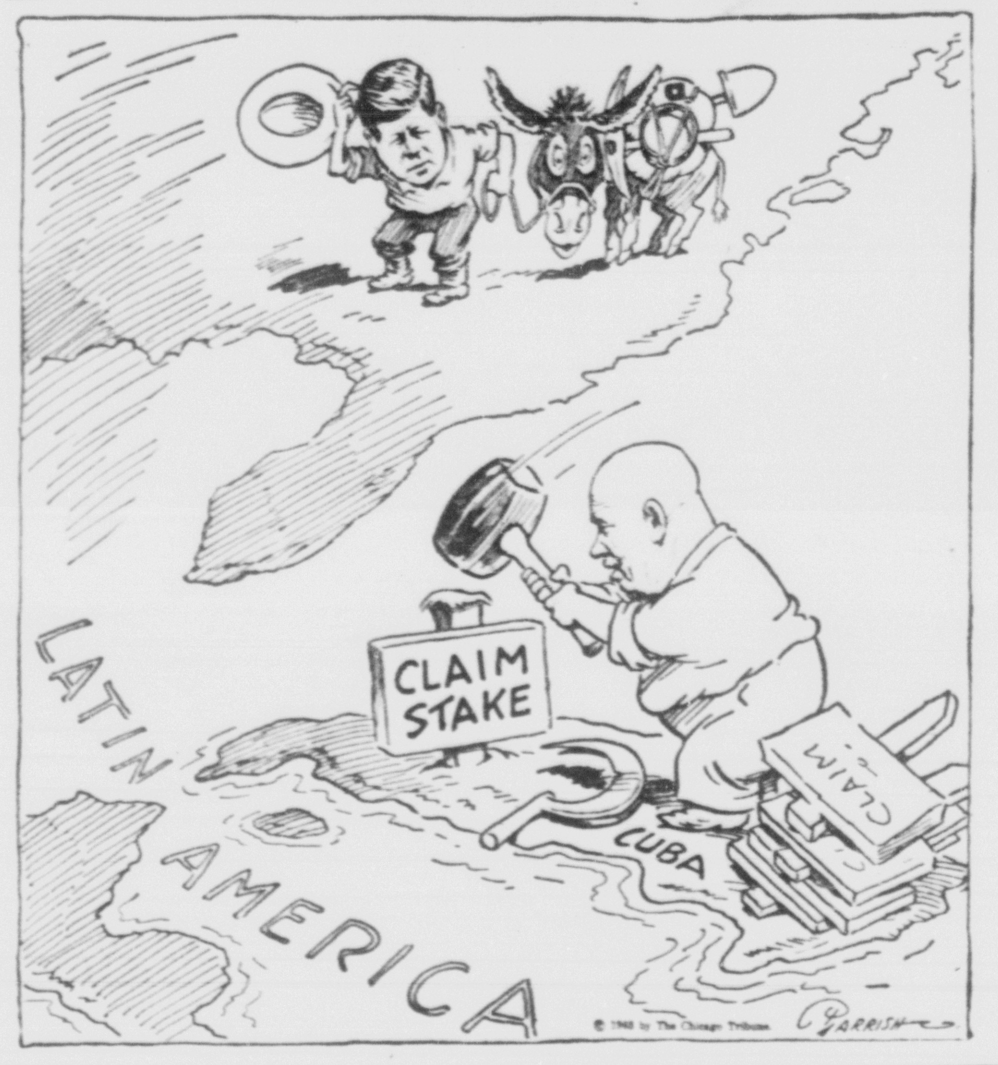
While the unfortunate psychiatrist quivered with indignation, the waggish Fred, future minister, broke in. "Gentlemen," he cried, "a great injustice has been done here. This man Hendrix ought not to be confined at all. Why, he's normal — perfectly normal!"

Most people with mental troubles are not much worse off than Hendrix, this writer suspects. They have difficulty in restraining their appetites; or, like Rudyard Kipling's ape, they have too much ego in their cosmos. Formal institutional "treatment" can not do much for them.

In many cases, a competent clergyman is a better counselor for such people than is a psychologist just out of graduate school. It is their pattern of life, rather than brain-damage or congenital ailments, that causes the mischief. Some of them find their work too monotonous, in this industrial era, and grow insufferably bored. Others have difficulties with spouses or children, and worry themselves into a tizzy. Yet others find life too soft and easy, without challenge — and sink into a bewildered frustration.

The "mental hospital" is no real solution for such conundrums. The recovery of work with purpose, and the restoration of a religious understanding of life, offer greater hope for the neurotic. But how far can a Treasury grant advance such reforms? I suspect that the more you and I are compelled to depend upon the impersonal benefactions of a centralized government, the greater difficulty we will experience in preserving our mental health.

A NEW FRONTIER OF HIS OWN



These Days

State Support of the Arts

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

President Kennedy has announced the establishment of a national advisory council on the arts, and by the time this column is in print he will in all probability have divulged the names of the thirty private citizens who are to join thirteen federal department and agency heads in composing it.

The creation of such a council must evoke mixed feelings. On the one hand, it suggests the official patron — and when patronage or recognition is official, a matter of state commendation, festivals, tours, exhibitions and medals, the natural rebel in the artist often retreats to a small, hidden corner of his personality. On the other hand, there are types of art that flourish under state encouragement. The world had seen great ages of officially nourished sculpture, mural painting, architecture, portraiture, music. And the performing arts can always use encouragement, such as the provision of a performing headquarters like Lincoln Center in New York.

It remains to be seen how much an official advisory council of the arts will result in vital impulse and how much will be dead husk or shell. There is also the question of how well a democracy can function as a patron. The great periods of American art have originated in rebellion against the hand of officialdom in any form.

The creative movements of our own generation began as small secessions from the taste imposed by such bodies as the National Academy of Arts and Letters. They began with such a dramatic arts rebel as "Jig" Cook, who founded the old Provincetown Players in a shack at the end of a Cape Cod wharf and gave Eugene O'Neill his start. They began with lonely satirists in newspaper offices—Ring Lardner, the sports writer who became a master of the short story, and Sinclair Lewis, the impish critic of Main Street tastes and ethics, come immediately to mind.

REBELLION

Long before the modern rebel movements in literature, poetry and the theatre, the generation of Melville, Emerson, Hawthorne and Thoreau staged its own rebellion. True enough, Hawthorne took federal jobs (he was a consul in England, and he had a good friend in President Franklin Pierce), but his "The Scarlet Letter" and other novels sprang from his lonely, brooding imagination. As for Thoreau, who went to jail rather than pay taxes to support the Mexican War, can anyone imagine him seeking or accepting the approval of a state-appointed committee?

In France, under the Bourbon kings, the more formal arts flourished because the Bourbons liked stately magnificence. But the French democratic governments of the Nineteenth Century could not take the lead in promoting or subsidizing good art. The whole long line of vital French painters—Renoir, Cezanne, Gauguin and the rest—rebelled against the standards of bourgeois society as set by the French government.

In heaping scorn on the bourgeois businessman as distinct from his government, the French rebels were not necessarily wise. For the irony of it is that modern painting received its greatest support from individual businessmen with minds of their own. In his "Dr. Barnes of Merion" Henry Hart has told the fascinating story of how the discoverer of Argyrol, a commercially profitable throat spray, put his millions into bringing the great impressionist painters to America. And not only did Albert Barnes act as the patron of painters, he also supported philosophers such as John Dewey and Bertrand Russell.

TASTE

If the encouragement of the artist had been left to a Washington committee in the time of Dr. Barnes, it is hardly likely that Renoir and other French painters would have been brought to America either in quality or quantity. And even today it would be difficult to conceive of a government building as tastefully decorated as the new downtown New York headquarters of the Chase Manhattan Bank, which set aside a budget of $500,000 to buy good modern art for its offices. A visitor to the Chase Manhattan might think for a moment that he had strayed into the Guggenheim or the Whitney museum.

The understanding between a Dr. Barnes and a Renoir is not accidental; the individualist in one supports the individualism of the other. Can the state supply this kind of understanding? We shall watch with interest — and with crossed fingers — the performance of Kennedy's new advisory council, hoping for the best but braced for the worst.

Right to Protect

By DR. GEORGE BOARDMAN

A few days ago I received a very effective decal from Guns and Ammo Magazine which is published in Hollywood, California. The decal states this position: "Support your right to bear arms." As readers of this column know, I do support this position from time to time but this does not cover the entire situation.

I believe a good many Americans realize the truth when they read it and know that to be enslaved, the people of a country must first be disarmed. Disarming an entire nation means more than merely taking away hand guns and rifles and shotguns. It also means disarming the people intellectually. It means selling a philosophy of irreponsibility to those people. It means selling them on the idea they are unable to take care of themselves.

First, men and women who will be free must understand their absolute right to protect their own lives and property. To some this may mean new locks on doors, burglar alarms or watch dogs. To others it may mean having a gun handy for protection of life and property and for hunting for food for their own table. To others defense of life and property may mean the use of words, spoken and written and I will never argue with those who believe the pen to be mightier than the sword, or a .45 revolver.

I must have the right to build a high wall around my property, to install electronic devices for my protection without let or hindrance from government, if I prefer to protect my life and property in this manner. I may wish to install moats or traps or both, and place NO TRESPASSING signs in conspicuous places on my property. I may wish to install automatic cameras which will photograph every person who sets a foot on my property, or install windows which permit me to see out while none may gaze into my home. I may wish to employ individuals assigned to the task of protecting my life and property or I may prefer to contract with a night watch service or a private enterprise police department.

But, I will also continue to support and fight for my right to keep and bear arms because, by the very fact of my existence, I possess the absolute right to protect my own life and my own property in accordance with the dictates of my own conscience.

We have a large, black cat named ZsaZsa. If a stranger, man or woman, reaches out toward her, she will spit at them and strike out with bared claws but she will never institute such aggressive action unprovoked. Her 16-pound brother simply walks away from the smell of a person he suspects and he will not strike unless the suspected person follows and attempts to touch him. Tiger and his sister, Fancy Pants, give strangers a wide berth and Smokey growls and grumbles before he is moved to lash out at a persistent intruder. The felines understand the private property concept and accept the responsibility of protecting their own lives and privacy with their own sharp claws.

My grandchildren have a wonderful little blind cocker spaniel. She protects her own person, her property in the shape of bones and the lives and property of her owners in her own way, with barks and growls and bared teeth. She separates friend from foe with unerring instict.

Yes, the right to own and bear arms is of vital importance for those of us who believe the right to own and protect life and property is unalienable, whether we own or carry a gun or not. Its importance is magnified, if that is possible, by the insistent drive of the socialist conglomerate to disarm everyone except international and national governments and law-enforcement agencies. Americans need only look at socialist, communist and fascist dominated countries to see their future if they refuse to accept the responsibility for their own lives and their own property.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

SUGAR SITUATION

To the Editor:

Now and again, Mr. Oscar Cooley comments at some length, and with an immediately obvious lack of knowledge, on the national or international sugar situation, or both. His most recent effort I have noted appeared in the Gazette Telegraph on June 27, 1963. Characteristically, he has garbled his report rather badly.

For example, Mr. Cooley writes: "U. S. government officials say this (the increase in sugar prices) is due to speculation — that is, somebody has bought the available supply of sugar and is holding for a higher price. This is unlikely..."

Indeed it is unlikely, and it would be most interesting if Mr. Cooley could furnish a single quotation from a single "U. S. government official" who has stated or implied that the sugar market had been cornered by speculators.

I do not know, of course, where Mr. Cooley gets his information, but were he really interested in obtaining facts, they are readily available from the "U. S. government officials" he so blithely misquotes. We have followed very closely and intently the various announcements about sugar issued by U. S. government officials, and not once have we seen a statement such as Mr. Cooley ascribes to such sources.

For example, Charles S. Murphy, Under Secretary of Agriculture, on June 5, 1963, testified as follows before members of the House Banking and Currency Committee:

"Causes of the Price Increases: For many years prior to last year, the world had a continuing sugar surplus. The world price of raw sugar fell early in 1962 to a little over 2 cents a pound, a price so low that many countries deliberately took steps to curtail production. But even as that low point was reached last year, the world supply-demand balance was already shifting from one of relative ease to one of relative tightness. This shift was due to two causes: First, the decline in sugar production in Cuba under the Communist regime, and the commitment to the Communist bloc of most of the sugar that Cuba did produce; second, the drop in sugar beet production in Europe in 1961 because of bad weather. Last year, the European beet crop failed for the second year in a row, and by last fall sugar stocks in the principal exporting countries had been drawn down well below normal levels.

"What followed was a classic illustration of how supply and demand factors interact in a free market. As supplies became tighter, sellers began asking higher prices. As prices began to rise, buyers accelerated their buying to lay in bigger supplies in anticipation of still higher prices — or of actual shortages. In doing so, they bid up prices still further, and an upward spiral was set in motion.

"The acceleration of buying by users and distributors in this country started slowly at first, in about November of last year. It continued at a moderate pace until early in April of this year, when it began to gather momentum.

"These developments set the stage, of course, for some speculation. But it is difficult to distinguish between prudent hedging or covering of risks by persons who produce and trade in sugar and sugar-containing products, on the one hand, and outright speculation on the other. In both cases, the transition of sugar from a relatively stable-priced commodity to one of the substantial price changes would lead to increased activity.

"In the futures market, the open position — that is, the number of unfilled contracts — on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange for bulk raw sugar, duty paid New York, rose from 2,178 on May 21, 1962, to 10,401 on May 24, 1963. In terms of sugar volume, the rise was from 117,712 short tons to 582,456 short tons. The open position in New York on the contract for world raw sugar during the same period increased from 2,752 to 10,133 contracts, or from 154,112 short tons to 567,448 short tons.

"The sharply increased volume in the open position on the futures exchange undoubtedly had a substantial price effect. But of more basic importance were the purchases of sugar to build up stocks by the sugar using and distributing industries."

Secretary Murphy has made similar statements — almost verbatim — in other appearances before committees of the Congress. Mr. Lawrence Myers, head of the Department's Sugar Policy Staff, has been quoted repeatedly in almost precisely the same words. There are half a dozen to a dozen official documents available to Mr. Cooley — or anyone else — bearing these quotes.

Mr. Cooley also seems to fail to appreciate the fact that world population is increasing and, along with it, total demand for sugar. Contrary to his statements, world per capita consumption of sugar has been rising, too. When he speaks about "most people" consuming about the same amount of sugar year after year, he is correct, insofar as the United States is concerned. But the United States does not happen to be the only country on earth, and the people in other lands — especially the so-called "emerging nations" — are demanding more sugar and sugar-containing foods as their standards of living improve.

Mr. Cooley would do well, also, to look at history and see what went on in the sugar world when, as he recommends, the speculators held sway. By the U. S. government's own statements, it is clear that, prior to development of our current Sugar Program, life in the sugar world was one of boom, bust, recovery, bust again — and mostly bust. The consumer rode a roller coaster with the sugar prices. And this was in a period when most of the sugar consumed went directly into the home from the grocery store —not via the big food industries, as is the case today.

Regarding the Sugar Program of the United States today, Secretary Murphy also told the House Committee on Banking and Currency — and two or three other

Nation's Press

Presuming on Short Memory

From the Daily Oklahoman

Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger presumes a great deal on the people's short memories.

He describes as "totally untrue" the allegations that the Kennedy administration is engaged in "news management." He tells the Women's National Press Club that the "government cannot and could not present a false image to the public . . . and I assure you that has not been done and never will be the policy of the administration."

But last November the portly Pierre was saying something altogether different. In an atmosphere of unusual candor the administration's spokesmen openly were acknowledging a deliberate policy of "news management." Salinger said then that the White House was "aware of" these policy statements and was "in accord" with them.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, called on Pentagon officials discussing any subject with newsmen to report to him the substance of what they had talked about. The state department issued a similar order to its personnel. The Pentagon directed its military and civilian employes to refrain from discussing all security matters such as troop movements. And finally the White House urged all reporters in all forms of public communications to use "restraint" in their handling of the news.

In aggregate these various decrees and admonitions amounted to something akin to wartime censorship although the nation wasn't engaged in war. In trying to justify them Sylvester said the administration considered them a weapon in its effort to force Russia to dismantle the Cuban missile bases.

"News generated by actions of the government," he said, "as to content and timing are part of the arsenal of weaponry that a president has in the application of military force and related forces to the solution of political problems or to the application of international political pressure. The results, in my opinion, justify the methods we used."

This starkly Machiavellian approach elicited a prolonged and proper howl from the nation's editors and publishers. It was generally conceded that the administration policy thus enunciated wasn't by any means unprecedented. President Kennedy isn't the first president to equate his own political interest with what he chooses to call the "public interest."

Few presidents have refrained from using any means available to them to create the most favorable possible impression of their administration. At the same time most of them have professed agreement with Thomas Jefferson's concept of the overriding importance of press freedom in a goverment resting on an enlightened electorate. It was Jefferson who said that were it left to him "to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government" he should not "hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

But the Kennedy administration goes beyond any subtle or covert promotion of its own political self—interest to acknowledge openly that it's "managing" the news. The proper use of censorship in a republic is to deny a recognized enemy any knowledge of military plans and movements. An improper use is to withhold or distort public information in an effort to conceal failure or magnify success after the news in question has lost any possible military significance. It's in this connection that the Kennedy administration transgresses.

The American Way

Suit Against ABC-TV

By RAYMOND C. BAKER

The man responsible for bringing convicted perjurer Alger Hiss to the air waves to recite "The Political Obituary of Richard Nixon" may shortly be singing a requiem — without mourners — over the demise of his controversial news program.

Liberal commentator Howard K. Smith, who built whatever reputation he may enjoy for his anti-business commentaries, may be responsible for involving the television industry in more hot water than it can take at this time.

Still smarting from the Congressional revelations of the untrustworthiness of its rating systems, television might soon find itself involved in charges of violation of the Sherman and Clayton Anti-Trust Acts. Dead center aim has been taken on the American Broadcasting Company as a result of the Smith-Hiss dirge, but the entire industry will be affected, if a federal court finds ABC guilty.

FALL OF MIGHTY

Some recapitulation is necessary to bring the threat to television into sharp focus. Shortly after former Vice President Nixon lost his race for governor of California last November, Smith saw fit to call ex-convict Hiss from obscurity into the full view of millions of Americans to vent his spleen against the man who, as Congressman Nixon of the House Un-American Activities Committee, was responsible for unmasking Hiss as a courier of classified documents for the Communist Party, and causing his incarceration.

Many Americans in all walks of life were offended by the telecast, particularly since ABC preempted prime evening time on which a Veterans' Day tribute to "The Fighting Man" was to have been shown. One man, perhaps with more at stake, decided to do something about it.

He is James S. Kemper of the Kemper group of insurance companies, who cancelled his news program on the same network. ABC used a portion of the Kemper time to plug the Smith-Hill show, in spite of an agreement for a ten-minute separation between the former's show and that of a competitor. The Smith show was sponsored by a competing insurance company. ABC filed suit to recover $452,000 from Kemper.

ANTI-TRUST ACTS

The suit by Kemper in the United States District Court cites 12 practices thru which ABC endeavored to restrain competition. The complaint charges that ABC virtually blackjacked the Kemper companies into buying time on 35 TV stations in markets it did not want in order that they might acquire the 95 stations in markets they did want.

A detailed discussion of the TV industry, its methods of operation and the competition between the three major networks for local affiliates is contained in the complaint.

One of the charges highlights the complaint by stating that "in order to acquire, control and dominate the broadcast time of its affiliates, and in order to foreclose competitors from acquisition of and access to that time, ABC has imposed certain tie-in arrangements between it and affiliated stations and certain tie-in arrangements between it and its advertisers."

ANOTHER RULING

A week after the Kemper suit was filed, the Federal Communications Commission outlawed television network option time on affiliated stations, ruling that it is "not essential to networking, is both an artificial restraint on access to TV station time and an abdication of TV licensee responsibility, and is contary to the public interest."

Thus, the Kemper contentions in the suit against ABC are similar to the FCC ruling, which had been under consideration for months.

The federal court action, combined with the FCC ruling, could result in severe limitations on the networks' control over their affiliated stations. It could result in an abandonment of "package" deals on advertisers, if Kemper's complaint is upheld.

And so Howard K. Smith, who has vigorously promoted the growth of the federal government, and its control over the business world, may soon find himself out of a job, as a result of his own efforts. This could be the most ironic ramification of TV's impending come-uppance.

Congressional committees recently: "Finally, let me say that all of us should be grateful for our sugar legislation over the years and the assurance it has made possible for sugar supplies at this time. It should be abundantly clear that U. S. sugar supplies today would be infinitely more precarious if we had not had the protection of this law and the quota system over the past 30 years. For without this system, our domestic sugar industry might not have survived the disastrously low world prices of 1960-62. U. S. farmers today are producing and the U. S. processing industry is manufacturing 6 million tons of sugar that constitutes nearly 60 per cent of our sugar supplies. The protection that the Sugar Act has afforded over the years has maintained a healthy and growing domestic sugar industry which is indispensable in such a period of tight world supplies."

The Sugar Act has been praised by partisans on both sides of the aisle for many years. It has the greatest support among farmers, processors, refiners, importers, exporters and those consumers who are aware of how it has worked and what has been accomplished under its provisions.

Mr. Cooley does not even get the elementary facts straight. In his June 27, 1963, column, he states:

"The total we are permitted to have this year is 9,800,000 tons."

He refers to the total quantity of sugar available under the quota system. The correct figure is 10,400,000 tons, so announced by the United States Department of Agriculture on May 6, 1963. An authority on the subject of sugar, such as Mr. Cooley, should certainly be acquainted with such a basic fact.

I firmly believe in Mr. Cooley's right to his opinions and freedom to express them. On the other hand, I think he fails in his great obligation and responsibility to inform himself first before he presumes to rush into public print to inform the world. As certainly as you and I are a foot high, Mr. LeFevre, loose handling of facts is a greater threat to freedom of speech than are many other things we fret about from time to time.

I would respectfully suggest to Mr. Cooley that, if he wishes to be a self-appointed authority on sugar, he devote more of his time to study of the subject and less to expounding completely erroneous views.

With very best regards,

PROF. COOLEY REPLIES

To the Editor:

Thank you for sending me Don Martin's letter on the sour sugar situation.

I stand corrected regarding the 1963 sugar quota. We are to be permitted 10,400,000 tons instead of the 9,800,000 tons stated in my column of June 27. The lower figure was the official quota until May 6, when the Secretary of Agriculture raised it by 600,000 tons. This serves to remind us how completely our sugar supply is manipulated by Washington.

James McCartney of the Chicago Daily News on May 26 wrote, "The situation (rising sugar prices) brought a warning from Agriculture Department officials, who said 'the speculative bubble is bound to burst.'" This certainly sounded as though someone in Washington was alleging that speculation had inflated prices.

And the statement of the Under Secretary of Agriculture, quoted by Mr. Martin, informs us that "these developments set the stage for some speculation." After admitting the legitimacy of "prudent hedging," he throws out a dark hint of "outright speculation." Just what is that word "outright" doing there?

It is only natural that the Department of Agriculture would want to calm sugar consumers' fears. Has not the Department taken upon itself the job of planning the sugar business from beet to bowl? It cannot afford to acknowledge failure at either end, but manifestly the present situation demonstrates its failure at the bowl.

It is only natural, too, that American sugar beet and cane growers should favor the Sugar Act, for it was passed to create monopoly for them. They could not possibly compete with the growers of the tropics if the market were free.

But it is a little hard to see why an official of an American sugar refining company, a private enterprise, whose true, long-term interest is surely in maintaining free markets, should laud this highly socialistic act.

Peronistas Call General Strike

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) —The Peronist-dominated general Confederation of Labor here called a general strike for July 12 to protest today's presidential election, which the Peronists are boycotting.

The 62 Peronist unions control about one-third of the 2.5 million workers affiliated in the conference and can count on some independent support due to Peronist control over the confederation's leadership.

Interior Minister Gen. Osiris Villega spurned a bid for an election postponement, and the strike decision followed. Some of the Peronists had sought time to replace disqualified electoral college candidates with new candidates.

Western Air Lines Announces Pilot Pact

DENVER (UPI) —Western Air Lines has announced its 380 pilots have agreed to a new 2-year contract, meaning a 6 per cent raise in pilot pay costs.

The new pact, retroactive to Jan 1, 1963, grants more pay for training time, and increased fringe benefits, company officials said.

Pilots will receive a minimum disability pension benefit and half the cost of their fixed benefit pension plan.

U.S. Employment Hits 70 Million, Unemployment Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government reported here that U.S. employment totalled more than 70 million for the first time in history last month — but unemployment rose 800,000 because of the influx of teen-age and college student job seekers.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said the new employment mark of 70.3 million workers "on the face of it, seems like a good record." But he noted the fact that the June jobless figure of 4.8 million was 1.8 million more than for the same month 15 years ago.

Taking that into account, Wirtz commented, "We realize that the record is not good enough."

All of the 800,000 increase in unemployment was attributed to the entry of teen-age and college students into the labor market after the end of the school year. A Labor Department spokesman said the increase was not as great as expected.

This dropped the seasonally adjusted jobless rate to 5.7 per cent compared to 5.9 per cent in May.

Red China Keeps Slugging Nikita

TOKYO, Saturday (AP) — Red China continued its blazing war of words against the Soviet line of peaceful coexistence and general disarmamenthere after the start of Chinese talks in Moscow.

The newest Chinese attack against Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's approach to the West was contained in a lengthy review by the official New China News Agency (NCNA) of the just-concluded world congress of the Women's International Democratic Federation in Moscow.

"It is not difficult to see," said NCNA, "that those who talked loudly about 'general complete disarmament' being the only way to world peace and who spread the illusion that the imperialists would agree to disarm of their own free will, were actually deceiving the peoples and diverting them from the struggle against the moral enemy of peace—imperialism and old and new colonialism.

Denver Storm Damage Set Near $2-Million

DENVER (UPI)— The National Board of Fire Underwriters said here the estimate of damage caused by the June 15 wind and hailstorm in the Denver area has risen to $2 million.

This represents a doubling of the board's first estimate.

The estimate covers insured property only. There is no estimate of losses to uninsured property.

Fire Damages U.S. Radio Installation

RHODES, Greece (AP)—A fire caused about $100,000 damage today at the Voice of American installation being built on this Greek island in the eastern Mediterranean.

U.S. officials said the damage might delay work on the installation scheduled for completion next spring. Cause of the fire was not determined.

The installation will replace the U.S. Coast Guard vessel, Courier, which is equipped as a floating radio station.

Spy Scandal Bars Russian From Britain

LONDON (AP)—Britain, beset by spy scandals, has turned down a visa for a Russian colonel the Soviet Union wanted to assign to London and has barred another Russian officer from visiting a naval air base in Scotland.

The admiralty said it had denied the request of Capt. Konstantin Sukhoruchkin, naval attache at the Soviet embassy here, to attend an open house at H.M.S. Condor, the Royal Naval Air Station near Arbroath, Scotland. Sukhoruchkin holds the post formerly occupied by Capt. Yevgeny Ivanov, who shared the favors of Christine Keeler with former British War Minister John Profumo.

The Foreign Office suggested to the Soviet embassy that it might like to reconsider a visa application for a Col. Kuchumov "for reasons which the embassy themselves appreciate." The embassy, which had picked Kuchumov to become its air attache, bowed to the British ruling, officials said last night. They said he formerly served in the Soviet embassy in Washington.

Proof of Shipwreck Reported by Guard

MIAMI (UPI)—A tabletop from the fishing ship Sno' Boy, missing with 40 men aboard, has been found floating south of Jamaica, the Coast Guard said here.

The Sno' Boy has been missing since Tuesday. Earlier reports said 55 persons were aboard the 63-foot craft, but the Coast Guard said today it has verified that only 40 persons were aboard the $25,000 vessel.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the air search for the Sno' Boy would be intensified in the area where the tabletop was found. But he emphasized "We have not established whether she is afloat or has gone down.

"The tabletop could mean nothing, but it definitely came from the Sno' Boy," he said.

A Distinguished Military Graduate from Texas is new commander of the 19th MP Company. He is Capt. John H. Ieans, who had been confinement officer and operations officer for the Provost Marshal's Office since September.

Ieans has been in the Army since his ROTC days at Prairie View A&M College in Texas. A political science major, he was president of Scabbard and Glade.

Electing the Military Police Corps as his career, he took the MP basic course at Fort Gordon and came to Fort Carson. He was here until transferred to Okinawa. There he attended the Ryukan Armed Services Police Academy for all four branches stationed there, and was in charge of 1100 Ryukan security guards.

Eagle to Fly On Schedule on Swift Strike

In spite of the fact that most of Ft. Carson's 5th Division will be going on "Swift Strike III" late this month, payday procedures will be about the same as usual.

For instance, there will be no blanket partial payment made as was done for Exercise Coulee Crest. (Partial pay for individual cases will be made where warranted by hardship.)

"There is really no need for making a blanket partial pay on "Swift Strike III," said Maj. James J. Benane, deputy adjutant general.

"On 'Coulee Crest,' many of the soldiers would not have been paid on time; thus, we made full use of partial pays so that the men would have money to meet expenses at the beginning of the month.

"However, almost everyone will get his money without delay on Swift Strike. A few might have to wait a day or so until they arrive in the Carolinas, but the vast majority will be paid on time."

Maj. Benane added that there would be administrative time in order to give AG section time to visit all battalion-size units with facilities for money orders and registered letters.

Messer to Lecture On Influential Artist

Members and guests of the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center will have an opportunity to hear Thomas M. Messer, director of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum in New York, lecture on the influential artist Vasily Kandinsky July 15 at the Fine Arts Center.

Messer will talk in conjunction with the opening of an exhibition of Kandinsky's work which is being presented at the Fine Arts Center thru Aug. 25. His talk at 8:30 p.m. in the theater, titled "Phases of Kandinsky" is free, but tickets must be ordered and picked up by Saturday.

The Kandinsky exhibition is, according to Fine Arts Center director Fred S. Bartlett "one of the most distinguished in our history."

The Colorado Springs institution is one of 10 in this country and Canada to show this most comprehensive exhibition of Kandinsky's painting ever held in the U.S.

The artist, who was born in Russia in 1866 and died in Paris in 1944, is probably the most influential painter of the 20th century, having been the first or among the first to express himself in abstract or non-objective form.

The Guggenheim Museum, which organized the exhibition under Messer's direction, is one of the largest collectors of Kandinsky's work. The more than 60 oils and 30 watercolors to be seen at the Fine Arts Center are from the Guggenheim collection, from Mme. Nina Kandinsky, the artist's widow and from the painter Gabriele Munter, a German companion of Kandinsky. The Soviet Union also agreed to lend six for the showing.

Director Messer has been working on the exhibition since he was appointed Guggenheim director in 1961.

A native of Czechoslovakia, Messer came to the United States in 1939 as an exchange student and was graduated from Boston University in 1942.

He became an American citizen in 1944 and following service with the U. S. Army, he received a master's degree in fine arts from Harvard.

From 1949 to 1952 he was director of the Roswell Museum in New Mexico and in 1952 he began his association with the American Federation of Arts in New York City first as assistant director, then as director of exhibitions and finally as director.

He resigned his post at the federation in 1956 to become director of the Institute of Contemporary Art in Boston where he served until his Guggenheim appointment.

In addition, he is a well known lecturer, planner and art educator, having traveled thruout the United States and, under the auspices of such agencies as the United States information Agency, Time Inc. and the Economic development Administration, to Europe, Latin America and Puerto Rico.

New TB Program Cheaper Than X-Ray Surveys

A program of tuberculin tests for infants appears to be a less costly procedure for finding unknown cases of tuberculosis than mass chest x-ray surveys, it was reported today in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

The cost of finding an active case of TB in a tuberculin test program was about $501 per case while the cost of finding active TB thru the mass x-ray survey technique has been estimated as high as $1,000 per case, according to an article by William E. Mosher M.D., A. A. Grabau, M.D., and V. J. Sallak, Ed. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

Their conclusion was based on a tuberculin screening program involving 1,668 children who attended well-child conferences conducted by the health department in the Buffalo area.

"While the experience in testing 1,668 children under two years of age is limited, uncovering new disease among children and their contacts is considerably higher than usually found in mass screening techniques," the authors said.

"The cost of this proceedure is relatively low compared with that of x-ray surveys.

"If the well-child conferences are selected carefully in areas of high incidence, it is apparent that this technique is a relatively inexpensive means of discovering active tuberculosis."

Altho the major objective of the study was to determine whether screening the infants with the tuberculin test was effective in identifying unknown TB among adult contacts, the authors said, the study revealed primary TB among the children themselves.

A diagnosis of primary TB was confirmed in six of the children studied, they said. Investigation of the contacts of these six and a suspected case revealed five additional cases of active pulmonary TB, they said.

The tuberculin test consists of an injection of a liquid containing extracts of the tubercle bacillus which causes TB. If the disease is present, an inflammation develops at the site of the injection.

The study was made jointly by the Buffalo and Erie County Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Erie County Department of Health. Dr. Mosher is Commissioner of Health and Dr. Grabau is director of the Division of Tuberculosis Control, Erie County Health Department. Dr. Sallak is executive secretary, Buffalo and Erie County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Departure Set For Swift Strike Vanguard

The vanguard of Ft. Carson units will leave this weekend to begin preparing communications for Exercise "Swift Strike" III in the Carolinas.

The 267th Signal and 529th Signal companies will leave Sunday. The 267th will go by rail to Ft. Gordon, Ga. The 529th will be attached to the 2nd Signal Group from Ft. Bragg, N. C., part of the Blue Forces, at Pope AFB, N. C.

On Thursday, the 303rd ASA Battalion will leave by rail to prepare security.

First Red Diamond to roll out for the exercise will be the 5th Signal Battalion which leaves Ft. Carson July 18.

Division Headquarters will leave here July 25 and is expected to return Aug. 21.

Air battles July 21 will launch the action which will pit the 101st and 82nd Airborne Divisions against the 5th and 2nd Infantry Divisions thru Aug. 17.

After the maneuvers, the Red Diamond Division will spend 11 days at Ft. Gordon in a redeployment period.

More than 75,000 ground soldiers and airmen will participate in Exercise "Swift Strike III" in the Carolinas and Georgia.

AF Officers To Be Guests Of Heintges

Ten senior Air Force officers from Cannon Air Force Base, N. M., will be special guests of Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, commander of the 5th Division and Ft. Carson, Monday and Tuesday.

The reciprocal visit is part of the joint liaison Army-Air Force program.

After arriving at Peterson Field Monday, the Air Force officers will be given a briefing, followed by a lunch at the officer's club. Maj. Gen. Heintges and Col. H. V. Middleworth in return are invited to take a flight on a Super Sabre F-100 that afternoon.

Tuesday the officers will be special guests at the review for Brig. Gen. Edward C. Dunn, Assist CG, and will attend an Officer's Club reception for the departing General.

Veteran Teacher Named Education Head at AFA

A veteran teacher and administrator has accepted the position of director of Education Services at the Air Force Academy.

William Bailey, formerly administrator of educational programs for the Sandia Corp., Albuquerque, N.M., replaces Ed Killin who accepted a similar post at Westover AFB, Mass.

The new education director received is BA in educational psychology from Central State College, Edmond, Okla., and a masters degree in educational administration from Texas A&M. He has also done graduate work at the University of Colorado.

Prior to joining Sandia, Bailey was chief of training for the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala. (now the George C. Marshall Space Agency). He also spent five years as chief of training at the White Sands, N. Mex. Missile Range, five years as principal of a high school in Sugarland, Tex., and served as chief of the Guidance Center at Texas A&M.

Bailey is married and the father of a son, James, 16, and a daughter, Laura, 12.

STUDY TO BE ASKED

DENVER (UPI) — A study of pollution problems of Barr Lake and the South Platte River will be asked of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Colorado health director Dr. Roy L. Cleere said Friday. Cleere said he agreed to forward the request of Dr. James Ranson and Charles A. Taylor, both of Brighton and chairmen of committees to combat pollution of the lake and river.

Benefit Noted From Stream Improvements

Colorado fishermen will benefit from stream improvement practices valued at $26,724, according to an agreement entered into by the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department and the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

In announcing the terms of the new agreement, Regional Director John C. Gatlin of the national agency explained that the Federal Government would furnish one-half of the money and the State of Colorado would match that amount.

Federal monies are available under the Accelerated Public Works Program, aimed at improving wildlife values and increasing employment possibilities.

The amount of $14,274 will be spent to rip-rap the upstream face of the dam and gravel the dike at Horseshoe Reservoir in Herfano County. Over 2,500 cubic yards of rock will be used in the dam improvement work.

The second part of the work will expend $12,450 to build 12 stream improvement structures in Huerfano River, Huerfano County, within the boundaries of state-owned properties.

Marksmen Bring Top Places to Carson at Shoot

Ft. Carson Advanced Marksmanship Unit riflemen brought home one first, two seconds and three third places from the South Dakota State High Power Rifle Championships at Pierre.

There were 50 competitors and no team events.

Winners from Ft. Carson's Gold team included M. Sgt. E. F. Marcy who shot first place in the President's Match in the master class; 2nd Lt. R. B. Szydlo who was runnerup in Match 3 and S. Sgt. Jose T. Maanao who shot second in Match 4, both open class.

Third place winners were Szydlo, third master in the President's Match; S. Sgt. Carl V. Hawkins, third expert in the President's Match; and S. Sgt. Charles Holub, third open class in Match 2.

Maanao took fourth master honors in the President's Match which included 200 yards standing slowfire, 300 yards prone rapid fire and 500 yards prone slowfire.

Results of Match 6 and Match 7 were not known when the Ft. Carson competitors left the range.

M. Sgt. Francis C. Bernhoft was also a team member.

Storm Reassigned To ARADCOM Headquarters

Maj. Robert W. Storm, who recently returned from a special assignment in Ethiopia, has been reassigned to U. S. Army Air Defense Command (ARADCOM) Headquarters.

Maj. Storm is in the Plans Division of the G-3 (Operations and Training) Section. He previously served, from 1960 to 1961, in the Combat Developments Division of the same section.

In the interim, Maj. Storm was executive officer of the 1st Rocket Howitzer Battalion, 16th Artillery, 2nd Armored Division, with headquarters at Fort Hood, Tex.

However, he spent six and a half months of this time on special duty in Ethiopia. He was one of a group of four U. S. Army officers who assisted the Ethiopian Army in setting up a Command and General Staff College similar to the one the U. S. Army maintains at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The group of four also conducted a Command and General Staff College course for 42 Ethiopian Army officers selected by Emperor Haile Selassie. Many of these officers were Korean War veterans, and several of them were later to become instructors themselves.

The major found the people of Ethopia traditionally friendly to the United States, and was particularly impressed by the Emperor, whom he visited shortly before returning to this country.

"Altho Haile Selassie is an absolute ruler," he said, "I feel strongly that he has the interests of his people and the progress of his country first at heart. And he is obviously well loved by his people."

Despite the impression of great height he gives in pictures and on television, Maj. Storm said, the Emperor is of small stature — "about five feet, I should judge."

The Emperor himself, he explained, will not divulge his exact height.

Maj. Storm, his wife, and their two sons are living at 1420 Hollyhock Dr.

Patrol Warns Drivers to Check Stopping Distance

How much space is needed for a car to stop?

A lot more than you might thing, according to the Colorado Highway Safety Council. A dime—or even a dollar—is not enough, even under the best of conditions.

Stopping distances is the sum of reaction and braking distances, and these depend on several variables.

Reaction distance is how far you go while you make a decision and get your foot to the brake. It varies with speed.

Reaction time for most drivers is about three-quarters of a second. In that time a vehicle moving at 20 miles an hour travels 22 feet; at 50 miles an hour it goes 55 feet. At a given speed, the distance is the same regardless of the type of vehicle, condition of roadway or state of weather.

Braking distance is how far you go once the brakes are applied. This varies with speed and type of vehicle, as well as with conditions or road, brakes, and so on. This varies with speed and type of vehicle, as well as with conditions or road, brakes, and so on.

For a passenger car on level, dry pavement, braking distance at 20 miles an hour averages 25 feet, while at 50 miles an hour it is 188 feet. This means that the car's total stopping distance at 20 miles an hour is 47 feet, and at 50, it is 243 feet.

The stopping distances are greater for trucks and vary with their size. At 20 miles an hour, a light two-axle truck needs about 52 feet, while a heavy three-axle truck or combination needs 72 feet. At 50 miles an hour these distances increase to 280 feet and 375 feet.

Millions of people thruout the world have seen Echo I as it crossed the evening sky.

Recent observations by NASA technicians indicate that Echo has deflated in size to about one-half of its original fully-inflated size.

Echo I, in its journey thru space around the earth, has travelled more than 380,000,000 miles.

However, they point out that Echo is constantly changing its orbit from a relatively circular orbit (apogee 1,049 miles, perigee 945 miles) to a more elliptical one and back to the near circular path about the earth.

During each cycle when the Echo's perigee is reaching its lowest point (about 800 miles) there is a chance that it may lose enough speed to re-enter the atmosphere and burn up.

Officials Named Arkansas Valley Industries

Officers and directors of Arkansas Valley Industries have been re-elected today at the annual meeting of the company's stockholders.

Re-elected to the Board of Directors were Dale Claus of Denver, Harold Snyder of Dardanelle, Ark., S. D. Mitchell and William M. Lemley of Russellville, and W. Guy Redman and Christian B. Peper of St. Louis, Mo.

After the stockholders meeting, the Board re-elected officers, including Snyder, president; Mitchell, vice president for operations; Lemley, secretary-treasurer, and B. L. Turner of Russellville, controller.

Turner and Miss Gretchen Goodier of Dardanelle were elected assistant secretary-treasurers.

Snyder told the stockholders AVI would place emphasis during the next year on the development of a marketing division and introduced Neil E. Neunherz, former general sales manager for Morton Salt Company, who assumed his new duties this month as director of marketing for AVI.

The poultry industry has been production oriented, Snyder told the stockholders. He said AVI would lead the industry in a move toward becoming marketing oriented.

Stockholders owning 67 per cent of the company's stock were present at the meeting or represented by proxy.

'Miss Handicapped America' Is Crowned

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Miss Sharon Bolinder, 24, of Salt Lake City, was crowned Miss Handicapped America of 1963 here Friday night at the beginning of the annual Idaho Springs Gold Rush Days celebration.

The 24-year-old queen was awarded a gold bracelet, a mink collar and other prizes, and wore an 18-karat gold crown, made in this one-time gold rush boom town.

Miss Bolinder, paralyzed from the waist down, said, "I'm very, very happy. Such events bring a lot of handicapped people out of their shells."

Officials hoped the contest by next year would bring contestants from all states. This year, Colorado, Maine, Iowa, Indiana and Utah were represented.

The town celebration ends Sunday.

Italian Premier Wins Vote of Confidence

ROME (AP)—Premier Giovanni Leone won a confidence vote in the senate Friday after telling senators he supported the general principle of President Kennedy's plan to establish a multilateral NATO nuclear force.

The senate endorsed Leone's all-Christian Democrat minority government 133 to 110, just 10 votes over a required majority.

Seventy-six senators did not participate in the voting.

Appeal Added to Meat Dishes With Proper Carving

Irregular and ragged slices of meat can spoil the attractiveness and appetite-appeal of even your most sumptuous meal. Yet, with a little knowhow and the proper tools, you can carve or cut meat or poultry as attractively as a professional chef and mark yourself as a careful, gracious hostess.

Before carving, equip yourself with a platter large enough to hold the item to be cut and the slices from it, or use a side serving dish for the cuts.

A long-handled fork and an electric slicing knife with twin cutting blades will give you neat, uniform cuts. The handle, made of Kralastic supplied by Naugatuck Chemical division of United States Rubber Co., is heat and grease-resistant and the blades operate when finger pressure is applied to a control trigger.

Following are tips on the proper techniques for carving meat and poultry.

Baked whole ham: Place scored side up, shank end to your right. Carve two or three slices from thin side, parallel to length of ham. Turn ham upright to rest on this cut surface.

About six inches from shank end, make a straight cut to leg bone, then another cut at an angle to this, close to shank end.

Remove wedge and carve into slices at right angles to bone. Release by running knife under slices.

Leg of lamb: Place roast with shank end to your right and thinner side up. Carve two or three slices from thin side parallel to length of leg. Turn and rest on cut surface.

Carve parallel slices from shank end down to leg bone. Release by running knife under slices along leg bone.

Stading rib roast: Ask butcher to separate backbone from ribs. Remove backbone in kitchen after roasting. Place platter with broader cut surface down and ribs to your left. Carve crosswise beginning at fat edge. Release each slice by cutting along rib bone.

Lion of pork: Have butcher saw across base of ribs close to backbone. After roasting, remove backbone by cutting between it and rib ends. Place rib ends up and cut surface down. Starting at right end of lion, carve vertical slices.

Carve closely against both sides of each rib, alternately making one slice with a bone and one without.

Roast turkey or chicken: Place with legs to your right. Starting with side facing you, grasp end of leg with fingers and pull away while cutting through meat and joint between thigh bone and body. Slice meat from leg and thigh parallel to bone. Remove wing by cutting through joint where wing joins body. Start on breast by carving downward.

U.S. Accused of Aiding Plotters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The U.S. Embassy here was accused here of complicity in the unsuccessful plot against President Ngo Dinh Diem's government in 1960, reliable Vietnamese sources said.

The accusation was made by a government prosecutor at a secret session of the trial of the 19 Vietnamese charged with leading the plot, the source said.

The U.S. Embassy declined comment on the charges, but Americans here were annoyed. The United States spends more than $1.5 million daily in aid to Diem's government and has committed 14,000 men to help him in his fight against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

The Americans saw the charges as evidence of deep suspicion of U.S. intentions here.

The sources said all 19 Vietnamese on trial deny that the United States was involved in their plot.

Diary Reveals Horrors Of the Civil War

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following story is taken from the diary of a civil war soldier, Phillip Koempel. The diary is now in the posession of Phillip Bissell, 910 N. Meade Ave. Bissel received the diary from his father, now 88-years-old, who in turn received the diary from Koempel. The story from the diary is published in relation to the 100th anniversary of Gettysburg.

By RAY HERST
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Men dying from starvation or exposure were a daily sight for him.

He watched men shot for stumbling across an arbitrary line in fevered delirium; others killed for stealing a piece of bread.

On one day alone, he watched 119 men die without a shot being fired.

If he wanted to wash himself, he had to pay 50 cents for a small piece of soap; to augment the meager diet given to him and the others, he had to pay $8 for a dozen eggs; $2.50 for a dozen onions; 25 cents for a spoonful of green coffee and 15 cents for a spoonfull of salt.

Auswitz? Buchenwald? Other Nazi terror camps? No.

This was Andersonville, the infamous prison run by the confederates during the Civil war.

The man who lived this nightmare recorded it in a diary which he had printed after the war and given to his children and grandchildren as a testimony to the worst war this country ever participated in.

Phillip Koempel was a vigorous 24 years old when he was captured and placed in Andersonville. When he was released by the confederates nine months later he had to be carried by stretcher to an Army hospital.

During his time in the Union Army, Koempel participated in the first battle of Bull Run; served under Generals Fremont, Pope and Custer. He was part of the regiment that later escorted Gen. Grant to Appomatox to accept Lee's surrender; he also joined in the search for John Wilkes Booth, "the assassin of our noble Lincoln," and reached Booth's hiding place less than an hour after he had been shot.

All of this is recorded in the diary that Koemple gave to his sons and his only daughter, Caroline who married Charles H. Bissell on Lincoln's birthday in 1909.

Bissell, now 88, lives at the Albany Hotel here. He is retired from business in Portland, Conn. His son, Phillip Bissell lives at 910 N. Meade Ave. Phillip has the diary now and it will be passed on to his children, Phillip Jr., Caroline and Charles when they grow older.

It is a document well-worth reading; well-worth the time one spends on it. It tells of all the things that no one likes to hear about in war.

It tells of dirt and weariness; of killing and the screams of wounded. It tells of treachery and murder and conditions which turn men into starving animals eager to kill for a dollar or a piece of meat.

The ironic part is that the author, Koempel, who was born in Wiesbaden, Germany, in March of 1840, came to this country at the age of 17 to escape serving in the German Army.

At the outbreak of the war, here, however, he enlisted for three months in Company B of the 1st Conneticut Volunteers. July 21, the green soldier was fighting for his life in the first battle of Bull Run. He reenlisted in October of that year.

Three years later, on June 29, 1864, during a battle at Reams Station, Va., Koempel was captured.

Following are excerpts from the diary, telling of his capture and trip to Andersonville Prison:

June 29, 1864 — Arrived near Reams Station. Completely surrounded. Sharp fighting. Wagons and ammunition destroyed. A general retreat. Delayed by crossing a ditch at Reams Station. Hand to hand fighting. Rebels right amongst us in the dusty road. Got off my horse to assist Lt. Crainey and found he was dead. Taken prisoner by the 13th Virginia Cavalry. Four rebels demanded my surrender.

"July 1 — Very hot day . . . Got a small piece of corn bread and meat . . . They took my hat and demanded my watch, which I refused telling the fellow I'd see him in hell first. He returned with an officer. I smashed my watch all to pieces before them with my boots.

"July 2 — At Weldon in the afternoon . . . Drew rations of seven crackers . . . insulted by citizens at Weldon . . .

"July 3 — At Charlotte, changed cars for Columbia, where we arrived at 8 p.m. . . Rough time in car. Fairly packed up . . . We were refused water . . .

"July 4 — three crackers and a small piece of meat our 4th of July breakfast . . .

"July 6 — Passed thru Macon (Ga.) in the morning. A fine place. . . Arrived at Andersonville station at 11 a.m. Marched one mile to prison. Searched for papers. Went to prison about 1 o'clock. 20,000 men in 26 acres of land. Terrible sight. Drew rations. No appetite. Eight pieces of artillery at the place.

"July 7 — Roll call at 8 o'clock. Went to see our boys. Glad to see me but sorry at such a place. Saw Man dying. Daily sight . . .

"July 11 — Cool day. Execution of six murderers and robbers. Terrible sight. Rope broke on one; another tried to escape . . ." (He explained later that the men had murdered and robbed a tent-mate, burying his body under the dirt floor of the tent. The union soldiers held a trial and convicted the men, carrying out the sentence. The action was sanctioned by the U. S. Army when a full report was filed.)

"July 13 — Man killed for crossing the dead line.

"July 14 — A man was hung for stealing . . .

"July 21 — Man shot for crossing the dead line . . .

"July 22 — Two men shot for crossing the dead line and one man shot at gate."

Thereafter, he records almost daily men being shot for crossing the dead line. The dead line was, at first, indicated by a shallow furrow in the earth located about 12 feet from the walls of the stockade. To cross it meant death.

He records that on Aug. 13, three pounds of meat was distributed among 90 men. Koempel said that deaths at Andersonville since Feb. 28 of that year totaled 6,118.

He was taken from Andersonville on Sept 10 and transferred to a prison at Charleston, S. C. But his discription of Andersonville, as contained in the diary is worth mentioning:

"The stockade was composed of unhewn logs and was erected by slaves belonging on the neighboring plantations. Dirt was thrown up around the base of the logs and there tops were roughly pointed with an axe. The prison proper was 1,540 feet long and 750 feet wide. No buildings inside. No trees for shade. . . As sergeant with 100 men to account for, I had to collect the dead and arrange them for burial. . . I would tie their feet together and lay their hands over the breast . . . A paper fastened to the shirt gave the name and the regiment to which the deceased belonged. The bodies collected in the morning would be laid near the main gate and would then be put in an ordinary box wagon and taken to the cemetery. In August, 1864, I counted 150 bodies thus awaiting burial. . ."

Disease was rampant. Men died of scurvy and of dysentery. Koempel speaks of the superintendent's pack of 22 bloodhounds, commenting: "The encounters of the poor emaciated prisoner with these ferocious animals form a chapter too harrowing to dwell upon."

Again he speaks of the suffering and pain: "You would pass one group who were merrily singing and then come within the sound of men moaning who were in the agonies of death."

At Charlotte, conditions were not much better. Thousands of prisoners took the oath of allegiance to the Confederacy to save their lives but they came back almost as soon as they left.

Koempel speaks of being given "three spoons of meal and four spoons of beans for rations" one day; "two pints of flour" another day and nothing on some days.

Men froze to death in the open stockade with no shelter for them. He tells of men being whipped and beaten with revolvers; of being fed "bad flour"; of finding men frozen to death one night; of fever killing men by the hundreds; of going 48 hours without any food; of being struck by guards, boiling old bones "for something warm"; sleeping on one and a half inches of ice.

On Feb. 6, he and 1,000 other men were released from prison. They were packed on cars so tightly that they took turns lying down.

"Many fellows died on this awful trip. Actually starved to death. Oh! What a sight!" Koempel recorded. They spent two days in a tobacco warehouse at Richmond, "covered with filth and lice." On Feb. 15, the prisoneers passed thru their own lines. Here is Koempel's discription of that day:

"Entered our line thru the pickets of a colored regiment, who assisted those unable to walk, giving us a lot of coffee and bread. After marching about two miles, . . . we came in sight of our troops in camp and here we saw Old Glory again, waving as to welcome us.

"Never will I forget the effects of seeing it again. Poor devils hardly able to crawl tried to stand up, some cheering, others crying for joy. Our boys actually carried us thru the camp and when at our request and by command of the commanding officer, lowered the flag, we rushed for it, kissing it and caressing it like children.

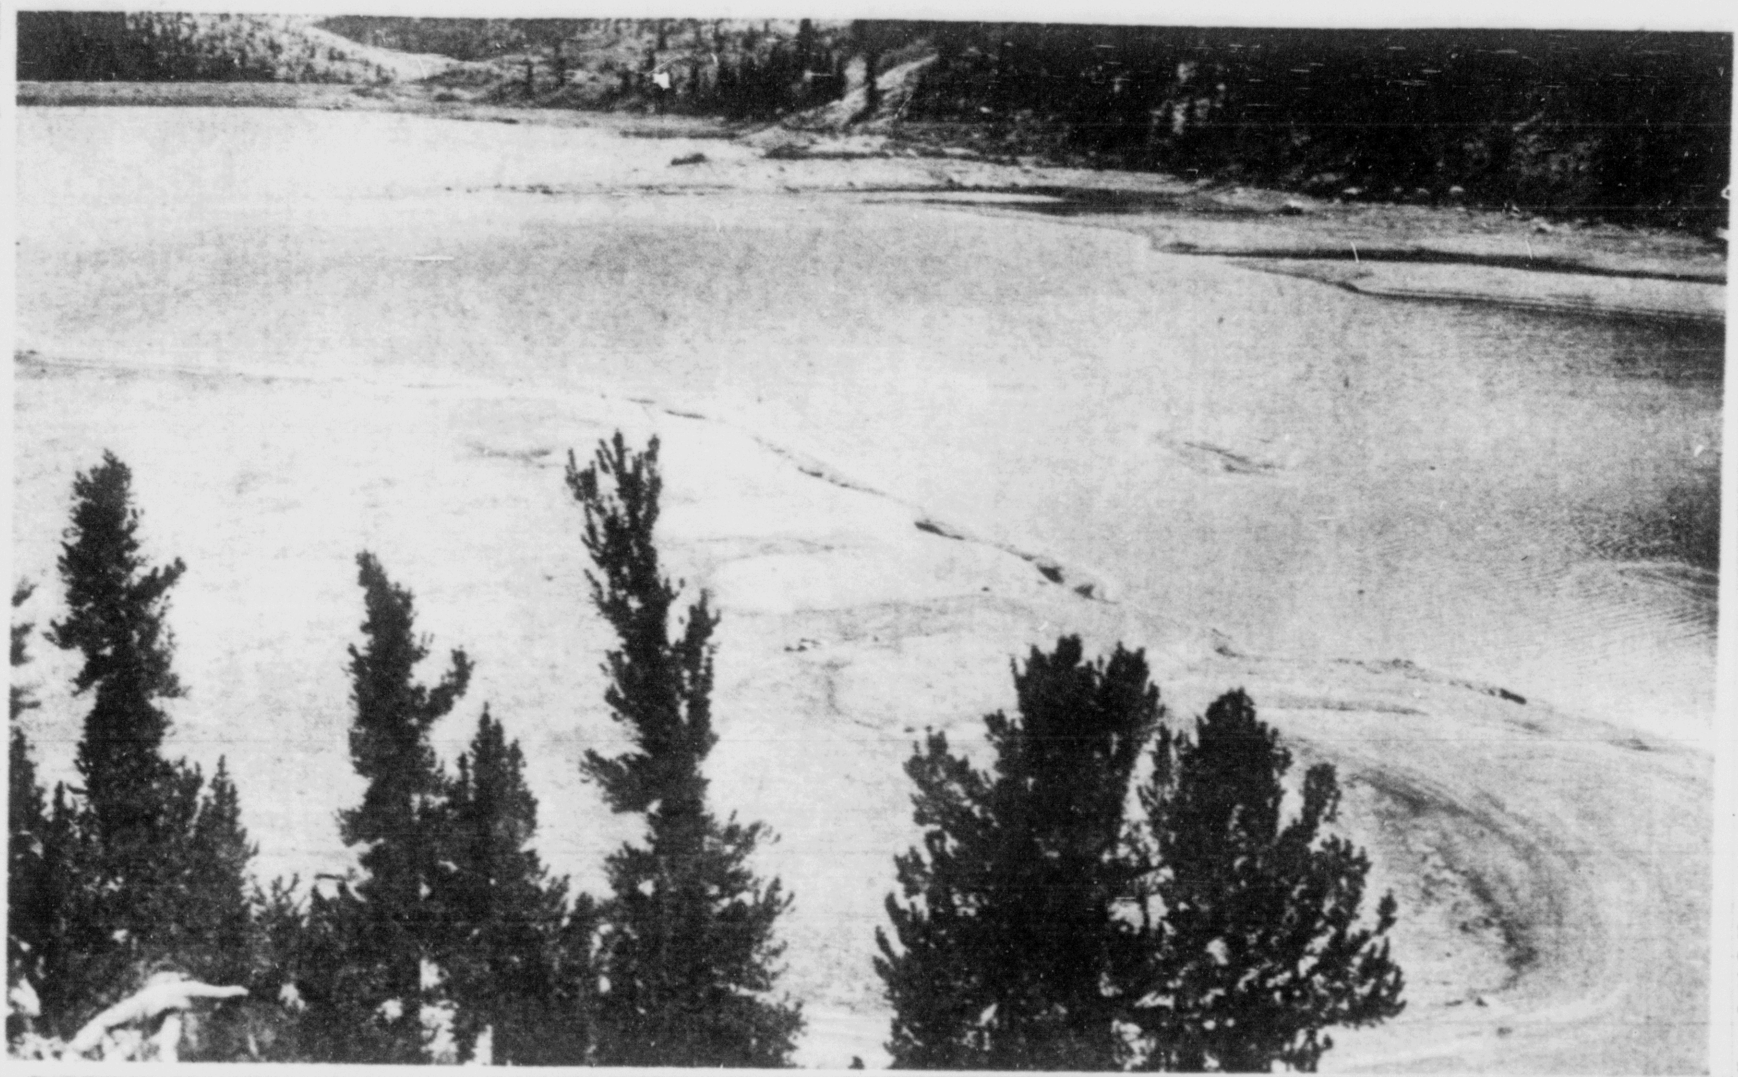
"Officers and men witnessed this scene with tears in their eyes. One poor fellow sang out, "Now I'm ready to die since I saw the old flag again.' "

On March 28, 1865, Koempel rejoined his regiment near Petersburg, Va. He saw more action but he survived the remaining weeks of the war.

In his diary, he records that a "Corbett" shot Booth.

"Our regiment, or what was left of us, 375 men, joined in the search for Booth, the assassin of our noble Lincoln, and arrived one hour at the scene after Corbett shot Booth, the barn still burning and Booth, the murderer, lying dead on the porch."

Koempel returned to his home in Conneticut and worked for several firms. He died at the age of 84.



BARREN EXPANSE — The bottom of Colorado Springs' No. 4 Reservoir on the South Slope of Pikes Peak illustrates critical condition of the city's water supplies. This reservoir is impounding 190 million gallons of water but the water line has receded below outlet through St. John's Tunnel, which feeds water into Lake Moraine and thence towards Colorado Springs' distribution system.

Water Users Spending Selves Into Bankruptcy

"Customers of the Colorado Springs Department of Public Utilities are spending themselves into water bankruptcy," Utilities Director Ray D. Nixon warned last week.

The official said that continued and widespread violations of the watering restrictions imposed May 1 are depleting the slim supply in storage at the rate of 25 to 35 million gallons per day. All reservoirs in the City's system currently are impounding less than 4 billion gallons, Less than a half year's supply at the current rate of consumption, he stated.

Impending programs will bolster the present supply, but the official stressed that the major additions to resources is still three years away. He was referring to the Homestake development which will practically double current water supplies with an additional 37,000 acre feet of water per year.

Also, the department will receive 5,000 acre feet from well sources which are being developed by private organizations for water sale to Colorado Springs. However introduction of the well water into the system will not be sufficient to offset the amount being taken daily from storage reservoirs, Nixon pointed out.

"Perhaps our customers do not understand the gravity of the situation," he continued. "The water which is being taken illegally belongs to our customers, not to us. We are merely running the Water Division for them and every instance of water restriction violation means taking water which belongs to their neighbors. True, they are paying for the water used illegally, but under drouth conditions now existing the money involved is a secondary consideration."

Nixon pointed out that a great number of persons have been cited into Police Court for violations of the existing restrictions. "But our water charts continue to show very little lessening in the water use after the conclusion of the watering hours allocated. This is concrete proof that the illegal use of water is continuing on a wholesale basis in all areas we serve," he concluded.

The acute drouth condition has also prevailed on the Western Slope, resulting in termination of diversion water from the Blue River system last Friday. Total diversion for the year was 5,669 acre feet, as compared to 11,543 acre feet in 1962. In 1961, diversion from the Blue River system totaled 6,869 acre feet and in 1960, diversion totaled 8,325 acre feet.

Transfer of water from the Blue River system by way of Montgomery Reservoir and the 30-inch pipeline to Pikes Peak reservoir was halted the same day diversion was terminated. The 900 million gallons currently in Montgomery Reservoir will be held in reserve as long as possible.

In the meantime, the Utilities Department has started pumping water from Lake George at the rate of 5.8 million gallons daily. This water, which makes the 17-mile transfer by way of the same line which moves Montgomery water to Pikes Peak, is made available thru an interim agaraeement with the City of Denver, owner of the Eleven Mile Reservoir thru which the water is relayed to the Lake George Pump station.

Water when brought thru the 30-inch line from Mongomery to Pikes Peak totals 18 million gallons per day, as compared to the 5.8 million gallon pumping capacity of Lake George. This total, plus decrease of stream flow to 1.5 million gallons per day means that under prevailing conditions reservoirs in the system are being lowered at the rate of 25 to 30 million gallons per day, Nixon stated.

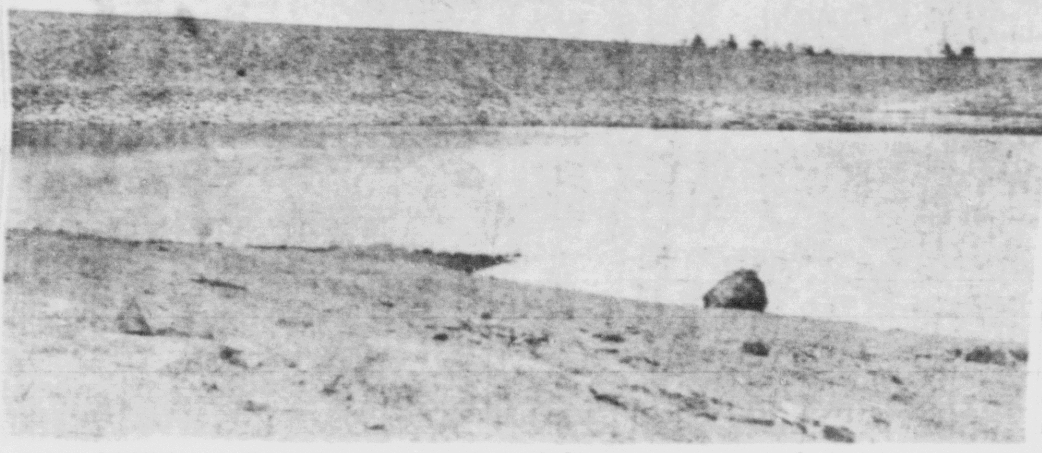
When watering restrictions were imposed, Nixon said it was believed consumption would stay below the 30 million gallons per day figure. However, consumption has ranged from 32.6 million gallons on June 24 to 42.4 million gallons on Wednesday, July 3.

"We have taken all the steps we can to increase our resources both on a temporary and permanent basis," Nixon continued. "But the run on the water bank continues to be so serious that our customers face bankruptcy if they continue to withdraw as heavily in the future as they have in the past," he stressed.

He also emphasized that serious consideration will be given in the immediate future to another revision in watering restrictions. "And the next revision could be so stringent that no one will tolerate violations by their neighbors. One hundred per cent cooperation in the current restrictions will permit continuance of the present program. Continued violations mean early imposition of new regulations," he concluded.

WATER TUNNEL BLOCKED — Water in the Colorado Springs' No. 4 Reservoir on the South Slope of Pikes Peak has receded to the point where it no longer flows into St. John Tunnel enroute to Colorado Springs. Trough in middle foreground is ordinarily a channel" which feeds water into tunnel. Severe drouth condition has reduced storage in all South Slope reservoirs drastically with only a million and a half gallons being stored daily from small stream flow.

(Utilities Dept. Photo)



LOW LEVEL — The largest reservoir in the Colorado Springs' water system has been reduced to a third of its capacity of 3,920,000,000 gallons as continued drouth and excessive water usage decrease storage in all reservoirs by 25 to 30 million gallons per day. City has a half year's water supply in storage with temporary new water sources not expected to balance the demand during the current year. First water from the city's share of the $58,000,000 Homestake Program is not expected to be available for three years. (Utilities Dept. Photo)

Helen Dandrea Dies in Local Hospital

Mrs. Helen M. Dandrea, 1124 N. Walnut St., died Saturday at a local hospital. Funeral arrangements will be announced.

Mrs. Dandrea had been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1917 and had been an employe at Alexander Film Company.

Born in Cambridge, Mass. in 1902, Mrs. Dandrea moved to Colorado in 1911 and attended schools in Fowler and Denver. She later attended Blair's Business College.

Mrs. Dandrea was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and a past president of VFW Auxiliary 101. She was also an Eastern Star member and belonged to the White Shrine.

Survivors of Mrs. Dandrea include her husband, Jack Dandrea, Colorado Springs; one son, Jack Dandrea, Jr. who is stationed in Kirshgoens, Germany; two brothers, William R. Everett, Denver; and George F. Everett, Colorado Springs; three grandchildren, several nieces and nephews.

CC Holding Week-Long Education Seminar

How modern man can remain creative in a scientific and computer-oriented world will be the subject of a week-long continuing education seminar for the public at Colorado College, led by Dr. Martin Engel, visiting professor of history and fine arts.

"Creativity and Intuition in an Age of Conformity" is the title of the seminar which gets underway Monday at 8 p.m. in Rastall Center. Enrollment is open to all who are interested, with no course requirements, academic credit, grades, or tests involved. Participants will be charged a nominal enrollment fee.

"This seminar will bring together in fellowship men and women who wish to join in the pursuit of knowledge in an area of current concern, under the competent leadership of a Colorado College faculty member," said summer session Director, Fred A. Sondermann.

Dr. Engel, a member of the faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology, is visiting Colorado College this summer to conduct two general studies courses: "The Arts and Major Ideas of Western Civilization" and "The Twentieth Century: Its Unpopular Arts." These studies are part of a unified program in art, dance, drama, literature and music offered to summer students.

All persons interested in enrolling in the seminar, which will meet Monday thru Friday at 8 p.m. with a final session Saturday at 9 a.m. are asked to write or telephone their applications to Dr. Fred A. Sondermann in the summer session office on the campus, Melrose 4-7744, extension 369.

Adjustment Board Meets On Thursday

The Colorado Springs Board of Adjustment will meet at 4 p.m. Thursday in meeting room No. 1 of the City Auditorium, immediately north of the Little Theatre.

A public hearing will be held on:

1. Ernest Lee for variance to build an additional dwelling on the lot at 820 Costilla St., which is short required lot area.

2. Alvin J. Lantz for interpretation of the Ordinace to determine if the part time use of his home at 313 N. Sheridan Ave., for a watch repair and maintenance is a home occupation.

3. Mrs. E. W. Sutliff for variance to build an awning onto the side of the dwelling which would set within one foot of the south property line and even with the front porch at 906 N. Hancock Ave.

4. Lt. Col. Joseph W Barrett for permission to set a carport five feet from the alley at 2216 N. Farragut Ave.

7. Alvin W. Lamz for variance to build a two car garage 24 feet by 26 feet onto existing dwelling at 212 E. Harrison St., which would leave a five foot rear yard instead of the required 25 feet.

8. Family Homes Inc. for variance for a 14 ft. 4 inch setback from Van Buren Street and is short lot area at 219 E. Van Buren St.

(Any person interested may appear and be heard either for or against the above requests.

Officers Named To Cystic Fibrosis Group

Mrs. Paul Etchepare of 1770 Hudson St., Denver, was elected as president of the Colorado Cystic Fibrosis Association at a meeting of the Association held Tuesday, at the Olin Hotel, Denver.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Mrs. Revere Nielsen of Denver, Vice-President; Mr. Emmet Elizondo of Fruita, 2nd Vice-BPresident; Dr. Samuel Haigler of Denver, Vice-President; for Medical Affairs; Mrs. Louis Bruce of Denver, secretary; and the Reverend Leonard Fritschel of Aurora, Treasure.

Dr. Kenneth Landauer, Vice-President of Medical Affairs of the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, commended the Colorado Association for "The outstanding services rendered to Cystic Fibrosis medical research and education." Dr. Landauer urged the group "to intensify their education and fund raising efforts so that we may open additonal C-F research, Care and Teaching Centers that are so urgently needed."

Mrs. Etchepare reported that 175 physicians attended the recent symposium on Cystic Fibrosis held at the University of Colorado Medical School under the sponsorship of the University's Department of Postgraduate Medicine, the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, and the Colorado Academy of General Practice.

Elected to serve on the Association's Executive Committee for the coming year were Mrs. Doyle Clark of Lakewood, George Danskin of Colorado Springs, William Robinson, Mr. H. Moine Root and Thomas A. Van Tries, all of Denver.

Allen Drury Voices Views On Writing, Politics

By DONNA LOGAN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

When a United Press manager in Washington, D. C. picked Allen Drury to cover the U.S. Senate 20 years ago, he had a winner.

Hardly any other reporter in the nation's capitol has been as successful in covering his chosen field of politics as the soft-spoken Drury, 1960 Pulitzer Prize winner for his novel of Washington politics, "Advise and Consent."

Drury's book skyrocketed him to national prominence as a top writer whose observations of Capitol Hill have captured the public's fancy.

"Advise and Consent" is approaching the five million sales mark, including two million paperbacks; 350,000 hardbacks; 2.8 million Reader's Digest condensed versions; and 250,000 Book of the Month Club copies.

The novel has been translated for publication in France, West Germany, Sweden, Spain and Finland, and has sold 150,000 foreign copies.

"The movie was somewhat oversensationalized," Drury says of the Wotto-Preminger-directed picture. "Preminger sent me the script and I made 60 suggestions — he accepted three! The stage play did a better job of characterization, I think, because I was able to work more closely with the playwright on it."

Drury talked to reporters Saturday morning at the home of his hosts, Capt. and Mrs. Ted Graves, Douglas Valley, U.S. Air Force Academy. The two men became friends in Washington years ago when Ted was a Senate doorman and Drury a United Press news reporter. Today Ted is an instructor in the AFA's behavioral science department.

Drury followed his blockbuster with "A Shade of Difference," a fictionalized report on the United Nations which, Drury insists, is based on fact.

"I don't think any writer can draw a character out of thin air and make him meaningful; there has to be some basis. Mine are composites of persons I have known, and then I weave a characterization," the author said.

Drury's preference in writing is fiction, which allows him more scope and room for deliniation of character. His newest book, "A Senate Journal," is non-fiction, however.

It will be published in September by McGraw-Hill, and is an account of Senate happenings in 1943-1945. The book is drawn from Drury's personal daily diary and includes Congressional reaction to Roosevelt's death, Truman as FDR's successor, and ends with the United Nations Charter debate in the Senate.

As a political observer under four Presidents, Drury picks Roosevelt as the most effective President in the past 30 years.

"But Truman comes plenty close. Truman was effective and forceful, and you knew how you stood with him. He acted firmly and fast — that's not the case today," Drury said.

"Kennedy is good on the showdown, but poor on the follow-through. He shouldn't have waited until now to demand the Russians get out of Cuba, for instance. He should have acted while world support was behind him not until now when the Russians are so cocky," Drury said.

He believes the Kennedy administration is, however, "much more active" than the Eisenhower regime.

"Ike is a very likeable man, but he was an inadequate President. He felt things could slide along and would somehow work themselves out. Kennedy is very intelligent and very well-read." Drury said, "but he is also very political and bases most of his decisions on politics."

Drury said that Robert Kennedy, the President's brother and chief political adviser, will probably continue in politics in Massachusetts as governor some day. He noted that the youngest brother, Teddy, has "fitted very well into the Senate."

The veteran political reporter also made these obeservations:

Goldwater—It looks like he'll get the Republican nomination unless the eastern GOP ,, who have dominated the conventions for 30 years, can put somebody up to stop him. Goldwater drserves credit for being genuine and sincere."

Rockefeller'—'There are many persons who believe he has hurt himself considerably, politically, by his remarriage."

U.S. Senate—The members are, in general, able and dedicated men. The level of those who serve in it has risen. Nowadays there's a trend toward wealthier men in the Senate, but those who serve consider it a public service. Of course, it takes a great deal of ability and organization to get elected these days—particularly in the bigger states."

Civil Rights—The Southerners will force a modification in the accommodations clause. I might add, that there's nothing that makes the Senate any more stubborn than any kind of an 'organized march' on Washington. The Senators know there's a problem and that it has to be worked out."

Military Pay Bill'—'It may get jammed up behind the civil rights bill and delayed until this fall."

Red China—Assuming the split between the USSR and Red China continues, there's a possibility that Russia would veto China's entry to the UN."

Adlai Stevenson—'He's reached the end of the line, politically, as Ambassador to the UN. I imagine that he will retire after his tenure there to write and lecture, which I think he prefers."

Managed news—"There's no more managed news in this administration than in any other."

Writing'—'There's too much of this 'sick, sick, sick' type in both writing and the theatre today."

Drury has covered national politics first for United Press (now United Press International), then for Pathfinder Magazine, the Washington Evening Star and, the New York Times.

From 1946 to 1954 he also wrote a three-a-week Washington political column for the Palo Alto, Calif., Times and the Waterloo, Iowa, Courier. He's en route to California to do some research on the columns with plans to make them into a non-fiction book in the future, to be followed by another fiction story.

Right now he's on a lecture tour of the west, talking on government, politics and Washington. Drury and his friend, Captain Graves, just returned from a lecture trip to Billings, Mont., and Pocatello, Idaho.

Drury is accredited in the Congressinal Press Gallery by Reader's Digest. He keeps an apartment in Washington, D.C., where he can keep in close touch with the national scene—and where he can cover politics, his first love.

Attorney Returns From Judicial Conference

J. Hartley Murray, Colorado Springs attorney, has returned from Jackson Lake Lodge, Wyoming, where he participated in the annual Judicial Conference of the 10th Judicial Circuit of the United States.

The subject of the conference was "Law and Religion." The recent Supreme Court decisions in regard to prayer and Bible reading in the public schools were analyzed and considered, along with other problems of church, state relations.

The conference was addressed by Justice Byron R. White of the United States Supreme Court and by Judge Irving R. Kaufman of the New York Court of Appeals who has tried many of the important Communists cases.

Outstanding authorities representing Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and secular viewpoints who appeared on this program included Dr. Martin E. Marty, editor of the Christian Century; Rabbi Arthur Gilbert, of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; Dr. Vernon J. Bourke, head of the philosophy department of St. Louis University; and Dr. Sidney Hook, chairman of the Graduate Philosophy Department of New York University.

Local Names in Photography's Who's Who

The names of several members of the Pikes Peak Camera Club have been added to the "Who's Who in Photography" of the Photographic Society of America. In fact, of all the Colorado Clubs, the Pikes Peak Camera Club has the largest proportion of members listed.

Of 12 names listed in the pictorial color slide division for all Colorado, six are members of the local club. Likewise, half of the eight names for all Colorado listed in the nature slide division belong to members of the club, and one of the local club's past presidents, Willard Sheldon, has the distinction of being listed in three divisions, stereo and the two mentioned above.

Others whose names appear in the latest edition are: For pictorial color slides: Wanetta Draper, Claire Rutledge, Jean Strang, George White and Helen Wilson; for nature slides: Jim Doolittle, Claire Rutledge and Helen Wilson.

Two members of the Pikes Peak Camera Club won additional recognition in the finals of the recent Denver Post competition. Claire Rutledge's color slide "White Tower" was featured on the cover of the Empire Magazine last Sunday while George White won a $100 prize for his prints.

PSA star ratings have been won by six members of the Pikes Peak Camera Club. These ratings are based on a required number of acceptances in salons thruout the country. Those entitled to one star in the pictorial color slide division are Claire Rutledge and Jean Strang; two stars: Wanetta Draper, Willard Sheldon, and George White. In nature, three stars, Willard Sheldon.

Stock Market Ends Decline Finds Buying Support

By ED MORSE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market this week arrested a decline, finding support where many analysts had looked for buying to develop.

As the week ended, the market had shown a shift in mood, rising under the leadership of oils as well as a variety of stocks which attracted speculative buying for one reason or another.

It looked to some observers as if a number of the funds and other big institutional investors were making some mid-year purchases with money received from dividends and other sources.

The trading week — cut to four days by the July 4 holiday — started on a gloomy note with a sharp decline on Monday, bringing the Dow Jones industrial average very close to the 700 level, which has been regarded as a significant area where buyers could be tempted to commit funds to stocks at relatively cheap levels.

The decline continued early Tuesday when the list made a more searching "test" of the support level, then rebounded vigorously, netting the biggest gain in three months.

It was clear sailing the rest of the week. The over-all picture stayed higher and, for the time being, those who hope for higher prices breathed more easily.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week rose 9.57 to 716.45.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 2.2 to 273.1, making the largest weekly gain since the week ended April 20 when the average rose 3.1.

Volume in the four-day trading week totaled 13,859,231 shares compared with 19,901,170 for the previous five-day trading week.

The Wall Street atmosphere was dampened early in the week by news that steel production had dipped for the fifth straight week and that factory orders in May had declined slightly from April. A moderate business expansion, however, was forecast for the second half of 1963 and automobile output in June was reported 22 per cent higher than in the same month a year ago.

The ability of Chrysler to sustain a severe wave of profit taking and remain comfortably above 60 brought in considerable short covering and the stock—the outstanding performer of late '62 and early '63—rebounded smartly to post a fractional net gain on the week.

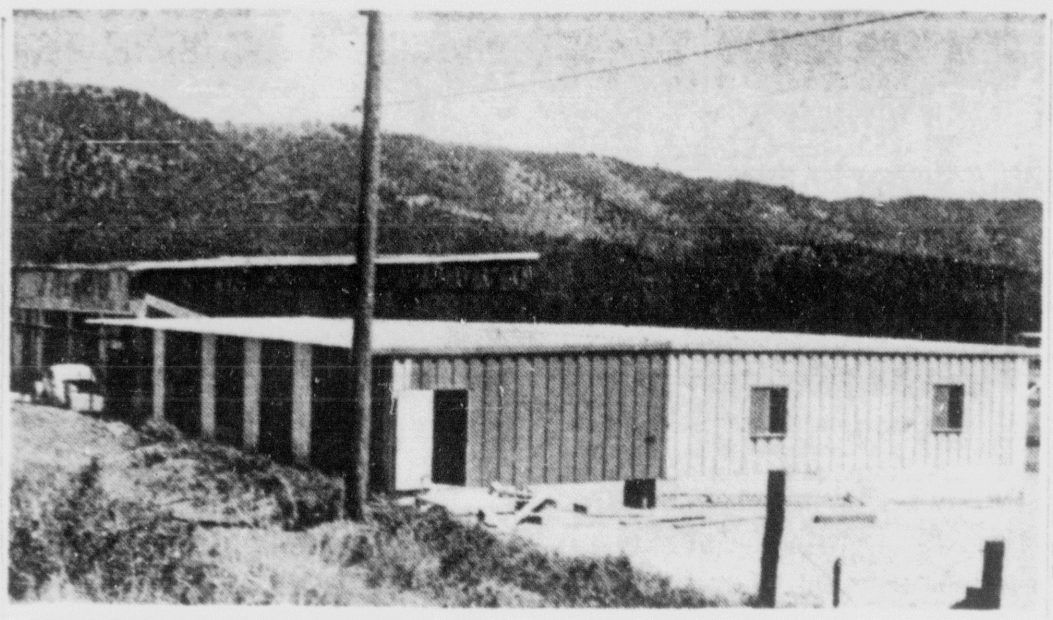
Control data, up 8⅜ on the week came into favorable notice as the result of a financial magazine article which cited its increasing competition to IBM.

A similarly-named stock, Data-Control Systems, was the star on the American Stock Exchange, rising 6⅜.

Standard Oil (NJ) touched new highs and advanced ⅛ to 69¼. Tidewater Oil rose 1, Pure Oil 1⅛, Roy Dutch 1⅜, Ford 1¼, American Telephone 1⅞, National Airlines 2⅜, and Radio Corp. 1¾.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Chrysler, up ½ at 61½ on 243,700 shares; Control Data, up 8⅜ at 68½; Gulf Oil, up 2⅛ at 47; Gillette, up 1⅛ at 36⅜, and Pan American World Airways, up 2 at 38½.



NEW SADDLE CLUB BUILDING—The Woodland Park Saddle Club has realized an ambition of many years with the completion of its building west of the Ute Trail Stampede stands, whose roof rises above the new metal structure in the foreground. The building is in reality two Armco steel buildings put together to make two rooms, one 24 by 80 feet, for private use by club members, and the other, 40 by 80 feet, for use as the main meeting hall and dance hall. The two rooms will be leased next fall by the Woodland Park Schools for temporary classrooms pending the bedding and completion of a new school building for which a bond issue was recently approved. The interior of the building is covered by colored metal insulated panels, equivalent in insulation to a 16-inch concrete block wall. The exterior has white, terra cotta and blue panels.

Battle Charges Case of Hopper Back in Court

LAMAR (UPI)—The question of whether the state has a right to charge individual landowners for grasshopper spraying whether the owners want it or not was back in court here.

R. M. McMillin of Lamar filed motions in District Court Friday for a new trial and asked that a previous jury verdict against him be set aside.

The Lamar jury said McMillin had to pay the state for grasshopper spraying—even though he did not desire the service.

In the suit filed Friday, McMillin contended the state cannot collect from him, and claimed the court committed prejudicial and reversible errors in instructing the jury.

In 1958, during a severe 'hopper infestation, 20 colorado counties participated in the spraying program, in which costs were to be borne equally by the state, U.S. Department of Agriculture and the landowners. The program is encompassed in a law passed by the Colorado Legislature.

McMillin contended a requirement that 75 per cent of the landowners' consent was not met, nor was the land declared a hazard by the county's board of commissioners before the spraying was done.

Lee Funeral Services To Be Held in Montana

Funeral services for Mrs. Lois Emma Lee, 1434 Hollyhock Dr., who died Friday at a local hospital, will be held next week in Butte, Mont.

Swan Funeral Home is in charge of local arrangements.

Mrs. Lee was born Jan. 22, 1908 in Butte and had lived in Colorado Springs for the past two years. She attended grade and high schools in Butte and was married there in 1930 to Franklin M. Lee, who survives. She was a member of Holy Trinity Church.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Lee is survived by one sister, Mrs. Russell Rosevear of Butte and a number of other relatives.

BREAKAWAY GUN

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A hold-up is seldom a laughing matter but this one, as reported by John Grasmick, co-owner of a liquor store, was an exception.

A man walked in and pulled a pistol. Before anyone could move, the barrel of the weapon tipped forward and the cylinder and cartridges fell out. The frustrated gunman fled.

The term "astronaut" is of Greek origin, reports the Encyclopedia Americana. The literal translation of the word is "star sailor."

Solon Questions Dictation of Space Contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., Saturday questioned the authority the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to "dictate" the choice of subcontractors on space projects.

He said he had asked NASA Administrator James E. Webb the extent to which the agency directs prime contractors to select specific subcontractors on projects financed with public funds.

The Senate assistant Republican leader said he had received repeated complaints of the practice from California.

He said he also had called the complaints to the attention of Comptroller General Joseph Campbell and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures.

In a letter to Webb, Kuchel said that use of contracting powers by the NASA to specify subcontrators might have "elements of favoritism or undesirable political influence." He added that NASA's prime contractors should be encouraged as much as possible to seek competitive bidding by subcontractors.

Business Outlook Good For Remainder of Year

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Business headed into the second half of 1963 this week with the outlook favorable and only a few dark spots showing.

It was a time when business men put their heads together to look back at the first half and into the future.

The first six months were notable for a remarkable gain by the stock market and booming production in the steel and automobile industries.

What the second half holds for the stock market is anybody's guess but many Wall Streeters expect it to reach new all-time highs. The outlook for steel isn't so good. The automobile industry anticipates continued high output and sales.

A panel of experts assembled by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce predicted a moderate climb in economic activity during the second half.

They foresaw an increase in the gross national product—total of all goods and services — not quite matching that of the first half. They also envisioned a rise in capital spending by business and an increase in government spending.

But, in their view, the problems of high unemployment and the deficit in the international balance of payments will remain.

Steel production declined again last week and another sharp drop was inevitable this week. Output last week fell 4.7 per cent to 2,313,000 tons from the previous week. Buyers were holding down orders because, with the new labor contract, there was no further need to build inventories.

The Fourth of July holiday cut into automobile production with output estimated at 124,600 cars, compared with 168,713 last week and 112,327 a year ago.

Production schedules for July call for assembly of about 625,000 passenger cars, which would be the highest for the month since 1955. June output of 689,519 cars was the highest for that month in history.

Spending on new construction rose in June to an annual rate of $63.74 billion, about $350 million above the original estimate. The June increase of 6 per cent over May was more than seasonal.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange this week totaled 13,859, 231 compared with sales of 19,901,170 a week ago.

Bond sales also dipped totaling $16,837,000 par value. Sales a week ago were $24,210,000.

BIDDERS GET HUNGRY

LAGRANGE, Ky. (AP) — The LaGrange Kiwanis Club was grasping for money-making ideas when its scholarship fund for needy college students dipped to $25.

"Let's buy an old school bus, turn it into a traveling kitchen and sell lunches at real-estate auctions all over the county," suggested club member Johnny Yochum.

In the one year interval, the club has paid for the bus and has more than $200 in its growing scholarship fund.

Maytag Takes Swing At Discrimination

DENVER (UPI) — Colorado Democratic Chairman Robert Maytag took a swing at discrimination in politics Friday.

Maytag chided the Republicans for not appointing a Latin American to a highsposition in state government—and urged Democrats to examine local organizations for evidence or racial discrimination.

"When will a Latin American be appointed to a major position in the Love Administration?" Maytag asked. During Gov. John Love's campaign, he said he would appoint a Latin American to a high job if a qualified person were available.

Spanish - American citizens had criticied former Democratic Gov. Steve McNichols for not naming a member of their racial group to an important post.

Two Held in Case of Money Order Thefts

DENVER (UPI)—Two Ohio men were named in federal charges involving stolen postal money orders filed here Friday.

The charges named Joseph Bruzack, 24, of Cleveland and Jack Alan Wilson, 22, of Dayton. Denver police arrested the pair earlier in connection with the theft of 261 money orders stolen from the Red Ash, Va., postoffice June 25.

Bruzack was charged with possessing 95 stolen and unissued money orders, and Wilson was accused of passing a forged money order in the action.

They were held in lieu of $3,500 bonds set by U.S. Commissioner Howard Erickson.

FOURTH TURNPIKE

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Kentucky has been in the turnpike business less than a decade but is preparing to build its fourth toll road. It would run the state's investment to more than $250 million in pay-as-you-ride highways.

Kentucky has 220 miles of turnpikes in use or under construction, financed by revenue bonds. The Kentucky Turnpike has approved the Central Kentucky Turnpike, a 70-mile link missing in an east-to-west chain of modern roads crossing most of the state.

The lowest point of the earth's surface is located at the bottom of the Dead Sea, about 15 miles east of Jerusalem. At that point, it is 1,292 feet below sea level.

Fountain Valley Bank Will Open At 9 A.M. Monday

Begun as an industrial bank in 1959, the Bank of Fountain Valley, a commercial bank operating under state laws, will open for business at 9 a.m. Monday at 352 Main St., Security. Hours of operating will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The bask began in 1959 as the Home Security Industrial Bank at 352 Main St., and was organized by Guy Boyer and John Tracy, both of whom now live in Boulder. It was bought in 1960 by the Commerce Acceptance Corp. of Atchison, Kan.

Officers of the Bank of Fountain Valley are George E. Wescott, president, who is also president of the Commerce Acceptance Corp.; Thomas Hockaday, executive vice president; William B. Offutt, vice president-cashier, and Vern J. Smith, assistant cashier. Offutt is a retired Air Force colonel.

Capital and surplus of the Bank of Fountain Valley is $135,000.

Leopards Reported Headed for Extinction

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Audubon Society Saturday appealed to American women to stop buying leopard skin coats, claiming the spotted animal may become extinct because of poachers in Africa.

"Altho leopards are protected by law in most African nations," the society said, "poaching has gotten out of hand. Leopards are now being shot, speared and trapped at a rate 80 per cent faster than their capacity to reproduce. Unless the slaughter is checked, the species is doomed."

The statement was made by Cal W. Buchheister, society president, in a signed editorial in the current issue of the Audubon magazine.

Man Reports Theft Of His Parked Car

William C. Bailey II, of 2007 N. Circle Dr., told police that his car had been stolen from a parking place in the 00 block of S. Sahwatch St. early Saturday morning, police reported.

The car was found by police later in the morning at Chelton and Paseo roads. It had been in an accident. Police said it had rolled over and hit a tree on Paseo Road. Officers are questioning Bailey because they suspect that the car was not stolen and that Bailey was driving it at the time of the accident, according to the report.

Alcove's to Hold Opening Of Remodeled Store Today

Alcove's of Colorado Springs, in business here more than six years, have considerably more display space than formerly when it holds a grand opening this week at its remodeled store, 119 E. Bijou St.

The grand opening will begin at 12 noon today, with the store remaining open until 9 p.m. The store will be open to 9 p.m. Monday thru Friday, opening at 9 a.m. each day.

Usual store hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily except Mondays and Fridays, when the store is open until 8:30 p.m.

Alcove's display space, formerly 90 by 24 feet, has been enlarged to 135 by 24 feet with an additional 40 by 24 feet in the back for a drapery workroom. Alcove's has taken over space at the rear of its store site formerly used by Jordan's Inc., 121 E. Bijou St.

The store will have 100 rolls of carpeting on display and will have samples representative of a thousand rolls. Don Kent manager, said Alcove's will offer a complete decorating service, including paint for the walls and tile for the floors, at no extra cost. Frances Crary, who has has been with Alcove's 3½ years, is interior designer.

Kent said the company can obtain carpeting from all leading mills. The company, he said, is the largest carpet retailer in 12 states.

Alcove's has five stores in the Denver area and one in Boulder in addition to the Colorado Springs store, which opened Dec. 7, 1956. The store here has been closed since Wednesday while finishing touches were put on the remodeling.

Alcove's was started in Denver 17 years ago in a three-story residence on East Colfax Avenue, which is now the main store. The residence had a living room with a small alcove, and it was from this alcove that the company took its name.

Kent has been manager of Alcove's of Colorado Springs since it was opened. He previously managed the company's Englewood store.

Billfold Containing $60 Reported Stolen

An out-of-town man who was spending the night at the YMCA Little Theater had his billfold containing $60 stolen Thursday night, police reported.

Al A. Miller of Walter, Okla., said he was staying at the YMCA with a troop of 16 Boys Scouts and that he could not find the billfold when he looked for it Friday morning, according to the report.

John Glenn May Enter Politics, Ohio Report Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Astronaut John H. Glenn may resign from the space program to run as a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate from his native state next year, informed Democratic sources said Saturday.

The plan to put Glenn into the race was seen as a move to strengthen President Kennedy's hand in Ohio, which he lost in 1960, and to give the party a strong candidate against the Republican nominee expected to be U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr.

Informed sources said the plan depends in part upon whether Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, a surprise winner in 1958, decides to run for re-election.

Party leaders would be reluctant to put a candidate into the field against Young, who is in his 70's. Young has kept silent about his plans although he indicated regularly until recently that he would not seek re-election.

Glenn, a native of Cambridge, Ohio, spent most of his adult life in the Marines winning honors as a combat pilot until he joined the space program to become the first American to orbit the earth.

As far as known, Glenn has not publicly indicated his politics. But he has been on good terms socially with prominent Democrats in Ohio and Washington.

The freckled-faced Marine colonel with the ready smile could be expected to give the Ohio Democrats who have been in the doldrums a shot in the arm.

President Kennedy lost the state by 270,000 votes in 1960 to then Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Ohio being the only big industrial state that stayed outside the Kennedy column. Two years later, in 1962, Republicans elected James A. Rhodes as governor, swept the state offices, and picked up strength in the congressional delegation and the legislature.

Democratic leaders Saturday night shied away from any discussion of Glenn as a candidate although one remarked, "John Glenn would make an excellent candidate for any office on any ticket."

The astronaut would easily be the most publicized candidate in the race if he decided to run. His military career has been star-studded and as an astronaut his name and smile have become familiar to everybody.

A Glenn-Taft race would attract worldwide attention, as the space hero and Taft, grandson of former President William Howard Taft and son of the late Republican Senate Leader Robert A. Taft campaigned up and down the midwestern state.

The astronaut, whose parents live in New Concord, Ohio, now lives in Houston, Texas. He would e eligible to run for office in Ohio, however, as the state is his permanent civilian address.

Dentan Printing Company Moves To 3512 N. Tejon

Dentan Printing Co., for five years located at 17 W. Cucharras St., has moved to a new building at 3512 N. Tejon St.

The new location is west of the Elks Club building, 3524 N. Nevada Ave.

Built by Harold Dragoo, owner of the property, especially for the Dentan company, the building has 3,200 square feet of space, with offices in the front end and print shop in the rear.

The move from 17 W. Cucharras St. was made last weekend, with the company opening in new quarters Monday morning.

The Dentan Printing Co. was organized in 1908 by the late F. D. and L. L. Dentan, brothers, and was located at 19 S. Cascade Ave. For many years, it operated at 23 W. Colorado Ave., and moved five years ago to the Cucharras Street location.

The company is now owned by Frank G. Dentoan and Howard (Rusty) Berkeland.

Ireland Expects Avalanche of Yank Tourists

By TOM A. CULEN

KILLARNEY, Ireland (NEA) — Last year, 98,000 American tourists visited the Emerald Isle — that's one American for every 28 Irishmen. While there, they dropped 19 million Kelly green U.S. dollars.

President Kennedy during his visit here has praised the virtues of the Old Sod. Now, travel officials hesitate to guess how many increased thousands will be attracted here this year.

And what would a trip to Ireland be without a stop-off in Killarney, home of the Irish hard sell ?

Like to grow your own shamrocks? You can buy shamrock seeds in neat little packages all over town.

Or perhaps your tastes run to music. If so, you can buy a shillelagh with a built-in music box which plays "Killarney."

If you're the earthy type, a tiny thatched cottage carved from good old Irish turf should be just the souvenir. Or perhaps you prefer a rosary made of bog wood which is guaranteed to be over 8,00 years old.

In addition, you will find in the shops Irish lace, Irish linen, clay pipes and ash trays decorated with shamrocks, playing cards rish views, bottle openers made of genuine Irish blackthorn, and dolls dressed as Catholic nuns.

This town of 6,464 inhabitants has turned "Irishness" into a major industry.

Despite th ecommercialism, Killarney, which combines mountains, lakes and rivers to form a matchless setting, is well worth a trip across the Atlantic, in the opinion of mos visitors who come here. Not for nothing is it called "Heaven's Reflex."

But even these scenic beauties stand in danger of being killed off by commercialism. Modern hotels are rising beside Killarney's lakes and fells to spoil the shoreline.

Its emerald isles and winding bays may soon be used as sites for indutrial plants and factory chimneys belch their smoke over woodland dells.

Pioneer in exploiting Killarney for industrial purposes is the West Germany firm of Liebherr which has built a factory for the manufacture of cranes and agricultural machinery right in the middle of orchards and gree n fields. The cranes and implements are hauled by truck from Killarney to Cork, where they are shipped abroad.

This same German firm has built a luxury hotel, the Europe, and bungalows on the shores of Lough Leane, one of Killarney's three famous lakes. It is now completing a second hotel, this time a five-story affair, at the entrance to the Dunloe Gap, which is one of Killarney's great scenic wonders.

What this type of unrestricted building will do eventually to Killarney's landscape the townspeople here shudder to think. But already there are dark mutterings against the West German invaders, who are referred to as the "Liebherrenvolk."

The Europe Hotel on the lakeside, in particular, is considered an eyesore. The bright red roofs of its bungalows can be seen for miles.

Until quite recently town and country planning had been no problem, Irelad havig steadily draied of its population by emigration.

But now thanks to Ireland's increasing development as a tourist center, and to the aggressive measures taken by its government to attract foreign investmen here, his question has now come to the fore. For the first ime here is talk of zoning and of building restrictions.

A regional planning bill which would protect such beauty spots as Killarney from depredation is now pending in the Dail the, Irish Parliament. It would give local authorities sweeping powers to curb such abuses as are complained of here.

Also the givernment is encouraging public-minded landowners to deed their estates, or part of them, to a national trust. It was as a resul of such acion ha a large par of Killarney has been saved from exploitation.

The Muckross Estate comprising 10,00 acres and including the ruins of Muckross Abbey, was given to theIris h government by Mr. and Mrs. Wiliam Bowers Bourn of California and their son-in-law Arthur Vincent, thus preserving for all time the east bank of Killarney's lakes.

Men's Fashion Expert Visits Tourist Havens

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harold L. Neuman not only pulls down a pretty good salary as president of his firm but he gets paid for lolling on the beach on the Riviera or Acapulco, skiing in Switzerland or Sun Valley or golfing almost anywhere.

Neuman, in visiting such luxurious tourist havens, is searching for "the look," a new concept in men's fashions.

"The look" eventually will be translated into a subconscious image deep in the minds of the American male and stored there until a man is ready to buy a new sweater or sports shirt or swimming trunks, all of which Neuman manufactures.

Neuman, 55, president of Robert Brunce, Inc., lives in the Philadelphia suburb of Elkins Park, maintains an office in the Empire State Building in New York and travels about the world when he isn't commuting between the two Eastern cities.

Sometimes a fashion doesn't turn up on the Riviera—it comes from North Carolina or Virginia. An up and coming color in men's sweaters, for example, is Bottle Green and Neuman traces that to the campus of North Carolina State at Raleigh.

The way that got started was that someone turned up in a bottle green sweater. Another student saw it and bought one. Then a lot of students saw them and bought more. Pretty soon the stores were swamped with orders for bottle green. Before that they went through axblood which is the big color for fall — bottle green is "still on the horizon" in national sales.

Neuman looks to the "image" to create demands for his products since he believes sporting events, movies and television help fix this image in a man's mind.

"The best example of all time was Clark Gable in the movie 'It Happened One Night'," he said. "You may remember it. Many years ago. Gable in a scene with Claudette Colbert took off his shirt and wasn't wearing an undershirt. It killed the underwear business for years.

"He also wore a turtle neck sweater and that was popular for years. Now it's coming back. The ski pros in Austria and Switzerland suddenly began wearing cotton turtle neck sweaters under their wool sweaters and we brought it over and now we can't make enough of them. It is a world look.

"Or take Perry Como. Once when he was in Vienna he went into Lemmeyer's and bought a dozen sweaters, what we call 'low holers' since the buttons start way down. He touched off such a demand when he wore them on television people would come in and ask for 'Perry Como sweaters' even though he never endorsed them."

Neuman, whose father was a sweater knitter in Lemmeyer's before he came to the United States and founded the firm in 1910, picked Arnold Palmer to foster his sweater image—the alpaca golfing sweater with bell sleeves pros have been wearing for years. Now everytime Palmer wins a tournament Neuman swells with pride.

"That's because I believe men's fashion is psychological," Neuman said. "Men don't run out and buy when they see someone wearing something they like. But they store it up in their subconscious. Then when they're ready to buy we're ready."

Local Man Admits Threatening Girl At Knife Point

A 25-year-old Colorado Springs man has admitted trying to force an 18-year-old girl into his car at knife-point Friday night, police reported.

Police are holding David Everitt of 715 N. Nevada Ave. He has confessed to grabbing the girl from behind in the 100 block of E. Monument St. at 10:30 p.m. and telling her to get into his car which was parked nearby after showing her a hunting knife, police said.

The girl screamed and Everitt fled in his car. The girl got his license number and called police. He was later picked up at his home, according to the report.

Car Strikes Bicycle, Boy Suffers Abrasions

A 9-year-old boy suffered abrasions on his arms when his bicycle was hit by a car on Security Boulevard just south of Grand Boulevard Friday evening, the State Patrol reported.

Chris A. Sandoval, of 123 Grand Blvd. in Security was released at the scene after being hit by a car driven by Velvo M. Spaulding, 50, of 728 Widefield Dr.

According to State Patrolman James Mathis, the boy was going south when he turned in front of the car and was hit.

Police Probe Cases Of Car Larceny

Police reported two cases of larceny from motor vehicles which happened over the July 4th holiday.

One was at Percy Auto Sales, 417 E. Pikes Peak Ave. where a battery valued at $27 was stolen from a car between Wednesday and Friday.

In the second case, two wheels and two tires worth a total of $46 were stolen from a car parked at the Penkus Motors lot at 114 W. Colorado Ave.

Police said the car is owned by John D. Kerr, 826 N. Cedar St.

Artistic Co-Op Pays Off for Eskimo Tribe

By STEWARD MacLEOD

FROBISHER BAY, N. W. T. (AP) — The word cooperative wasn't known in the Canadian Arctic five years ago.

Today it's considered the hottest discovery since someone brought the news that the Souherners would actually pay good money for those carvings the Eskimos did for kicks.

Take Cape Dorset, on the southwest tip of Baffin Island, as an example.

Until 1959, Eskimos in the community were having a tough time. They hunted and fished independently, with mere surival as the ultimate goal. They couldn't afford to maintain ammunition supplies and their kayaks were rotting.

James Houston, a Northern Affairs Department administrative officer, went into the community and go the Eskimos togeher in a co-op venure. He found a few good stone carvers who took on the job of teaching others.

This year Oshaweetuk, a Cape Dorset Eskimo, came to Forbisher Bay to the first conference of Arctic Co-ops, armed with the latest annual financial statemen. I showed the Cape Dorset Co-op sold $123,810 worth of graphic arts and crafts in 1962, that the co-op retail store now has three departments and ha more han $47,000 was paid ou in local wages. The co-op has 61 members.

It is the most successful of the 16 Eskimo co-ops now operating in the Canadian Arctic. Now one in five of the 11,800 Eskimos belong to a co-op and more are in the process of being established.

They perform functions from ig hauling to fish catching and house building and most sell groceries.

Frontier Airlines Signs With Union

DENVER (AP) — Frontier Airlines and the Airline Employes Association announced today agreement on a new three-year contract covering 500 station agents, reservation clerks and stock clerks.

The contract, retroactive to June 1, provides for wage increases, vacation improvements and other fringe benefits. Seventy-five of the workers are stationed in Denver.

The scale for station agents will go from $350-$475 monthly to $380-$505, and for reservation clerks from $325-410 to $355-$450. Stock clerks, most of whom earn $2.56 per hour, will receive an 18-cent hourly raise over the three year period.

Western Air Lines, meanwhile, announced the sighing of a new two-year contract with the Air Line Pilots Association. It provides for additional fringe benefits but no wage increase. Thirty-eight of the pilots are Denver based. Their pay ranges from $6,000 annually for beginning second pilots to $30,000 a year for senior jet captains.

Coffee Grounds Still Popular Thruout Turkey

ISTANBUL (AP) — The powdery black grounds in the bottom of a cup of Turkish coffee hold a secret.

The coffee really doesn't come from Turkey at all, but from Brazil.

"Turkish Coffee" means a certain type of coffee, like Italian espresso or French coffee. But in this nation of coffee lovers it's more than a name — it's a way of life.

Turkish coffee is a heritage from the golden days of Turkey's history, when the Ottoman Empire stretched from Algeria throughout the Middle East to the walls of Vienna.

Turkey, because of its climate couldn't — and still can't — grow coffee beans. The Ottomans therefore had to import, just as the modern Turks do. They sent camel and mule caravans to Yemen at the tip of the Arabian peninsula to bring back that country's famed beans.

Royal "coffee caravans" took months to cross the desert and mountains before arriving at the sultan's mighty palace in the capital of Istanbul.

Those days are gone, but the coffee — or the preparation of it —remains the same.

In Turkey, coffee is traditionally served after lunch and dinner — and to guests at any time. Westerners who have occasion to call on several Turkish friends or business contacts in the course of a day usually end up completely coffee-logged.

The brew also is served in traditional coffee houses throughout Turkey. In some places the coffee houses are extremely primitiveness far below westerners'.

But in the cities of Istanbul, Ismir or Ankara there are many modern shops, with glass-topped tables and comfortable armchairs.

But whether the coffee house is big or small, neat or dirty it serves this purpose: A place for the Turks — usually men only—to meet, to play cards or backgammon and to drink innumerable cups of coffee.

How is the coffee made?

It is prepared in a "djezveh," a long-handled pot, over a charcoal fire (or gas in the big cities). The finely ground beans are placed in the bottom of the pot and water added, enough usually for only one or two cups at a time.

The djezveh is placed over the flame or half-buried in the charcoal ashes to bring out the flavor. When the mixture boils it forms a thick, foamy cream on top. All of it, including the grounds, are poured into small china demitasse cups.

The coffee can be served black, semisweet or very sweet. The sugar usually is added in the pot before heating. Many coffee lovers prefer to place a half lump of sugar between their front teeth and sip the coffee through it.

The true aficionado also skillfully shakes the cup at the right moment and gulps down the thick grounds. However, most drinkers forsake the grounds.

It is not unusual to hear a Turk finish his coffee, smack his lips and tell the coffee maker:

"May Allah give you more. Your hand be praised."

$200 Hunting Rifle Reported Stolen

A hunting rifle valued at $200 was stolen from the garage of Jerald Ditmore, 1906 S. Franklin St. sometime in the past three weeks, the Sheriff's Office reported.

The theft occurred while Ditmore was in the hospital. The garage door was unlocked, according to the report.

34th All-Star Game Slated for Tuesday

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Alvin Dark can go for broke if he likes, but Ralph Houk said Saturday he's more concerned with "giving everyone a chance to play" in Tuesday's 34th All-Star game.

Dark, who will handle the National Leaguers, has made it clear that winning the game is paramount with him.

"The starting line-up will play most of the game," said the San Francisco manager, "and the chances are Willie Mays and Hank Aaron will play all the way in the outfield."

Houk, managing the American Leaguers for the second straight year and on the scene here already because his Yankees wind up a four-game series with the Indians Sunday, is as anxious to win as Dark but claims there other factors to be considered.

"I want to win the game just as much as he does," said Houk, whose Yankees defeated Dark's Giants in the World Series last October. "I've never gone into a game that I didn't honestly feel we could beat the other side.

"But let's face facts. The All-Star Game actually is an exhibition. Every player picked for the game knows it's a real honor to be in it. If that's the case, why shouldn't as many of those players as possible get into the game?

"When you get right down to it, there isn't too much difference between one All-Star player and another," Houk added. "Ordinarily, a manager doesn't hurt himself too much by taking one player out and putting another one in. I like to give everyone a chance if it's at all possible."

Al Holds Edge

The American League holds a 17-15 edge in the All-Star series with one game having ended in a tie, and Houk laughingly points out, "I'm .500 so far."

He means he has won one and lost one as an All-Star manager. Under his direction, the AL All-Stars lost last year's first game at Washington 3-1, but won the second contest at Chicago 9-4.

This year there will be only one All-Star game, instead of two as has been the practice since 1959, and the majority of players are happy to go back to the old arrangement.

Houk and Dark both have one common problem — which pitcher to name as starter for Tuesday's game?

"It all depends on who pitches over the weekend," Houk said. "You can't very well as a pitcher to start with only a day or two of rest."

Leans Toward Bunning

Nevertheless, Houk seemed to be leaning toward right-hander Jim Bunning of Detroit as his starter while Dark was expected to name Dodger southpaw Sandy Koufax.

Bunning has pitched brilliantly in the five All-Star games he has been in, having allowed only four hits in a total of 12 innings while hurling scoreless ball in four of his five appearances. Houk also wants a right-hander in there for the first three innings anyway, because six of the NL's eight starters are right-handed batters.

In his anxiety to win, Dark most likely will call on the 27-year-old Koufax, probably the finest pitcher in the National League with seven shutouts among his 13 victories.

Palmer Picked to Win British Open Third Time

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. ANNES, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer, top money winner on the United States golf circuit, has been made a 2-1 favorite to win the British Open for the third straight time over the Royal Lytham and St. Annes links Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The only player in modern times who has collared the historic title three straight is Australian Peter Thomson. He did it in 1954-55-56.

Famous old-time Scottish golfers like Tom Morris, Jamie Anderson and Bob Ferguson also captured three straight. But they did it between 1867 and 1882 when the championship was an all-British affair and carried none of the competitive pressures of today.

Palmer, the 33-year-old Latrobe, Pa., maestro, a great favorite with British galleries, appeared to be slipping a few weeks back.

Then Palmer, former winner of the U.S. Open and Masters, came back with a brand of golf reminiscent of his great days.

He won the Cleveland Open in a playoff and boosted his winnings to a record-breaking $85,545 this year.

Now the bookies, as shrewd as they come when betting money is involved, have made Palmer the favorite followed by American Jack Nicklaus and South African Gary Player at 7-1, Thomson at 8-1 and Kel Nagle of Australia at 10-1.

Six Americans were exempt from qualifying—Palmer, Nicklaus, reigning Masters champion, Billy Casper, Cary Middlecoff, Phil Rodgers and Doug Sanders. Two of them have announced they will not compete.

Casper is suffering from tendonitis — inflammation of tendons — and Middlecoff is out with a ruptured disc.

Nicklaus is third in the U.S. money list this year with $62,140 and Player, winner of the British Open in 1959, is fifth with $46,665.

The British Open, a prestige tournament, also carries a vast cash incentive to the winner—in addition to the $4,200 first prize for the winner.

Natasha Wins Third Crown

IN THE CUP—Natasha Fife, a sensational golfer during the week-long Broadmoor Women's Invitational, strokes home a putt during her 11 and 10 romp in Saturday's finals. Mrs. Fife, by winning, became the third three-time champion of the event, joining Babe Zaharias and Judy Bell in that category. She will be one of the field in the 63rd Western Amateur which tees off over the same course Monday morning.

STORY OF THE DAY—Carol Sorenson of Janesville, Wis., tries unsuccessfully with body english to move a putt into the cup during her finals match with Natasha Fife in the Broadmoor Women's Invitational Saturday. Miss Sorenson, who had been a slight favorite when the day started, saw her game come apart, especially on the greens, as she lost to the talented Kansas golfer.

Accurate Mrs. Fife Buries Wisconsin Lass

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

All sorts of strange things happened at the Broadmoor Saturday!

It rained!

And in a golf match that figured to be one of the closest the local course has seen, Wichita's Natasha Fife made a shambles of the Women's Invitational finals by burying nationally-renowned Carol Sorenson of Janesville, Wis. beneath a deluge of accuracy, 11 and 10.

It was an amazing finish to a tournament which had included the finest golfers to ever appear in a local women's amateur. Seldom had the finalists seemed so evenly matched and never in the history of this event had the outcome been so decisive.

Mrs. Fife, by her brilliant victory, became the third three-time winner of this tournament. The others were Babe Zaharias and Judy Bell but neither, regardless of the names they have established, could have been more impressive. Natasha, who complained of sub-par performances after the first two days of competition, was clearly the class of the field and her road in amateur golf from this point heads in one direction — up!

Monday both of the finalists tee off in the 63rd Western Amateur of which Miss Sorenson is the defending champion. Regardless of Saturday's outcome. Carol will be one of the favorites but Mrs. Fife will occupy a similar position along with the majority of the finest women golfers this nation can claim.

Thru more than half of Saturday's morning round the match was exactly as had been anticipated. It was close. Both had opportunities and Miss Sorenson actually seemed to have the upper hand as she was constantly shooting for birdies while her opponent was scrambling after pars.

However, the birdie putts weren't coming for the appealing Wisconsin lass, and once Mrs. Fife forged ahead her game took on an immaculate tinge. She was even after 10, but had a 5-up lead after the morning round and she underlined that by winning the first four holes in the afternoon to assure the sizeable gallery that they were witnessing a rout.

As the first 18 drew to a close, Carol remarked to the gallery that she had lost her magic wand — and that was evident. Since Monday's qualifying, Miss Sorenson had not actually suffered thru a bad round but that putter had lost its sense of direction overnight.

Carol started strong, winning the second hole with a graceful birdie putt from 10 feet but Natasha erased that by ramming in an eight-foot birdie on the par-five third. From that point the two battled bitterly thru the 10th but the trend was emerging. On eight, nine, and 10 Miss Sorenson had quite reasonable shots at birdies that would not drop and Mrs. Fife, who had been scrambling magnificiently to stay even, finally broke thru at 11.

She rolled home a 14-foot birdie on that hole and after pushing her tee shot far off line on the par-three 12th, she recovered to tie when Miss Sorenson three-putted from the foot of the green. Natasha then rapped in a 15 foot bird at 13 to pull ahead by two and after Carol missed another chance at a win by rolling a six foot putt past the cup at 14, Mrs. Fife began to tighten the screws.

She won 15 after hitting a superb recovery shot from a rough lie, took 16 as her opponent flew a ball out of the front sand trap, and then ran in a six foot birdie at 18 to go five-up at lunchtime.

If Carol had reconstructed her poise during the break it was quickly shattered in the afternoon. Mrs. Fife, with the kill in sight, glided a beautiful putt into the cup from well below the hole for a birdie win at 19 and then calmly added the next three holes as the Sorenson game began to visably break apart. During that period, the clouds floated in from Cheyenne Mountain and began to drench the course, leaving the end of the match in dreary climax. Natasha, still marching grimly forward, closed it out at the 28th by dropping her eight foot birdie putt after both gals had threatened the pin with excellent irons off the par-three tee.

The match proved two things. It established the long-overlooked fact that Mrs. Fife is one of the finest amateur golfers this nation possesses and it certainly gave indication that this week's Western Amateur is as wide open as the western spaces over which it will be played.

Tee-off times for that tournament, which is annually one of the best the U.S. has to offer, start at 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Wise Ship Sets Record in Sussex Race

STANTON, Del. (AP)—Breaking his own world record, Milton Ritzenberg's Wise Ship carried top weight of 123 pounds to a nose triumph in Delaware Park's $28,500 Sussex Turf Handicap Saturday.

Wise Ship, ridden by Panamanian Heliodoro Gustines, was timed in 2:13 4-5 for the 1⅜-miles on the grass while edging Frank E. Power's English-bred Vimy Ridge who carried 119 pounds. Mrs. Stephen C. Clark Jr.'s Shield Bearer, under 121 pounds, was third 1½ lengths behind.

IT WON'T DROP—It was one of the few, but this putt wouldn't drop for Natasha Fife Saturday as she rolled toward her third championship of the Broadmoor Women's Invitational. Mrs. Fife, from Wichita, Kan., stunned the sizeable gallery by posting an 11 and 10 victory, the largest margin in the 21 year history of the local tournament. (Photo by Bob McIntyre)

City Golf Championship Finals Set for Today at Patty Jewett

Jack Schwarts, Worth Stimits, and Muarry Gose lead a field of 49 golfers entered in the City Handicap Championship at Patty Jewett. The trio of golfers will defend their two-round lead this morning at 9 a.m. in the final round of the championship flight.

Altho Gose tallied a 69 on the opening day, he fell Saturday and shot a 72; bringing his total to 141. Schwartz and Stimits both recorded 70 and 71 in the first two days of competition.

Harold Todd, Tom Schwell, and John Hackman each tallied score of 144 for two rounds to deadlock the second flight competition. Today the golfers in that division take to the greens at 8 a.m. to battle for top laurels.

In the third flight classification division, Jim Mullikan leads with a 148 followed by Arnie Moe, Brad Anderstar, and Ned Calkins with scores of 149.

Heavy Rains Postpone Wimbeldon

By ROBERT MUSEL
UPI Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Heavy rains Saturday postponed until Monday the Wimbledon women's tennis final between American "upset queen" Billie Jean Moffitt and heavily-favored Australian Margaret Smith, but Miss Moffitt refused to let the delay go on her nerves.

It was the first time in 27 years and only the third time in the 77-year-history of the famed tournament that play has not been completed within the scheduled two weeks.

The officials tried their best to get in at least the Moffit-Smith match as a crowd of 17,000 waied despite the downpour at the courts of the All-England Club. As hour after hour passed with no let-up in the rain, many in the rain, many in the crowd became convinced there would be no action and went home.

Miss Moffitt, 19-year-old bespectacled student at Los Angeles State College, refused o become upset either by the delay or by the fact that English bookies consider the top-seeded Miss Smith such an over-whelming favorite that they won' even quote a price on her. Miss Moffitt is rated at 5 to 2.

But Billie Jean, who has become the darling of the galleries as a result of three straight wins over star payers, was calm and cool as she posed for photographs. She said the weather didn't bother her "In the least."

Asked if she were nervous, she said, "No—should I be?"

Will she win? "I'll have a good try."

The final round of men's doubles will send Mexico's Rafae Osuna and Antonio Palafox against France's Claude Barclay and Pierre Darmon.

The mean's singles title was won Friday by Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., who beat unseeded Fred Stolle of Australia, 9-7, 6-1, 6-4, to become the first native American to win the men's crown here in eight years.

Broncos Set To Pitch Camp Today

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—The first contingent of the Denver Broncos will pitch camp on the Colorado State University campus Sunday to train for the 1963 American Football League campaign.

First to arrive will be members of the coaching staff and quarterbacks. Rookies under contract and free agents will report Thursday.

Accompanying Head Coach Jack Faulkner will be assistants Dale Dodrill, Ed Hughes, Red miller and Mac Speedie.

The quarterbacks are George Shaw, Dick Wood, Mickey Slaughter and Bobby Hidalgo. Shaw and Wood are veterans, while Salughter comes from Louisiana Tech and Hidalgo from Adams State. Veteran Frank Tripucka will arrive on July 21 along with the other players from last season.

The Broncos will tangle with Houston, eastern division champions, at Denver University Stadium Aug. 3 and two weeks later will host the San Diego Chargers in the same arena. These will be the first pre-season games ever played by the Broncos in Denver.

Three Denver rookies have been selected to play for the All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers on Aug. 2. They are tackle Tom Nomina of Miami, (Ohio) and halfbacks Tom Janik, Texas A&I, and Charlie Mitchell, Washington U.

BETWEEN THE LINES

Return of the Sweat Set

And suddenly everyone's for tennis . . .

That may sound like a take-off on the trite quote from an ancient Broadway play of a decade or so ago, but there was a certain ring of truth to it at least this weekend. And this was all because of the play of a couple youngsters in the ivy-covered stadium at Wimbledon.

Thruout most of the year the average citizen pays but passing attention to results of any tennis tournament. And I confess to be among 'em. But this World Series with rackets seems to stimulate interest that has been dormant thruout the year and suddenly the sport becomes important.

This, after all, isn't too surprising. Outside of the Olympic year, who gives a particular hoot for the top crew in rowing, the best shot with a pistol off a bareback horse, or the strategy involved in Greco-Roman wrestling?

When said athletes are representing our fair country, however, it's different. In a sense, we're all competing a little, if only in moral support. And a victory in international games brings satisfaction to us all.

Methinks this year there was special silent cheers from the sidelines stateside for the wee pair wearing the Stars and Stripes at Wimbledon, mainly because Chuck McKinley and Billie Jean Moffitt seemed to be more a slice out of the U.S. population than this country's representatives in the past.

KAROL FAGEROS
Caused New Rules

* * *

Perhaps it was their style of play that captured more than the usual interest.

Both are the slam-bang type that go more on guts than natural talent and God-given gifts. They put zing into the game that has too long been missing. What they both lacked in finesse, as preached thru textbooks, they made up for it with good, old fashioned will-to-win.

Their's was not exactly a Frank Merriwell re-run, but they did upset the prepared script in that they scattered the choice seeds of the tournament like so many wheat grains in a Kansas wind storm.

McKinley, at 5-foot-8 and only 155 pounds, was especially sensational since he went thru the entire tournament on the outskirts of London town without losing a single set. Undoubtedly, many there must have thought that the tradition dripping from the capacity-filled stands and onto the grass courts would sink the scrappy little American. But not so.

Billie Jean, too, who stands two inches shorter than her male partner in merry ole England, climbed from the ranks of the unranked and into the finals. And she matched McKinley with racehorse running and slamming tactics at the net.

The whole point here is that the play of this spunky twosome could and should be an inspiration to those back home. And despite the surprises of this past week at Wimbledon, inspiration is needed.

For instance, how many times lately has the U.S. team carted home the Davis Cup, symbolic of supremacy in tennis among all nations? I'll give you a clue — you could count 'em on a couple fingers in the last dozen years.

One of the main reasons for this is that most of our players who can hold their own in international play are too busy during their peak years with studies to concentrate on the game. That's probably as it should be. After college they're still busy earning the all-mighty dollar, or in the case of the opposite sex, rearing future tennis players.

Another reason, and from this side of the net it seems especially pertinent this week, is that too long the game has been hiding under the skirts of the country club set. A sweat-soaked shirt was as out of place as a cuss word over a muffed shot, and in most cases it was more important to be a part of the "400" clan than to develop a backhand that could send oppoents sprawling on their duff.

This, of course, has carried over into most of our biggest tournaments. The Wimbledon is perhaps the prime example, where such a thing as showing temper with your own inability is enough to nearly expell you for life. The tourney has become almost as famous for its edicts on uncouthness as it has for championship tennis.

Among those who did much to make officials tighten restrictions even more than before was curvacious Karol Fageros, who probably was more deft as a model than as a tennis champion. The "Golden Goddess" of the sport, as crafty Karol billed herself, once dared to wear gold lame panties onto Wimbledon's sacred courts and the rule book promptly had a new insertion that the uniform of the day, any day, would be all white.

In town this weekend is one who devoting much time and energy toward righting the situation which has the most talent-rich nation in the world dragging its britches in tennis. He's Robert Pease of Chicago, president of the National Youth Tennis Development Committee.

Between sets with Broadmoor pro Chet Murphy, with whom he's visiting in the Springs, Pease remarked that he and his group are making an all-out effort to stimulate interest in the sport.

"Right now we are after numbers," Pease said. "We think that if there is enough milk, the cream will naturally come to the top. Our first project is to get tennis into more phys. ed. classes in school. If the kids at least get a taste of what it's like, we think more will start playing seriously."

Pease went on to say there is a plan to give more advanced training to those suited, on a city-to-city level, with the top players advancing on into a program tutored by some of this nation's best professionals, including Murphy, who teaches at the Broadmoor in the summer after the school year at California Univtrsity.

"We want to get rid of the stigma of tennis being only a 'country club' activity," Pease said. "And our aim is to interest the best athletes in our game. By that, I mean the boys who play football, baseball, and so on, on the varsity level. It's only if we can get these kids playing tennis will this country have the caliber players it should have."

It could be that Chuck McKinley and Billie Jean Moffitt have given Pease and his gang the biggest assist possible toward their goal this past week while rippig a bit of iace from gown of priggishness that has long kept the game chaste of molestation by most our true athletes.

Kerr Appointed 'Football for Fun' Coach at S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Former Denver University line coach William H. (Bud) Kerr has been appointed head coach of San Francisco's "football for fun" program, started by another former Colorado coach nearly 10 years ago.

Kerr was line coach at SFU from 1949 to 1951 after a two-year stay at Denver. He also served as head coach at San Francisco for nine days—from Dec. 23, 1951, until the school dropped football.

The "football for fun" program was inaugurated by R. C. (Sarge) MacKenzie, farmer Regis College football coach.

Y Flash Tallies Win In Hollywood Derby

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Y Flash, who went into the race with the richest bankroll of all, increased it Saturday as he hit the wire first in a four-horse blanket finish in the $124,100 Hollywood Derby.

Ably ridden by jockey Eddie Burns, the Nevada-bred Y Flash came with a rush to catch the heavily-bet favorite, Get Around, in the final surge to the finish.

Less than a length separated the first two and the next two, Olympiad King and Three Links, in a rousing struggle between an even dozen year-olds.

Y Flash, owned by Las Vegas hotel owner J. K. Houssels, added $79,100 to his previous earnings of $132,050 in scoring his second straight stakes triumph at Hollywood Park.

The time for the 1¼ mile was 2 minutes, 3-5 seconds.

Y Flash returned $25.20, $10.20 and $4.60.

The Maine Chance Farm's Get Around, paid $4.20 and $3. The second choice in the wagering, Mrs. Connie Ring's Olympiad King, returned $3 for show.

Y Flash, bay son of the far less famed Flash O'Night, won a section of the Cinema Handicap two weeks ago. His biggest victory was in a division of the $75,000-added Hollywood Juvenile Stakes as a 2-year-old.

Ortega Wins Decision Over Bello

By MEL STEINBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Gaspar Ortega of Mexico won a surprise 10-round split decision over 20-year-old Billy Bello of New York in their nationally televised fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night. Bello weighed 151, Ortega 150.

Sonny Banks, 197, Detroit also won a surprise eight-round decision over 20-year-old Jimmy Jones, 205½, Chicago, in the semifinal. The bout was listed for 10 rounds, but cut short so the Bello-Ortega fight could start on time on television.

Giants' Win Narrows NL Gap; Yanks Coast Over Cleveland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pop fly lost in the sun and another home run by rampaging Willie McCovey were key blows Saturday as the San Francisco Giants gained ground on the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race.

Gordy Coleman's routine pop up dropped in for a two-run double at sunny Los Angeles, leading the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-1 victory over the Dodgers. And at San Francisco, McCovey smashed his fourth homer in as many games and 22nd of the season with a man on in the seventh inning, powering the Giants over St. Louis 5-3.

That victory pushed the Giants into second in the NL scramble, two games behind the Dodgers. The third-place Chicago Cubs, blanked by Philadelphia's Cal McLish 6-0, are three games off the pace, with St. Louis 3½ out and Cincinnati one-half game further back in fifth.

New York's American League leading Yankees poured across seven runs in the second inning and coasted in over Cleveland 11-6 in a game that tied a big league record with 25 strikeouts.

The Detroit Tigers took their fifth in a row, 8-4 over Kansas City, with rookie Bill Faul a winner again after another hypnotic treatment. Baltimore nipped Minnesota 2-1 in other AL action.

In night games, Milwaukee played a doubleheader at Houston and Pittsburgh took on the Mets at New York in the National League, while Los Angeles was at Washington and Chicago at Boston in the American.

The Reds got their big break at Los Angeles in the fourth inning with men on second and third and two out. Coleman lifted a pop toward second, but Jim Gilliam lost the ball in the sun and it fell in for a double, giving Cincinnati a 2-0 lead.

That was enough for Jim Maloney, who spaced seven hits in winning his 13th against three losses. Don Drysdale, 10-10, was the loser.

McCovey homered with winning pitcher Billy Pierce on base in the seventh at San Francisco, breaking a 3-3 tie. Prior to that clinching blow off Ray Sadecki, Willie Mays had scored two of the Giants' runs and driven in the other, while Charlie James had homered twice for the Cards. Pierce threw a four-hitter for San Francisco.

McLish gave up only three hits and Don Demeter belted two homers as the Phils stopped the Cubs' winning string at five. Don Hoak also homered for Philadelphia.

Yankee and Indian pitchers collected 25 strikeouts at Cleveland, matching the major league record for a nine-inning game, with winner Al Downing fanning 14 before he left in the eighth inning.

Yogi Berra, in his 18th season with the Yankees, homered with two on against loser Barry Latman in the big seven-run outburst in the second. Roger Maris closed out the Yank scoring in the sixth when he rapped his 19th homer with one on.

Downing won his fourth in five decisions since being called up from the minors four weeks ago. He gave up homers to Max Alvis and Willie Tasby, and Mike de La Hoz homered off Yankee reliever Hal Reniff.

Norm Cash got the Tigers off winging with a three-run homer in the third inning against loser Ed Rakow of the Athletics. Faul, who hadn't won since June 10, gave up 12 Kansas City hits before being relieved by Don Mossi in the eighth.

The rookie right-hander said he underwent hypnosis for the first time in about a month Friday night in an effort "to get my confidence back and help me relax."

Faul started using hypnotic treatments during spring training—and during his non-hypnotic month he had lost his last three starts.

Dave McNally, 20-year-old Baltimore fast-baller, beat the Twins with the aid of Jackie Brandt's two-run triple in the third inning and some strong relief from Stu Miller. Bob Allison's 21st homer accounted for the Minnesota run.

Lamb Chop Wins Filly Race at Monmouth Park

OCEANPORT, N. J. (AP)—William Haggin Perry's Lamb Chop took another big step towards the 3-year-old filly championship Saturday when she registered a head victory over Eleanora Sears' Spicy Living in the $56,100 Monmouth Oaks at Monmouth Park.

The finish of the 1⅛-mile Oaks was a replica of the $100,000 Coaching Club American Oaks at Aqueduct two weeks ago when Lamb Chop won by 3½ lengths over Spicy Living, and Mrs. Russell L. Reineman's Smart Deb ran third. Smart Deb was third again, by a length and a quarter this time.

Wheatley Stable's Bold Consort was fourth in the field of eight.

Lamb Chop, chestnut daughter of Bold Ruler - Sheepsfoot, was timed in 1:51 3-5 and paid $6.60, $3.40 and $2.40.

Ford Fires 280 to Win Canadian Open Tournament

TORONTO (AP) — Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y., after calmly sinking a 15-foot pressure putt on the 17th hole, won the Canadian Open golf championship Saturday with a 72-hole score of 280, four under par.

Ford, who won the Canadian Open in 1959, stood off a challenge by lanky Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif., that included an eagle and a five-under-par 30 on the back nine.

Geiberger, 25 and shaped like a 1-iron, finished with 65, the day's best round, and 281, one stroke back of Ford.

The 40-year-old Ford, who has won both the PGA and the Masters title and is one of the fastest players in golf, had a one-under-par 70 for the final round.

Ford had rounds of 69, 67 and 74 before his final 70 over the par 71, 6,738-yard Scarboro Course.

Top prize for the tournament is $9,000.

Golf's Big Three, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus, passed up the tournament for the British Open next week. Julius Boros, recent U.S. Open winner, had another commitment.

Bruce Crampton of Australia, starting six strokes behind Ford, made a charge with a 31 on the first nine of the final round and finished with 66 for 282. That gave him a third place tie with big George Bayer of Pasadena, Calif., who had a final 67, and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., who also finished with a 67.

Herman Keiser of Barberton, Ohio, two strokes back of Ford after 54 holes, slipped to a 72 for a 284 finish, a stroke behind Bob Rosburg of Portland, Ore., who closed with a 67 for 283.

Also at 284 was George Knudson of Toronto, who had the best score of the home forces and Dan Keefe of Wayland, Mass.

Juniors Paul Mayland of Merrick, N.Y., and Bob Mitschele of Morris Plains, N.J., will captain Lehigh's track team next season.

CSU to Hold Contract Conference

A government contract management conference for small business firms will be conducted July 26-27, at Colorado State University, Charles L. Baker, assistant director for special extension programs, has announced.

The conference is designed for firms currently holding prime or subcontracts, as well as for firms interested in obtaining such contracts, Baker said.

Experts from both government and business will staff the conference. The practical aspects of getting and keeping defense and other government contracts will be emphasized, Baker said.

Among topics to be covered will be developing information on potential business sources, methods of selling a firm's capability to handle contract work, preparation of bids, evaluating competitive positions, pricing and estimating negotiation of contracts, prime and sub-contractor relationships, inspection and acceptance procedures, and contract termination.

The conference will be sponsored by CSU in cooperation with the National Association of Professional Contract Administrators and the Small Business Administration.

Total attendance is expected to run between 200 and 300 persons from about seven Rocky Mountain area states. A registration fee of $50 per person has been established. Small business firms wishing to send representatives to the conference may obtain complete details from Charles L. Baker, Colorado State University, Fort Collins.

Vocational School Gets Strict Rules on Dress

LANDER, Wyo. (UPI) — Fremont Vocational High School students will have to observe strict dress rules this coming school year.

The school board Friday ruled that "all skirt and dress lengths must come to the mid-point of the knee" during the 1963-64 academic year. The board said the girls may wear the lengths longer but not shorter.

As for slacks and shorts, the board ruled that they "may not be worn to class. However, during the cold weather, slacks may be worn to school and changed before class time."

The board also ruled that boys may not wear T-shirts or go to class without belts.

"Shirts are to be tucked inside the trousers," the board added, "and boys shall be clean-shaven and have haircuts which are in accordance with community standards."

Tale Discounted by City Judge; Driver Fined $10

Pointing to his speeding ticket Friday in Municipal Court, a defendant claimed that the citation described his car as white and green instead of white and gray.

The defendant Joshua Bell, 36, 713 S. Cedar St., said a car of the colors listed on his citation passed him June 9 in the 800 block of E. Costilla St., "speeding," and said the driver must have spotted the radar car and immediately turned off.

Patrolman John Tagert had testified that he picked up Bell's car traveling 41 miles in the 30-mile zone.

Discounting Bell's tale, Judge Allan Asher said either Tagert was color blind or the defendant's car was dirty. He found Bell guilty and levied a $10 fine.

The judge converted to a warning ticket a speeding charge brought against Thomas Ryan, 20, who was city by Patrolman W. R. McCartney June 22 traveling 40 miles in the 20-mile zone across the Bijou Street viaduct.

Ryan claimed that he had stopped at a light prior to coming onto the viaduct and did not have the time to get up to that speed and could not have made the turn on the viaduct safely if he had gotten up to 40 miles an hour.

From his testimony, it appeared that the youth spent most of his time on the viaduct watching a Morgan coming up behind him.

After "the Morgan" was mentioned several dozen times by Ryan, Judge Asher explained to the court that this was a classic English sports car, adding that he could understand the youth's interest.

The judge found Mrs. Leona MacKenzie, 53, 325½ E. Kiowa St. not guilty of a charge of driving without lights, and in a companion case, found Daniel Widner, 26, 1024 Pike Dr., guilty of careless driving, fining him $25.

He reduced a reckless driving charge to the lesser offense of careless driving, and found Phillip Case, 17, 1123 E. Rio Grande St., guilty of this charge, fining him $15.

At the request of Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac, he dismissed a careless driving charge against Charles Valdez, 23, 551 E. Costilla St., and dismissed a charge of the unlawful use of water against Margaret Johnston, 513 W. Harrison St. and at the request of a complaining witness, dismissed charges of riotous conduct and breach of peace against Deloyd Johnson, 39, 2020 N. Weber St.

Rocket Booster Heat Prediction Under Study

A study to determine the most accurate method of predicting high temperatures for large rocket boosters is under way at the Lockheed-California Company, it was announced today.

The study is being done under a newly-awarded contract from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Prediction of temperatures resulting from aerodynamic friction is of major importance in rocket design, spacecraft engineers point out.

On rocket boosters, where every ounce is precious, oversized thermal protection may result in several thousand pounds of excess vehicle weight.

It is not possible at present to predict precisely the heating during the atmospheric ascent phase.

In their study, Lockheed spacecraft engineers will organize basic theories and analyze heat transfer data from existing large rocket booster programs.

Compilation of the structural inflight heating data is sponsored by NASA's George C. Marshall Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.

COURT AND CATS

OLATHE, Kan. (UPI) — The Johnson County Probate Court had a matter before it today involving an $8,000 claim and 46 cats.

Mrs. Florence Baker asked the money from the estate of Mrs. Clara B. Murlin, who was the original owner of the felines. She sought payment for care of the cats since 1957.

Italian Scientist Says He Did Not Spy for Soviets

LONDON (UPI) — An Italian nuclear scientist on trial for attempting to spy for the Soviet Union testified here that he may have been drugged by a Soviet diplomat.

Dr. Giuseppe Martelli's trial at the Old Bailey court continued amid a series of other developments in Britain's security and sex scandals.

—Christine Keeler, the red-haired callgirl who shared her favors with resigned war minister John Profumo and Soviet naval attache Eugene Ivanova, was involved in a new inquiry by Scotland Yard.

—The British Foreign Office was disclosed to have advised the Soviets to think again about the man they seek to appoint as air attache at the Soviet Embassy here.

—Two London newspapers reported that Harold Philby, former British diplomat and accused Soviet spy, visited Britain regularly in recent years but was never arrested or questioned.

—The scandals were believed among the causes of the heavy losses incurred by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservatives in two by-elections held Thursday.

Martelli, who worked on non-secret projects at the British Harwell atomic research station, has denied charges he planned to deliver secrets to the Soviets.

But he said he has known Nikolai Karpekov, who later became first secretary of the Soviet Embassy and his alledged "contact man," since 1955.

During a dinner with Karpekov in Geneva in 1956, he said, he suddenly felt sick and had to leave the restaurant.

"I thought I might have been drugged, or something had been put in my food," he said.

He did not explain how the alleged drugging might be connected to the case.

The new Scotland Yard investigation concerns a tape recording Miss Keeler is said to have made. It is said to throw new light on the case of Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, the West Indian jazz singer now in jail for assaulting her. But officials disclosed no details.

MORE THAN GOLD

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—All the ghost towns aren't in the West.

There's one in the middle of Ft. Knox, a sprawling military reservation 25 miles southwest of Louisville.

The town at the junction of the Salt and Rolling Fork Rivers was known as Pitts Point, boasted a college, salt and lumber industries and a century ago had a population of more than 300. But less than 100 persons remained in the area and the post office and college were gone when the Army acquired the territory before World War II.

Prayer Not Favored By Soviet Astronaut

MOSCOW (AP) — Valentina Tereshkova, the Soviet Union's girl cosmonaut said she cannot understand how U.S. female jet pilot Jerrie Cobb "can combine the piloting of supersonic planes and prayers."

The 26-year-old Communist party member made the comment to the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia while leafing through Miss Cobb's book, "Woman Into Space."

An Izvestia correspondent who showed Miss Tereshkova the book said at one point the cosmonaut grinned at a photograph of Miss Cobb kneeling in prayer before a home altar.

Along with others, we are wondering why the price of meat is still so high or all food prices soaring quite steadily.

It might be explained by the cost of the labor involved in bringing the meat to the dinner table.

Could it be the distance from the cow corral to the dinner table that is making all the difference in the price?

Of course if the cow is a long way off from the meat platter this distance could and should be taken into account. We have need to tell the world that no self respecting dinner table should be set very ner to the corral where the cattle are kept nor should the pig sty occupy any ground too close to these nice crisp slices of bacon that sound and smell so tempting while sizzling on the frying pan. "Bringing home the bacon" should not involve too heavy a load.

So it would seem as if the distance as well as the labor might have some effect on the high prices and yet I am a bit puzzled. This morning, needing an extra quart of milk and noticing that a milk truck was stopping at the door of my neighbor's house, took off with a 25 cent piece plus three cents in my fist to ask the driver to sell me a bottle of milk.

As I was reurning to my kitchen with the milk, I reflected that I had walked over the very identical piece of ground that my father used to walk as he was returning to the cellar with the big buckets of foaming milk that was just fresh from the cow. But there was a difference. I had paid almost six times as much as my parents used to get for a quart. That for the very same product, only perhaps the freshly milked was a bit tastier, or so I believe. And I had walked almost exactly the same number of feet, about 40 feet, that my father had walked. So I reasoned there must be other things beside ground covered in carrying the products to the table.

The bacon we had for breakfast this morning had come from the store wrapped in a fancy red and white glazed paper, it's beautifully arranged slices stiffened into slabs by a piece of cardboard and then about the meat itself was a transparent celophane covering that had been folded so nicely and so very closely that it required some care to remove it. If any of our black pigs that grunted so peacefully in their sunny pen on the hillside of our ranch home had ever dreamed of such luxury for their fat sides, I wonder if they could have been forced to remain in their pens. They would, without any doubt, have clambered and insisted on going and getting on our front porch, and this even tho we children had often tried to amuse them by leaning over the sides of the pen and scratching their bristly backs with boards. No, the pigs of that day had never heard of celophane and never knew that it was "an elastic tissue made from viscose solidified in thin transparent sheets or strips, and usually having a moisture proof coating on both sides.'

All the cows, too, now have their muscles nicely wrapped in celophane, that is, after they have parted with them. Even their bones intended for soup are considered delicacies and where one could in the long ago days carry home a five cent soup bone, today that same bone or one just like it must be paid for with several five cent pieces. Can it be that carrying a bone from the cow to the kitchen stove is heavy work. Here I am reminded of a jingle that I learned when a child. "Taffy was a Welsh-man. Taffy was a thief. Taffy came to my house and stole apiece of beef. I went to Taffy's house. Taffy was in bed. I took the marrow bone and hit him on the head." Wonderful! Even in those days meat was worth stealing and carrying home and it turned out that it was only a marrow bone that poor Taffy had wanted.

Certainly there is a differnece besides the distance. When we were in high school we early learned that if we did not know the rule that governed any subject in science all we had to do was to answer the teacher with the usually satisfactory words. "It varies inversely with the square of the distance" and even if we did not know whether or not the rule applied in this particular instance it was a least worth a try and so we tried it, more often than not with success.

With distances varying inversely as they do, the cows and the pigs too might have become confused so it is well that our old ranch cows, died off long ago, since had they lived until today they would have had to pay $44 per ton for alfalfa and that is too rich for any cow. She might as well betake herself to the slaughter house where she can have her remains wrapped in celophane and placed on the meat counters to leave the discussion of prices and the labors involved to the ranchmen, the cattlemen.

Probably the best way for us to put in our time is to find the nickles, cents and dimes to pay for our food and amuse ourselves by watching the price of food and the other expenses soar while we see the men who fly by us on the way to the moon and other planets wonder how God could possibly create the universe in only seven days. Making personal visits with space will never solve our problems.

Courses Offered In Child Education at CU

A series of courses which will lead to a certificate program in childhood education is now being offered to teachers in pre-schools and day-care centers in Colorado by the University of Colorado Extension Division.

Miss Marie Smith, director of the Child Welfare Division of the Colorado State Department of Public Welfare, initiated the certificate program. She is convinced that it will meet the needs of this group for further professional training.

The first course, an experimental one, proved to be so successful that additional new courses leading to a final certificate were indicated, according to Mrs. Lois Badger, director of the CU Bureau of Correspondence Study, which is administering the program.

In the pilot project, two study groups, one in Denver and one in Boulder, consisting of 15 selected pre-schol teachers i each, recently completed a study in Dr. Esther Shapiro, Denver psyhologist. Dr. Shapiro met with the Denver group each session and led the discussion on questions posed in the study guide. The Boulder study group followed the same pattern, but met without a professional leader.

The participants in both groups, Mrs. Badger stated, are confident that the group-discussion method of study, with or without professional leadership, is effective, stimulating, satisfying, and that a high level of learning and interest can be maintained. All expressed a desire to enroll in additional courses.

The second course in the series, "Teaching Methods and Techniques in Pre-schol," is being prepared by Dr. Agnes Hatfield, assistant professor of education at the University of Denver.

The course "Understanding the Child," which will give six hours of credit toward certification, will again be offered in the fall by the Bureau of Correspondence Study, and study groups for new course will be organized for those who have completed the first course or its equivalent.

BIG WINNER—Mrs. Madeline E. Turner, medical clerk in the Physical Standards Branch of the Academy Hospital, receives a check for $1,225—largest award ever given at the Academy under the civilian employe suggestion program—from Superintendent Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren.

AFA Clerk Wins Record Cash Suggestion Award

Mrs. Madeline E. Turner, medical clerk in the Physical Standards Branch of the Air Force Academy's 7625th Hospital, believes "in taking her work home with her."

The habit helped Mrs. Turner earn $1,225 — largest award ever given at the Academy under the civilian employe suggestion program.

Mrs. Turner's suggestion to eliminate the preliminary cadet physical examination will save the Air Force an estimated $175,000 during the first year it is in effect.

Employed at the Academy since February 1959, Mrs. Turner began mulling over the idea of cadets receiving both a preliminary and final physical exam shortly after she joined the hospital staff. The plan to change procedures kept popping into her mind even at home.

She first submitted the idea in February 1960 but it was turned down. In October 1962, Mrs. Turner again submitted her plan for consideration. This time it was accepted.

Superintendent Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren presented the $1,225 check to Mrs. Turner.

A native of Colorado, Mrs. Turner worked at Ft. Carson before accepting a position at the Academy.

More than half the radio sets imported into Greece last year were made in Japan.

Ronald Stiles Aboard USS Hancock in Pacific

Marine Lance Corporal Ronald L. Stiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon W. Stiles of 3111 North Institute, St. is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Hancock, a Pacific Fleet unit which is currently on six-months deployment with the Seventh Fleet in the Far East.

Hancock departed her homeport, Alameda, Calif., June 7.

Her cruise with Seventh Fleet includes drills and exercises in conformance with the fleetwide operational readiness inspection. This phase of training is conducted under simulated wartime conditions and shows the Hancock's operational capabilities.

Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, is the Hancock's first port-of-call on the cruise. Her crewmen will be able to see the memorial of the sunken World War II battleship USS Arizona, lost when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. In addition, Hawaii offers sightseeing and recreation at Waikiki Beach, and at the numerous pineapple canneries, greenhouses and scenic areas of the island.

College Shocked By Counterfeit Printing Press

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A college printing press operator has been charged with running off millions in bogus money in the biggest counterfeit case ever handled by the U.S. Secret Service.

Donald J. Carothers, 21-year-old print shop employe at Alameda State College in Hayward across the bay from San Francisco, was said by officers to have admitted turning out more than $4 million in fake $20 and $50 bills.

Arrested Friday, Carothers was charged with manufacturing counterfeit currency. Three other men have been arraigned since the ring was broken Wednesday night, and at least three others are being hunted.

Some $2.4 million has been recovered, with another $500,000 unaccounted for.

Carothers, who was paid $2.25 an hour for his college job, was quoted by police as saying "I had a key to the place to work at night on overtime jobs. I was to get $4,000, but I wanted real money, not this bogus."

Lt. George Kelly of the Hayward police department reported the young married man told him he ran off the counterfeit bills since Christmas, but much of it was ruined.

College President Fred Harcleroad was shocked by the news of Carothers' arrest.

Secret Service Area Chief Tom Hanson called the fake currency of "very good quality. It had very good paper — a rag bond — and the plates, apparently, were excellent."

Negro Woman Named Church's High Official

DENVER (AP) — A woman educator, daughter of a slave, has been elected the first Negro assistant moderator of the United Church of Christ.

Mrs. Robert C. (Mildred) Johnson of Birmingham, Ala., was chosen here at the same time her church's general synod declared it "must now become radically committed to the struggle of the non-whites."

Officials of the two million member church said Mrs. Johnson, a grandmother, is the first Negro woman among the major Protestant denominations elected to such a high position.

Mrs. Johnson said, "The actions taken by the general synod which seek to bring the worship creed and conduct of the church into cordial agreement and keep them in balance are, of course, a shot in the arm for me as I assume a two-year responsibility as assistant moderator."

"The spontaneity with which the proposed actions were received," she said, "makes all of the officers secure and most particularly their adoption will permit me to say anytime or anywhere that since the general synod of the United Church of Christ has spoken these words, I am happy to stand behind them."

Mrs. Johnson is a daughter of the late Rev. George W. Bell, born into slavery in Kentucky, who was put through Berea (Ky.) College by a New England Congregationalist philanthropist.

Meeting his benefactor for the first time on the day he graduated with honors, the Rev. Mr. Bell asked, "What can I do to repay you?"

The New Englander replied, "Pass it along."

Mrs. Johnson said her father spent his life living up to that dictum and she has tried to follow in his footsteps.

A native of Middlesboro, Ky., she received a bachelor of science degree with major in education from Kentucky State College in 1926. After graduation she taught in Birmingham public schools until her marriage in 1936 to Johnson, principal of the Parker High School there.

Long active in the First Congregational Christian Church in Birmingham, Mrs. Johnon served in 1954-56 as representative of the Congregational Christian denomination in the National Council of Churches. Her activities include serving on the Cahaba Girl Scout Council at Birmingham, membership in the Birmingham Fine Arts Club and other civic groups.

One of Mrs. Johnson's two daughters, Mrs. Alma Powell, is a graduate of Fisk University and holds an advanced degree in speech therapy from Emerson College in oston A younger daughter, graduate of Talladega College in Boston A younger Williams, an intern at Syracuse (N.Y.) University Hospital.

More Spillover Seen For General Fund

DENVER (UPI)— State Budget Director Con F. Shea said here an excess amount of money allotted the Colorado Revenue Department should spill into the general fund soon — and thus leave the state in better financial shape than was supposed last week.

Shea said about $1 million in Revenue Department administrative funds for 1962-63 should go to the general fund this month.

Earlier, Shea told Gov. John Love about $2.5 million would be returned from excess amounts in administrative funds. "It now appears this will be closer to $3.5 million," Shea said Friday.

One Man Tells His Views on Secret of Good (?) Writing

By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At the last meeting of our neighborhood literacy society we had an interesting discussion on the qualities that a person needs to become a successful writer.

Some said the most important quality is the ability to compose long murky paragraphs that invoke the atmosphere of an apartment hallway at eventide when one of the tenants is cooking cabbage.

Others said the most important quality is to have a friend on the selection committee of a book club.

Still others said the most important quality is an encyclopedic grasp of four-letter words.

Surprisingly enough, nobody except me mentioned poor posture as a necessary qualification for a literary career. This leads me to believe that the importance of bad posture has never been adequately explained.

I'll concede that my observations have been generally limited to the journalistic branch of literature, but the fact is that I have never known a first rate writer who had good posture.

By the process of inductive reasoning a conclusion can therefore be drawn that their success is due at least in part to bad posture.

This is something that the journalist schools and creative writing courses apparently have been neglecting. Which is a pity.

Not everyone can have a friend on a book club selection board, but almost anyone can, with proper instruction and diligent practice, develop poor posture.

There is a sound physiological basis for arguing that bad posture is a vital force in literature. Most composition nowadays is done on a typewriter, and it has been scientifically established that when a person sits down at a typewriter his thoughts rush to his feet.

Sitting erectly with spine straight and shoulders square impedes the circulation of thought waves, which tend to follow a curved line, and prevents them from returning to the brain.

When I am at my typewriter, I try to overcome the natural inertia of thought waves by drawing my knees up under my chin in an approximation of the fetal position. This lessens the distance that the thought waves must travel vertically and provides a sinuous path from the feet to the brain.

Other newspapermen I know seek the same results of slumping into the chair and extending the legs as far under the desk as possible. This forms a horizontal plane over which thought waves can flow with relatively little gravitational resistance.

Actually, thought waves move most freely when the body is supine, but I don't recommend that. It gives passers-by the impression that the writer is taking a nap.

African Political Confederation Now Breaking Up

By PHIL NEWSOM

Within sound of the roar of majestic Victoria Falls, a noble experiment in partnership of the races is coming to a bitter but seemingly inevitable end.

It is the unfortunate lot of British Deputy Prime Minister R. A. (RAB) Butler to preside over the dissolution of the Central African Federation, founded 10 years ago by the government of Sir Winston Churchill without African consent and foundering now on African opposition.

With dissolution complete, Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland go their separate ways in independence.

It is Southern Rhodesia, where 233,000 whites rule 3,600,000 Africans, that is giving Britain its greatest headache of all the half-dozen former African possessions it has eased to independence and others for which independence is planned.

The white supremacy government of Prime Minister Winston Field is demanding independence for Southern Rhodesia at the moment it is granted to either of the other two.

Butler has served notice upon Field that there will be no independence until Southern Rhodesia amends its constitution to give Africans a voice in government.

In prospect could be another Algeria or the bloody violence such as the Mau Mau unleashed in Kenya before independence.

In Salisbury, capital of Southern Rhodesia, office space already is going begging as businessmen adjust to the coming changes. Copper companies are preparing to abandon Salisbury as their headquarters and move to Lusaka in Northern Rhodesia.

Southern Rhodesia also could be left out of the commonwealth which now gives its tobacco a trade preference.

Such are the grim prospects facing Southern Rhodesia, but its government shows no signs of change.

Colorado Smog Will Be Studied by Group

DENVER (UPI) — The state's smog situation will come before the eyes of the new Air Pollution Control Advisory Committee Wednesday.

The committee, appointed by Gov. John Love, will begin planning a statewide campaign against the city-bred polluted air, and also discuss results of four air pollution studies made in the state.

The committee's findings after a series of meetings will be presented to the Legislature next year.

During the depression the gross national product of the nation declined from $103 billion in 1929 to $56 billion in 1933.

STARVED WEEVILS

For the first time, entomologists have extracted the substance which makes cotton appetizing to boll weevils. This substance, called "arrestant," if it could be synthesized, could be used to treat other plants and induce boll weevils to lay their eggs where the newly - hatched larvae would starve, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

MEDESY ELEVATED

GRAND JUNCTION (UPI)—Dr. William A. Medesy, dean of Rangely College since May 1960, will succeed Dr. Horace J. Wubben as president of parent Mesa College here. Wubben is retiring after 26 years as Mesa's chief administrative officer.

In 1961 there were 2,000 fewer highway fatalities than 20 years ago, even though Americans drove 400 billion more miles than in 1941.

CORDLESS HEARING AID

ELMSFORD, N.Y. (special) —The famed acoustic engineers of Sonotone Corporation have developed the smallest hearing aid Sonotone ever made to help the deafened—in fact, it's one of the world's smallest!

Everything is worn in the ear for cordless hearing. There are no outside cords, tubes or wires. Nothing is worn anywhere else except in the ear.

To prove the new "Wisp-Ear"® can be worn in the ear, a limited number of plastic replicas are available FREE to examine in privacy. Those with hearing problems are urged to use coupon below to obtain a replica (not a hearing aid) which is the same size as the actual Sonotone.

This new hearing aid marvel climaxes 34 years of Sonotone research devoted to solving hearing problems. Now you can see for yourself just how small the "Wisp-Ear"® is and how easily it can be worn.

The actual "Wisp - Ear"® weighs less than 1/5 of an ounce, including tiny battery, and is smaller in diameter than a dime.

See an actual-size replica, yours free while they last. No cost or obligation.

INFORMATION GLEANED — It's seldom that an Academy Cadet Third Class has the opportunity to glean information from a three-star general with over 30 years military experience. In the case of Cadet Richard W. Lee, seated in an F-101 at Hamilton Air Force Base, California, however, such information has been afforded him all his life. Lieutenant General Robert M. Lee, Commander of the Air Defense Command, briefs his son on the role the F-101 plays in the air defense picture. Young Lee visited Hamilton, an Air Defense Command installation, last week in conjunction with Project Falcon, an Academy-sponsored field trip to major military installations throughout the country. AMA Cautions Ivy Poison Is No Joking Matter

Ivy poisoning is no joke.

The irritating juice from this lovely little plant puts hundreds in the hospital every summer and sends thousands more to physicians to get relief from the pain and itching. And countless hundreds of thousands suffer thru a light case of ivy poisoning without medical help.

In the United States, poison ivy can be anywhere — in fact, it is almost everywhere. The apartment dweller in the big city who takes an occasional Sunday stroll in the park can get it. Even if you stick to the walks your dog can bring back the volatile oils on his coat. Smoke from a neighbor's trash fire can waft droplets into your yard.

Poison ivy and its close kin poison oak are three-leafed climbing plants. On the ground they are about a foot high. Usually they climb walls, trees, fences. Sometimes they mix in with honeysuckle and other climbing plants, and are very hard to detect.

Poison sumac is a small shrub with small white berries.

Whether it's ivy, oak or sumac, the results are about the same—a stinging, itching patch or blisters. If the rash gets into the eyes, or spreads over a considerable portion of the body, it can become serious.

There is no simple cure for poison ivy. Lotions and ointments can help to ease the discomfort while the ailment runs its course. Don't waste your money on a quack remedy that claims it will cure poison ivy. It won't.

The best precaution is to know how to recognize the plants and avoid them. Any good nature history book and many encyclpedias have photos. The main thing to watch for is the three-leafed twig.

If you have been exposed, wash thoroly, several times, with warm water and plenty of soap. You might be able to get some of the oil off before it begins to irritate the skin.

Very few people are immune. Some, because they've never had a rash, think so. They've just been lucky. Of course, some people are more susceptible than others, and these unlucky individuals get rash almost every summer.

Search your lawn and garden for suspicious three-leafed plants. Dig out the plant, root and all, and dispose of it carefully. Clean the hoe and rake thoroly. And wash your hands right away.

Marine Soldier Visits Region on 20-Day Leave

Marine Pvt. Charles C. Peebles, son of Mrs. Kirby Kimberlin of 1330 N. Prospect, is visiting in the Pikes Peak Region on a 20-day leave from the U.S. Marine Corps.

Pvt. Peebles has just completed three months of recruit training at San Diego and a month of individual combat and advanced weapons instruction at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

At the end of his leave he will report to the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, for further assignment next month to the First Marine Brigade in Hawaii.

Peebles joined the Marine Corps in January, leaving for active duty on Feb. 26.

Health Insurance Held by Majority Of Americans

More than 141 million Americans — 76 per cent of the civilian population — had some form of health insurance at the end of 1962, the Health Insurance Council said recently in reporting on its 17th annual survey of the extent of voluntary health insurance coverage in the United States.

The survey is based on repotrs from insurance companies, government agencies, and medical societies, and conservative Council estimates for Blue Cross, Blue Shield organizations.

The Council said both the number of persons covered, and the amount of benefits paid by health insurance, reached new highs last year. Coverage increased 4.6 million during 1962 to reach a total of 141,151,000.

Benefit payments by all health insuring organizations to help cover the cost of hospital, surgical and medical care amounted in 1962 to nearly $6.2 billion, up $629 million over 1961, said the Council.

In addition, persons with loss-of-income policies received $906 million in benefits from insurance companies to replace income lost through disability.

Thus, a grand total of $7,077,000,000 in health insurance benefits were distributed during 1962, up 10.6 per cent over 1961.

A breakdown of the number of persons with health insurance at the end of 1962, by type of coverage and type of insuring organization (based on the various reports to the Council, and the Council Shield), follows.

Hospital expense insurance was provided by insurance companies to 85,174,000 persons; by Blue Cross-Blue Shield and similar groups to 60,280,000, and by other health care plans to 6,993,000.

After deducting persons protected by more than one type of insuring organization, the Council reported that 141,151,000 persons had hospital insurance, a 3.4 per cent increase over the 136,522,000 persons so covered at the end of 1961.

Surgical expense insurance by insurance companies covered 81,983,000 persons; by Blue Cross-Blue Shield and similar groups 51,769,000, and by others 8,241,000. Allowing for duplication, 131,185,000 persons had surgical insurance, a 3.3 per cent boost over the 126,940,000 persons of 1961.

Regular medical expense insurance accounted for 48,093,000 persons through Blue Cross- Blue Shield and similar groups; 47,010,000 through insurance company programs, and 8,343,000 through other plans for a total, eliminating duplications, of 98,204,009 persons, a 4.2 per cent climb over the 94,209,000 persons in 1961.

Major medical expense insurance company program increased 12 per cent, from 34,138,000 to 38,250,000 persons. Major medical insurance is designed to help absorb the cost of serious illnesses, and pays benefits up to $10,000, $15,000 or more for all areas of care prescribed by a physician.

Loss of income insurance saw 33,602,000 persons covered by insurance company policies. The number of persons who work where there are formal sick leave arrangements brought the total figure to 44,902,000 persons, a 4.3 per cent climb over 1961.

Japanese Don't Trust Stork to Finish Job

KOBE, Japan (UPI) — Japan has decided that the stork can't be trusted to deliver its own babies.

Two of the big birds—very rare in Japan—had been trying to hatch four eggs in the Toyooka district near here—but ornithologists weren't taking any chances.

They placed the eggs in incubators at Kyoto Zoo to be hatched.

Rodeo Parade To Be Shorter But Better

To make this year's Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo parade "half as long and twice as good" as previous ones is the announced aim of the Chamber of Commerce Committee in charge, which met last week. The date of the parade is Aug. 8.

It is also announced that commercialism will be eliminated from the parade, as will nondescript riders. The theme of the parade will be "Winning of the West."

Application blanks and written rules and regulations for the parade are available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Blood Fats Elevated in Coronary-Prone Group

Elevated blood fat levels have been found in coronary-prone, highly competitive persons compared with those in low-pressure occupations.

The level of several fats in the blood, including cholesterol, was determined in 10 men displaying competitive behavior and in 10 men who did not exhibit such characteristics in a study reported by Drs. Ray H. Rosenman and Meyer Friedman, San Francisco, in a recent Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Each of the men in the first group occupied a position not necessarily of top executive character but invariably demanding extreme competitive activity and associated with habitual exposure to deadlines, such as managing and city editors of newspapers and corporate executives directly engaged in highly competitive activities of merchandising or engineering," they said.

This behavior pattern has previously been associated with a high prevalence of coronary disease, they said.

The converse of these criteria were used to select the other 10 men, they said.

"Their occupations, which demanded neither competitive activity nor preoccupation with deadlines, including municipal emploment in clerical or accounting duties, embalming, and routine bookkeeping," they said.

The average age, height, and weight of the two groups were closely similar, the physicians said. The overall weekly average of physical activity was not significantly different, they said, and the average daily intake of total calories and various foodstuffs, was closely similar in the two groups.

An analysis of the data revealed that 12 men were considered to have a relatively greater potential to develop coronary disease than the others, the authors said. Of these 12, 9 were in the competitive group, they said. On the other hand, seven men who had the lowest potential were in the noncompetitive group, they said.

The potential for development of coronary disease was based on the assumption that the fats studied are causative factors of the disease, they said.

The authors are affiliated with the Harold Brunn Institute, Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center, San Francisco.

Mrs. Andrews has worked at Ent Air Force Base since coming here from California five years ago. She has been employed at NORAD headquarters for the past three years.

Your Outdoors

By MARY SHIRER

For the Pikes Peak Group of the Colorado Mountain Club

Your Country

"My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty". How many times have American people sung this patriotic song? There is so much to this song and every word has so much depth and feeling. Have we stopped to think of the meaning of words of this song? We sing it many times on many occasions never thinking of its real significance. "Land of the Pilgrim's pride, from every mountain side, let freedom ring" I love thy rocks and rills, thy woods and templed hills. Let heart with rapture thrills like that above."

For those of us who love the outdoors can really appreciate those words. The author of this song possessed a deep love for his country. From the very earliest days of our country, people have fought and died for our country, and still do and will continue to as long as America exists, "Sweet land of liberty." The words of the song is what men fight for. Today we live in the land of freedom and every American is striving to keep it so. It is wonderful and beautiful country to live in, yet there are those whom are trying to destroy it. In fact the whole world is wonderful but for power they seek to ruin nations. We all want the principles of liberty, democracy and brotherhood to live for generations to come. Liberty like day, breaks on the horizon, lighting up the whole sky in wonderful splendor.

After all it is liberty that gives the flower its life, its lustre and fragrance. Nature gives freedom to all plant life so it can push thru the ground and with sunlight and moisture the plant grows and matures. What if nature would fail us and plants woud cease? What a sad place this world would be. Our country has always provided us with abundant food, beauty of flowers, trees and all growing things.

We have beautiful scenery in every part of the world-mountains, rivers, oceans, mighty water falls and great wonders all about us. All the time we are enjoying this country of ours there are men working in laboratories on scientific measures for future protection. Defense measures are continually improved. We must be on the alert for the safety of our country for other countries are working desperately hard with weapons to desroy.

How beautiful is all this world and how glorious in its action! The moon, the sun, the stars and planets seem to move smoothly as tho someone had turned on the switch. No, we do not want to see our small portion of it destroyed. One must see ugly scars in Europe forever. We abhor the ravages of earth quakes, fires and floods but these are caused by nature out of control and man cannot do one thing about it. But when man seeks to destroy, he is taking matters in his own hands which is against the laws of nature and the laws of God. Going back to the great hymn America "Long may our land be bright with freedom's holy light: protect us by thy might, great God our King."

Federal Tax Tips

By ROGER E. WARD
Administrative Representative
Internal Revenue Service

Why are numbers required for tax purposes? Because to names are required to properly identify taxpayers' accounts. The proper identifying number makes possible the use of electronic data processing equipment to improve and strengthen tax administration.

What types of taxpayer identifying numbers are there? Answer: They are two types of taxpayer identifying numbers: the account number used by individuals (usually the social security account number) and the employer identification number. The latter number will be used by business or legal entities such as corporations, trusts, estates, partnerships, etc., and by individuals in connection with their business.

Why are social security numbers and employer identification numbers being used for this purpose? It is economical and convenient to do so since over 90 per cent of individual taxpayers already have a social security number and about 4 million business entites use employer identification numbers on employment and excise tax returns.

Will my account number be changed if I marry? No. The account number is permanently assigned to you as an individual to identify your income tax account and, if you have one, your social security account. You should notify the Social Security Administration (15 South Weber St.) of your change of name to make certain of proper identification.

After I receive my account number, will I be covered under social security program and entitled to future social securi'y number is for identifying purposes only. The assignment of an account number for tax purposes does not necessarily indicate coverate under the social security program or present or future entitlement to benefits under the Social Security Act.

What should I do if I ever acquire more than one account number? Notify the Social Security Administration at 15 S. Weber St., and you will be advised as to which number to use.

More on the use of identifying numbers by individuals next week. In the meantime if you have any questions regarding the use of numbers contact our local office at 636-5171, now located in our new location at 521 S. Tejon St. (directly across from the State Department of Revenue).

Ranch to Sponsor Open Gymkhana Tuesday Nights

Crystal Valley Ranch will sponsor an open gymkhana each Tuesday night at 8 p.m. thruout the summer beginning this week.

The weekly event will be held at the El Paso County Sheriff's Posse grounds on Crystal Park Road.

Events included in the gymkhana each Tuesday will be barrel racing, pole bending, keyhole race, flag race and 75-yard up-and-back race.

Children and adults thruout the region are invited to participate in the gymkhana at no charge.

In 1945 there were 11.5 deaths per 100 million miles driven. In 1962 that rate had been cut to 5.2, the lowest ever, oil company statistics show.

Seminarian Will Speak at Local Church

"The Rich Man and Lazarus" is the sermon topic chosen by Mr. Robert Fiol, as he speaks tonight at the 7:00 o'clock Worship Service at Evangelical Presbyterian Church, 2511 North Logan Ave.

Mr. Fiol is currently serving as summer assistant to Rev. William B. Leonard, Jr., pastor of the Evangelical Presbyterian Church, and is a "Middler" at Covennat Theological Seminary at St. Louis, Missouri.

The son of Presbyterian Missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fiol, who have served in India for 25 years, Bob was born in Kanpur, India, and received his early training in the Mission School, followed by College and now Seminary training at Covenant.

His present plans call for his return to India this coming year for practical theologhy and missionary apprentice-ship in various fields as preparation for his return to Seminary the following year.

Sunday morning Reverend Leonard will speak on "The Tree of Life" at double Worship Services at 8:15 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. Communion will be observed at both services, with reception of New Members. Nursery care is provided, with Beginners' Church Services for children through the 4th grades. Visitors are welcome at all services.

Sunday School for all ages convenes at 9:30 a.m., with classes for every age from toddler thru grandparents. Youth Fellowship and Leadership Training Classes meet at 6:00 p.m. each Sunday evening for all young people.

This week, all high school and college agers are meeting at the National Evangelical Presbyterian Youth Fellowship Conference currently at Bear Trap Ranch under the direction of Reverend Leonard, with Dr. Robert Rayburn of Covenant College and Seminary as Bible Teacher for the week of the Conference, Wednesday thru tenth, and a staff of youth leaders from across the nation.

Mrs. Maria Solano Dies; Services in Alamosa

Mrs. Maria Eolise Solano, wife of Hubert Solano, 510 S. Prospect St., died Saturday at a local hospital. She had formerly lived in Walsenburg and Alamosa and had been a resident of Colorado Springs only a year and seven months. She was a member of the Catholic Church.

Mrs. Solano was born in Walsenburg, Oct. 10, 1926. Besides her husband she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Emilia Cruz, of Alamosa; a sister, Mrs. Clorinda Keller, Colorado Springs; four brothers, Max and Adelfo Espinoza, Alamosa, and Ben and Leonardo Espinoza, Colorado Springs, and a niece, Connie Trujillo, Denver.

Rosary services will be held Monday evening in Alamosa. A requiem mass will be celebrated in Alamosa Tuesday. Burial will be in the Spanish Cemetery in Alamosa. The Law Mortuary has charge of local arrangements.

SHOWED HIS SUBPOENA

MIAMI (AP) — A prospective juror asked Circuit Judge Robert Anderson if he could be excused because "I've just had an operation and shouldn't sit too long at a time."

Judge Anderson asked, "Let's see your subpoena."

The prospective juror unbuttoned his belt and exposed a scar before bailiffs could stop him and explain what the judge wanted to see.

Future Citizens To Get Aid From AFA Service

Future citizens of the United States are going to get a helping hand from Air Force Academy Family Services.

A total of 14 non-citizens have signed up for the American Citizenship Course — third one conducted by Family Services — scheduled to open Monday.

Mrs. Jean Landers will be instructor.

Past graduates of the course reported the program a big help in preparing for the naturalization exam — and that's its basic aim, Mrs. Landers said.

Subjects to be covered include the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, history of our country and government, voting and qualifications for public office, and responsibilities of a citizen.

Altho most "students" enrolled in the course are dependents of military personnel, it is open to all non-citizens.

Registration may be made by calling 472-3787 or by mail to DCSP-2. The course will last approximately six weeks.

Decorative Housepaint Presents Hazard

A decorative houseplant, termed Dieffenbachia and sometimes called "dumb cane," can produce "alarmingly severe" symptoms if taken into the mouth, two Cleveland physicians warn.

A child or uninformed adult could be subjected to unnecessary sickness or death by ingestion of this common potted plant, Drs. George Drach and Walter H. Maloney said in a recent Journal of the American Medical Association.

Ingestion may result in severe corrosive burns of the mouth, throat, esophagus and stomach, they said. Generalized complications arise from absorption of its main toxic component, oxalate, they said.

The number of these plants present in homes can scarcely be estimated and Dieffenbachia also is used in public places, the physicians said.

Bar Association Told To Seek Law Revision

DENVER (UPI)—A Denver District Court judge Friday called for a revision of unwieldy state criminal statutes—and said the Colorado Bar Association should be the motivating force.

Judge Edward J. Keating made his remarks during a courtroom hearing where a lawyer appeared for a 24-year-old Denver man who earlier had pleaded guilty to a burglary charge.

The attorney, Virginia Malloy, asked that Keating send Anthony M. Martinez to a hospital for treatment of narcotics addiction—not to prison.

Keating said the law makes no such provision, and "it's up to you and the rest of that group (the bar association) to get the Legislature to change the laws."

He postponed disposition of the Martinez case until next Thursday.

U.S. Denies Part in Viet Nam Coup

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The U.S. embassy "flatly, officially and unequivocally" denied today there was any American involvement in an attempted coup d'eat against President Ngo Dinh Diem's government in 1960.

The charge arose yesterday in a military tribunal trying rebel South Vietnamese officers who led the attempted coup. The 19 defendants had been awaiting trial in prison for more than 2½ years.

The three-man tribunal judged itself competent to try the defendants for treason in addition to domestic insurrection, on grounds that it had proof of foorеign support for the coup.

In a closed session, prosecutors were reported to have produced an unsigned letter in French to an American named Carvert. The letter, purportedly from one of the coup leaders, complained that Carvert had failed to give coup leaders certain support he had promised.

The U.S. Embassy identified Carvert as an official of the U.S. aid mission who had served in Viet Nam in 1960. The embassy said neither Carvert nor any other American had helped the rebels.

Wallace Proposes Goal of 80 Million Jobs in Nation

SOUTH SALEM, N.Y. (UPI) — Henry A. Wallace, whose 1945 plan to provide 60 million jobs drew derisive hoots from skeptical congressmen, said Saturday the nation should aim now for "at least 80 million in 1970."

The fiery elder statesman and former farm bloc spokesman also suggested decentralization of industry as an answer to the unemployment problem.

Wallace took time out from "having fun planting some strawbery seeds" at his home here to comment on the Labor Department's announcement that the number of employed Americans passed the 70 million mark for the first time in June.

"My only error was in underestimating," he told UPI. "My plan was all laid out in my book (Sixty Million Jobs, published in 1946).

"I suggested three plans for furnishing the necessary jobs—through private enterprise, a certain amount of government participation or an intermediate one of both.

"Oh, there was lots of skepticism then," said the 74-year-old Wallace who served four years as vice president under Franklin D. Roosevelt before heading up the Commerce Department.

"One senator — I won't mention his name — even went on the air and said there couldn't be more than 54 million jobs."

But Wallace admitted even he was surprising by the spiraling economy. And what most surprised him, he said, "was the amount Congress would be willing to go in government financing."

"It was higher than I ever envisioned in my most extreme plans," said Wallace. He declined to comment on the value of this, saying, "That's not my job. I just forecast the outcome."

But he maintained his original thesis that the nation would have to provide 8 to 10 million new jobs per decade remains basically correct. However, he said it had to be revised today "with all these war babies coming on the market."

"Today," said Wallace, "we should shoot for 80 million jobs in 1970 and perhaps over 10 million more by 1980."

How to meet the unemployment problem underlined in June's figures which sowed a 200,000 increase in unemployed over last June?

"Decentralization of industry," said Wallace. "It is needed from both the social and national security point of view."

Wallace said dispersal of industry would help reach "people off the farm" with jobs and prevent dangerous situations in increasingly crowded urban areas.

Guard in Utah Handles Unique Freedom Academy

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI) —Utah's thriving "Freedom Academy" ranks as one of the nation's top cram-courses for high school boys on the threat of communism.

The prgram will be three years old this summer. It is a project in which military men teach civilians about national survival. The money to carry it out comes from private sources, but the Utah National Guard handles the classes.

Maj. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, who set up the Freedom Academy program in 1961, believes the first two years have brought "excelent" response with a minimum of criticism.

High school juniors from every school in the state are invited to the Academy at Camp Williams, the National Guard's main training site near Salt Lake City. The instruction lasts five days in August.

Life at the camp is divided between courses in appreciation of American ideals and traditions, the history of the rise and spread of communism, plus time out for swimming and sports.

"There is no hard-core Prussian-type military training at the Academy," says Rich. The students do stand at formation in the morning and evening to watch the raising and lowering of the flag, but there is no military drill.

Enrollment was about 57 boys the first year and 130 the second. The juniors go back to school in the fall and present reports to other students on what they learned.

Rich, who is Utah's adjutant general, discounted criticism from some quarters that the Freedom Academy amounts to military indoctrination in political theory.

"It certainly is everyone's responsibility to alert the nation," he declares. "We are not trying to set up military control here. Most of the instructors are part-time officers who have civilian businesses and not regular, full-time military men."

Man With Green Beard Seen Long Way Off

BOISE, Idaho (UPI)—It used to be that Barney Wozniak, a state promotion man here, could be spotted a block away by his pink face and white hair.

But now Barney has an emerald green beard and you can see him coming for miles.

Wozniak took three hours out of life to dye his brush, then insured it for $1,000.

"Keep Idaho Green" is his job with the U.S. Forest Service. His green beard also is a practical joke on the Idaho Territorial Centennial.

"I thought I'd just advertise 'Keep Idaho Green'," he said. Then, flipping the whiskers with his thumb, he said what's taken the minds of most Idaho women today: "Isn't it crazy?"

A number of patriotic Idaho wives have forsaken their dislike to stubbles so their husbands can turn in a hand to celebrate the centennial!

Some funny things have happened as a result.

Beauty salon operators are understandably hesitant to admit this—but some of these men hiding behind the centennial brush are fading into beauty salons when dusk has shaded the front windows.

Some of the salons admit to curling, brushing, tinting and cutting the beards.

"If you advertise this," said one operator, "You'll ruin our trade. This is all supposed to be top secret."

The grapevine has the names of the salons where one can go if he finds too much gray or stiffness in his growth.

Another salon admits selling false whiskers for men having trouble sporuting brush or trouble with the Mrs. A group from this salon made a beard for Gov. Robert E. Smylie after watching him for 30 minutes on a television show.

It doesn't fit. And Smylie doesn't wear it, even for fun.

"It falls down and doesn't look very good on me," said Smylie.

Grant Morrison, a Boise barber, says he has qualified in trimming beards but his clientele is slack. He claims a man with a beard should go to a man for its trimming.

But for all this, a lady in Twin Falls, Idaho, dislikes the bearded parody of the ancestors.

Perhaps the beard would have perpetuated if the oldtimer had cared as much for his brush as this generation in Idaho is doing.

Flores Says He Is Going Back To Far North

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — Ralph Flores, who spent seven weeks stranded in the frozen wastes of the Yukon Territory when his plane crashed, is going back to the Far North.

The San Bruno pilot said yesterday he planned to return to his job in Alaska today. He is an electrician on the Dew Line radar system, and will finish his year's duty at Barmain in the Arctic Circle.

Flores was flying from Whitehorse in the Yukon to the United States last Feb. 4 with 21-year-old Helen Klaben of New York when his plane crashed. Near starvation and injured, the two were found in March.

Saying he's now in excellent shape, Flores added he plans to do some flying in the future.

County Sends Two Retarded Tots to Provate Center

Two severely handicapped children, who are wards of El Paso County, from Colorado Springs, have been sent to the privately owned Maryville Center in Englewood.

One is a 7-year-old boy who is a victim of internal birth defects and the other is a 3-year-old girl with diffused brain damage.

The two from Colorado Springs were sent to the private institution along with two other handicapped children in the state who have been on public welfare rolls.

The decision of the county welfare departments to send the wards to Maryville Center means that the children will be given long-term medical help without the expensive hospitalization usually involved in such cases, according to James Smith, administrator of the 100 bed Maryville Center which opened just this year.

"We are glad to meet these emergency problems of the counties," Smith said. "These four cases have been undertaken by us because of the serious nature of their problems and the long waiting list at the state homes for mentally retarded at Ridge and Grand Junction.

Kennedy Sends New Message to Nikita

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Kennedy, in a message of thanks to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for his Independence Day greetings, has made a new appeal for world peace, the official news agency Tass reported Saturday.

Tass said Kennedy sent Khrushchev and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev a telegram thanking them for their own message of congratulations on the U. S. July 4 holiday.

"Today the desire for peace is more urgent than ever. The world had long passed that time when conflict can be the solution to international problems," Tass quoted Kennedy's message as saying.

Tass said Kennedy wrote he shared the desire of Khrushchev and Brezhnev that "we move forward with understanding toward the solution of those key problems which divide us.

"I am hopeful that world peace, just and lasting, can be achieved."

They will be teaching in several of the adult and youth classes, working with the youth twice weekly, assisting with Sunday worship services, calling on youth, prospective members, homebound and inactive members of the church. They will be attending Board and committee meetings in order to learn each phase of church work. The three men are residing at 1924½ N. Tejon St.

Baptists Refuse To Renew Lease For VA Office

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Baptists have refused to renew an office lease in Dallas to the Veterans' Administration. An official explained that President Kennedy's equal employment opportunity rules for government office space have not yet been fully written.

The lease was for office space in a downtown building at 511 N. Akard owned by the Southern Baptist Convention.

General Services Administration (GSA) officials said they are looking for a new home for the VA office.

Dr. R. Alton Reed, executive secretary for the Southern Baptists' annuity board, explaining yesterday why a new bid was not submitted to furnish space for the VA, said:

"We cannot bind ourselves to rules and regulations which haven't yet been written down.

"It is a question of liabilities that could result — especially with governmental regulations which are yet to be formulated, and with which compliance might prove impossible."

Under terms of the new bid submitted by the GSA, the inclusion of a clause is required which makes the landlord subject to further regulations which may come out of the preuident's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity — as well as present regulations, Reed said.

Burglars Loot Westside Store Of Radios, Tools

Burglars stole almost $500 worth of hardware tools and transistor radios from Schoch's Hardware, 2522 W. Colorado Ave., between 12 noon Thursday and 2:40 a.m. Friday.

Owner E. W. Schoch told the Colorado Springs Police Department that items missing amounted to $495.97, plus an indeterminate number of other things.

Schoch's inventory of the stolen items included a $125 Ace tap and die set in a metal cabinet.

Other items missing are: Fairchild quarter-inch drill set in cabinet; Sunbeam quarter-inch drill set; two ½-inch S and K socket sets; two Stanley wood planes; half-inch proven drill in box; Weller soldering iron in box; Sands brand wood and brass masonry level four feet long; GE square 20-inch blue three-speed window fan; Sunbeam electric aluminum skillet; large two-burner Coleman camping stove in green metal case; Columbian vice four-inch jaw, 3½ inches wide; four Disston hand saws; one Arvin six-transistor radio in blue metal case; one United Royal transistor radio; one Channel Master five-transter radio with white face in a brown case; Channel Master seven-transistor radio in a black case; Channel Master larger shortwave radio; one Samson watch radio; six-transistor gold and silver metal case; one damaged broken radio display rack.

Schoch said the burglars had not vandalized the store, and had not touched the contents of a cash register.

Discovery of the burglary was made about 4:30 a.m. Friday by Charles Denny of 1001 S. Institute St., a carrier for the Rocky Mountain News. Denny told police he was leaving papers at the front door of the store and accidentally leaned against it, finding it open. He called police immediately, who called Schoch to the store.

Schoch told police he had last been in the store at noon on July 4.

Allott Charges Red Subversion Is Increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said Saturday that Communist subversive activity emanating from Cuba would continue to increase in Latin America until the United States takes "a firm and positive attitude" to clear it out.

Since last fall's Soviet missile crisis, he said, "we have seen more deterioration in Latin American . . . than ever before." He said it would continue until positive steps were taken to check it and not simply contain it.

In a recorded television program, Allott kept up the recently intensified Republican attack on Kennedy administration policies toward Cuba and Castro-led attempts to subvert other Latin American countries.

In another radio-television program earlier Saturday with Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, Allott also rejected arguments that his proposal for recognizing a Cuban government-in-exile at Guantanamo Bay, site of a big U. S. naval base, would violate treaties under which the base was set up.

Allott said economic and diplomatic pressures on Cuba so far represented only a "policy of containment and a very, very weak policy of a containment at that." He said his proposal for recognition of a government-in-exile at Guantanamo would be an effective step toward eventually bringing down the regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

Allott said "some of the best international lawyers" were convinced such a move would not violate any threaty. He said it was "the only possible thing that can capture the imagination of the Cuban exiles and bring them together."

Miller agreed with Allott that this would help unify Cuban exiles and pave the way for better and closer contacts with anti-Castro groups on the island.

Alleged Killer And Kidnaper Is Captured

By JOHN H. LAVIN

LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — Four policmen Saturday captured Richard (Teddy) Coleman, accused of shooting to death his wife and sister-in-law, wounding three other persons and kidnaping an 18-year-old girl.

The girl, Mary Kaminski, bleeding from head cuts and hysterical, had been released about a half hour earlier in nearby Elizabeth

Coleman, 32, a Negro, was caputred by the Newark policemen on Route 1 near Newark Airport, four miles north of Linden. They found a fully loaded 38-caliber revolver on the car seat and a loaded 25-caliber automatic in Coleman's left pocket.

After about three hours of questioning, Coleman told newsmen, "I'm very tired, I'm sorry about the whole mess." When asked the abduction and molesting of the girl, Coleman didn't answer but choked back a sob.

Police said the prisoner declined to discuss the incidents. He was to be arraigned before a Newark magistrate for Linden authorities.

Police said Coleman had struck the Kaminski girl on the head half a dozen times with one of the weapons. The girl, who is white, was found by Elizabeth patrolmen Joseph Sheridan and Joseph Brennan. She was running hysterically on Magnolia Street just minutes after she had been released.

Matted blood was in her hair and on her white blouse and Bermuda shorts. She was taken to Elizabeth General Hospital. Police said she may have been raped.

The girl told the officers the direction in which Coleman was driving when he left her. They notified Newark police and minutes later two detectives saw the car Coleman was driving. They radioed ahead to a patrol car on stake out and Coleman's car was trapped between the two police cruisers.

Detective George Quackenbush said he and the other three officers approached the car with guns drawn and he placed his revolver at Coleman's head. The fugitive raised his hands and offered no resistance, the detective said.

Police said Coleman had wounded his brother and two other persons after shooting his wife and sister-in-law Friday. He forced the Kaminski girl to accompany him as a hostage after holding her family at bay with two pistols for four hours.

Police said Coleman 10th graf 106, 9th graf TA21, TA15.

FOUR CHAMPS QUALIFIED

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Eight former U.S. Open champion played in this year's National Open at The Country Club but only four of them qualified for the final 36-holes.

Former winners in the final two rounds were Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Gene Littler and Ed Furgol. Littler and Furgol qualified with 152s, which was the cutoff point.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus and ex-winners Tommy Bolt and Jack Fleck all missed the cut by one shot with 153. Dick Meyer missed out by three shots.

Robert Jackson Training at Ft. Monmouth

Private Robert Jackson, son of Mrs. Maxine Jackson of 622 West Pikes Peak St., was today training as a radar technician at the U. S. Army Signal School [illegible]. He began the intensive 33-weeks course on June 11.

Admission to the Signal School is limited to men of outstanding promise in the field of electronics.

Classed as a technical institute, the school gives training in the operation, maintenance, and repair of almost forty different types of equipment, from radio and radar sets to "electronic brains."

A yearly average of 6,600 enlisted men are selected for such training. All are chosen from among the Army's best in point of intelligence, educational attainments, and practical ability.

Somewhat more than 90 per cent are high school graduates, and 21 per cent have completed one or more years at engineering school or college.

The Signal School courses vary in length. All are designed to qualify the enlisted student for higher rank and more responsible duties in the Army and, incidentally, to equip him for high-level technical work after leaving the Army.

Political Fraud Charges Echoed Thru Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Charges of political fraud flew here in advance of a general election scheduled today. Foes of President Jose Maria Guido's militarily guided regime are urging their followers to cast blank ballots.

Opposition ire centers on a presidential decree of May 17 banning supporters of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron, an exile in Spain, from running for the presidency or other executive offices. The Peronists are limited to seeking legislative posts.

Balloting is compulsory in Argentina. More than 11 million men and women will vote, many in fear and confusion, for a new chief executive and a complete set of national, provincial and municipal authorities.

But at least a third of them will vote blank if they heed the last-minute calls of their political mentors.

The 62 pro-Peronist unions which control the 2.5 million-strong General Confederation of Labor, denounced the election as a government-inspired fraud in calling for the casting of blank ballots.

Last-minute abstention orders were issued by the pro-Peronist National and Popular Front, made up of seven parties, and by its Peron-backed candidate for the presidency, Vicente Solano Lima.

A similar call came from ex-President Arturo Frondizi. He was deposed by the military in April 1962 because he allowed the Peronists a limited role in an election for the first time since Peron was overthrown in 1955 and they went on to score sweeping victories. Frondizi is a prisoner at the Andean resort town of Bariloche.

Dr. Raul Matera, the presidential candidate of the Christian Democratic party, also called for blank votes. And Gen. Leon Justo Bengoa, a Peronist sympathizer currently heading his own national movement, announced he will pull out unless the government postpones the election.

The major candidates left in the race for the presidency were:

Gen. Pedro Eugenio Aramburu, a former provisional president, who is backed by the six-month-old Union of the Argentine People and the old, left-of-center Progressive Democratic party.

Dr. Arturo Illia, a mild physician from the hills of Cordoba Province, heading the People's Radical Civic Union ticket.

Dr. Oscar Alende, another physician, who is a former governor of Buenos Aires Province. He is supported by one faction of the Intransigent Radical Civil Union, which Frondizi founded. The party's other faction is in the Peronist front.

Personalines

Mrs. W. Thayer Tutt and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tutt will leave this week for Ashland, Ohio, to attend the wedding of Miss Frances Campbell of Ashland, and William Bullard Tutt of Flint, Mich. The ceremony will take place Saturday, July 13 in the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Miss Campbell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Campbell of Ashland. Mr. Tutt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leaming Tutt Jr., formerly of Colorado Springs, now of Flint. He is the grandson of the late Mr. Charles Leaming Tutt of Broadmoor.

Miss Campbell will be attended by her sister Susan as maid of honor, and her younger sisters, Nancy and Joan, will be junior bridesmaids. Miss Barbara Hartung of Long Island will also be a bridesmaid.

Charles L. Tutt III, brother of the bridegroom-to-be will be head usher, and best man will be Robert Scott Brown of Cincinnati.

A reception for 300 guests will be held at the Ashland Country Club.

The newlyweds will spend their honeymoon in Colorado Springs, after which they will make their home at the Grand Imperial Hotel in Silverton, Colo.

Among other out-of-town guests at the wedding will be Mrs. Shove Palmer, godmother of Mr. Tutt, formerly of Colorado Springs. She now resides in Princeton, N. J.

Mrs. Paul H. Brown and daughters, Stacey, Jodie and Stephanie arrived by plane this week from Fremont, Calif., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dairy. She is the former Debbie Dairy.

While here she will attend the wedding of her brother, David Dairy who will wed Miss Betty Donahue of Columbia, S. C. Friday, July 5, at Shove Memorial Chapel.

Mrs. Brown and the children plan to remain here for a month.

Miss Mary Lynn Moss, whose marriage to Addison P. Kilibarda of Des Moines, Iowa took place Saturday, July 6, has been the inspiration for a number of pre-nuptial parties. Mrs. Robert Meyers of 618 W. Brookside gave a kitchen shower and was assisted by Jeanette Rowe. Prizes were won by Miss Mary Gott, Mrs. Joe Bishop, Mrs. Adolphus Eglitis and Miss Moss.

A brunch was given for the families on June 22 by Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hale of Boulder.

Miss Elaine Trichak, who will be a bridesmaid, gave a miscellaneous shower on June [illegible]. Prizes for games played during the evening went to Mrs. Thomas Falgien, Mrs. A. A. Wolfgang and Mrs. Dale Thero.

Mrs. Raymond Ashmun and Mrs. Eugene McMullen entertained with a luncheon and linen shower at the Pinehurst Country Club in Denver.

Mrs. James Cudmore and Mrs. William Cudmore of Denver were co-hostesses at a luncheon at the El Paso Club Friday, July 5. Guests, in addition to the honoree, were Mrs. Dale Thero, and Miss Maureen Cudmore of Denver; Mr. Frank Wilibarda Sr. of Des Moines; Mrs. Frank Kilibarda Jr. of Council Bluffs, Iowa; Miss Gretchen Kilibarda and Miss Kathleen Stanosheck of Omaha; Miss Elaine Trichak, Mrs. Ralph Moss, Miss Kathleen Moss and Miss Mary Lou Moss.

A bridal dinner was given for Miss Linda Sue Henesey of Mound City, Kan., and M. Keith Stump of Colorado Springs, preceding their recent marriage in Mound City. Twenty-seven guests were served at a U-shaped table at the Fort Scott Country Club, where yellow and white carnations centered the table and yellow tapers in silver candelabra lighted the scene.

Among the guest were Miss Dorothy Lund and Jim Lund of Colorado Springs, and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Stump, formerly of Colorado Springs, now of Hutchinson Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Olsen of 122 Beatrice St., Mountain View, Calif., are the parents of a baby girl, Randi Printup Olsen, born June 30 at the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

Mrs. Olsen, the former Nancy Hulbert, is the daughter of Mrs. F. F. Wing of Colorado Springs, who is visiting the Olsens at this time. She will return the middle of July.

Mrs. Fred Hoebel and daughter, Alice, and Miss Ann Stattelman have been recent guests at Chalfonte-Haddon Hall in Atlantic City, N.J.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville A. Beatty of 2436 N. Wahsatch Ave. will celebrate their thirtieth wedding anniversary today. The couple moved to Colorado Springs from Kokomo, Ind. in 1954. They were married July 7, 1933, in Kokomo, with the Rev. J. F. Baughman officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Beatty have a daughter, Sue, who is a senior at Wasson High School, and a son Robert, 28, who is married and lives in Marion, Ind., and has four children, Kevin, Danny, Cindy and Ronald Jr.

Mrs. Beatty, the former Thelma Shrock, was born in Young America, Ind., and Mr. Beatty was born in Gas City, Ind. Mrs. Beatty's mother, Mrs. Arthur Pickard still resides in Kokomo. Mr. Beatty is employed by Aircraft Mechanics, and Mrs. Beatty has been with the J. C. Penney company for 8½ years. Both are members of the Southgate Church of the Nazarene.

Jay Scott Vickerman Weds Miss Barbara Neal Cross

St Edmund's Episcopal Church in San Marino, Calif. was the scene of the wedding of Miss Barbara Neal Cross of San Marino, and 2nd Lt. Jay Scott Vickerman of Colorado Springs, at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, July 6. The Rev. William Aaron Driver officiated.

Arrangements of white gladioli, stock and delphinium against woodwardia fern trees were placed on either side of the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gale Cross of San Marino and Robert Csoss of Ann Arbor, Mich. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Vickerman of 1718 N. Prospect St., Colorado Springs.

Robert J. Bauer, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. Her gown of white silk organza over bouquet taffeta was made with bell skirt and detachable chapel train. The Sabrina neckline and her veil of silk illusion fell from a Swedish crown of Alencon lace petals embroidered with seed pearls. Her cascade bouquet was of Eucharis lilies combined with stephanotis and centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Rolland Moody, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. John Hulsebus, Mrs. Frederick Weingarten, Miss Patricia Bruce and Miss Mary Ann Murphy. All wore gowns of pink silk taffeta with bodices of lace, and floating panier backs. The matron of honor carried a waterfall cascade of shocking pink carnations and the bridemainds carried similar arrangements of pale pink carnations. Dennis Sauve was best man and ushers were Robert G. Cross, brother of the bride, Bartley Roggensack, John Hulsebus and Frederick Weingarten.

The bride's mother wore a dress of chiffon, shading from rose to pastel pink. the bridegroom's mother wore a pale blue gown. Their corsages were pale pink cymbidium orchids.

A pink and white color scheme prevailed at the reception which was held at the home of he bride's mother. The four tier wedding cake and the table appointments were in pink and white as were floral arrangements thruout the home.

After a wedding trip to Yosemite and Northern California the couple will live in Maryland where Lt. Vickermann who is in the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps. will attend Service School. He was graduated from Colorado College, class of '63.

The bride attended Stephens College for two years and was graduated from Colorado College, also class of '63.

Out of town guests, in addition to the bridegroom's parents, were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boucher, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom from Colorado Springs, Mrs. Florence Semeyn, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Frank Cross, her grandmother, from Houston, Tex.

Beverage

Strawberry Cream Cheese Pie

12 ounces cream cheese
½ cup plus 1-3 cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon almond extract
Graham Cracker Crust for a 9-inch pie
3 cups sliced fresh strawberries (about 1 quart whole berries)
2 teaspoons cornstarch

With a spoon or an electric mixer, blend cream cheese with ½ cup sugar. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; mix well with cheese mixture, vanilla and almond extract. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into cheese mixture. Pour into Graham Cracker Crust. Bake 40 minutes in a slow (325 degrees) oven. About 2 hours before serving, mix sliced strawberries with 1-3 cup sugar. Let stand about 30 miunutes. Drain off juice and reserve. Spread berries over top of pie. Measure juice, adding enough water to make ½ cup; gradually stir into cornstarch until smooth. Cook and stir constantly over low heat until thickened and clear. Cool and spoon over berries. Chill until top is set. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Many of use keep poisonous items in our medicine cabinet or under our kitchen sink.

Sometimes, when in a hurry, these items are picked up by mistake. To avoid a "fatal" mistake in our household of "12" . . . I tie a little tiny bell from the dime store around the neck of each bottle. If the bottle is then picked up, the bell tinkles and anyone in our family knows immediately it is dangerous.

These bells may be taken from children's toys, or purchased at your dime store. —Cautious

---

Please give the entire "dozen" in your family a kiss from us all. You probably saved a life! Great idea. —Heloise

---

Dear Heloise:

Plastic does not possess surface hardness which means that it scratches, marks, melts, etc. Or, it just gets soft, becomes porous and moisture absorbs stains, odors, bacteria, etc.

After the surface becomes damaged, which happens in ordinary usage, it is definitely not sanitary. When refrigerator storage containers begin to smell they should be replaced.

I have had excellent success cleaning my bathroom grout with household bleach and a toothbrush, followed by your kerosene, soap-pad treatment for the tiles and a beautiful bathroom results. — Marion L. Mellinger Home Economist

---

I use a soap-filled pad, dipped in "pure" kerosene to remove soap film form bathroom tiles. Scrub with it until the film is removed.

Once the film is off, "keep" it off by wiping the tile weekly with a washcloth dipped in the kerosene. This will put a beautiful film on the tile and prevent accumulation of more film.

Do "not" use this on floors. It's slippery. Broken hips are expensive and also painful! Slippery floors are often the cause. And . . . those throw rugs . . .—Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For those of you who have aluminum around the edges of your sink, that leave awful marks on your clothing when you happen to rub against it, my husband has solved the problem.

Clean the metal well with some good cleaner . . . take a piece of cotton, dip it in a bit of benzine, wipe and let dry. Apply clear lacquer after this.

The lacquer will wear off eventually. And needless to say it must be lacquered again.

Follow the caution on the benzine bottle and the lacquer can.

They are flammable. —E. C. T.

Dear Heloise:

For those who like to eat corn on the cob, try buttering the corn in this fashion:

If you have corn holders, use them. Then holding each end of the corn roll it back and forth on a quarter pound stick of butter or margarine "before" serving it!

This does mess up the stick of butter for it can be used later when cooking. For those who do not have corn holders make your own with toothpicks. Mrs. Wayne Blanchett.

One can use the key from the end of a coffee or shortening can for corn holders, too. I found that the margarine, when put on the ear of corn, "right after" being removed from the pot . . . kept the kernels from shrinking! —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

All my friends and I like your hint on putting bacon under meat loaf to keep it from sticking on the bottom. Also the hint about putting moth balls in nylon stockings — and tying a knot — to keep them from rolling around on shelves — and easy to move when cleaning.

Now for my hint: Those plastic bottles which dishwashing detergents come in make good hot water bottles in an emergency. The small size is easy for youngsters to hold onto. This size is also good for a toothache, or a stomach-ache. The bottles stay warm long enough to bring relief and help the child get to sleep. Of course, you should remember to keep the cap screwed on tight!

In order to make the child feel that it is "his" own bottle — and as a rainy day project — let him decorate his own hot water bottle with pictures from magazines, pasting them on the bottles himself. This might help to cheer him up when he is a little under the weather! —Mrs. Robert Lothamer

Carolyn K. Carter Is Bride of Paul Wheelock

The Southgate Church of the Nazarene was the scene of the wedding of Miss Carolyn K. Carter and Paul E. Wheelock at 8 p.m. June 25. The Rev. David Bailey, assisted by the Rev. F. B. Moore, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Carter of 305 W. Brookside, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. F. B. Moore of Cucamonga, California.

The candlelight ceremony took place before a lighted cross and open Bible, flanked by baskets of pink and white gladioli and white mums. Traditional selections were played by Mrs. Fred Tuttle at the organ and Mrs. Ward Cobb, violinist. Helen Baucom sang "God Gave Me You", and Ora Burdue sang "I Love You" and "Wedding Prayeer".

The bride's gown of white satin was made with train and trimmed with imported Swiss lace medallions. The fitted bodice was styled with Sabrina neckline, long pointed sleeves and was buttoned down the back with tiny matching buttons. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl crown and she wore the traditional blue garter and carried the Bible which was carried by her mother at her wedding. Her flowers were red rosebuds and feathered mums.

Sandra Carter attended her sister as maid of honor and Mrs. Marlene Reil was matron of honor. Bridesmaid were Pauline Burnham, Karen Summer, a cousin, Sherrie Robinette, junior bridesmaid, also a cousin. All wore ballerina length gowns of blue taffeta with white lace bodices, styled like that of the bride. They wore open crown pillboxes of white lace and carried cascade bouquets of pink rosebuds and feathered mums.

Cheryl Summer, a cousin, was flower girl, wearing blue chiffon with lace pillboxe hat. She wore a wrist corsage of pink rosebuds and scattered rose petals from a white basket.

Darrell Malakowski, second cousin of the bride was ring bearer, who carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow. Brenda Carter and Patti Robinette as candlelighters wore yellow chiffon dresses and wrist corsages of yellow rose buds, and yellow net headbands.

David Wheelock was best man for his brother and ushers were Gene Reil, David Bailey Jr., Dick Bailey, Gary Summer, cousin of the bride; and Paul Carter, her brother, was junior groomsman. All wore white dinner jackets, black trousers, cummerbunds and ties.

The bride's mother wore a dress of pink organza with lace bodice and patent accessories, and a corsage of pink and white glamelias. The bridegroom's mother wore taupe with bone accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Yellow and white streameers decorated the church annex where the reception was held, and a three tier wedding cake, made by Mrs. Emil Pohlson, aunt of the bride, centered the table. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Nina Hess, wearing pale green; Mrs. Dorothy Sumner and Mrs. Beth Robinett, aunt of the bride, wearing peach and blue dress respectively; Becky Bailey, Cheryl Morris and Karen Transcheidt. Mrs. David Bailey and Clara Clark were in charge of the guest book and Mrs. George Gremier and Marilyn presided at the gift table. All wore pink and white glameliacorsages.

After a motor trip thru the mountains of the state, the couple will live in Pasadena, where the bridegroom will be a senior at Pasadena College. He was graduated from the Peoria, Arizona High School.

The bride's going-away costume was a white suit dress with red patent accessories and a red rosebud corsage. She was graduated from Palmer High School, class of '61 and also attended Pasadena College.

Out of town guests were

The Rev. and Mrs. F. B. Moore, Cucamonga, Calif., Rev. and Mrs. George Gremier and Marilyn, Englewood; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Senseman, Peoria, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robinett, Sherrie and Patti, Ottawa, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sumner, Karen, Gary, and Cheryl, Montrose, Colo; the Rev. and Mrs. Hobert Eastman, Canon City; Mrs. Denny B. Jack, Lynn and Jan, Wheatridge; Mrs. Harry Hindman, Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller, Canon City, Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Cornelson, Denver.

Ouch! Inventory Lists Foot Ills

CHICAGO (UPI) — The average American walks about 65,000 miles in a lifetime, the American Podiatry Association reports.

But 80 per cent of Americans have suffered or are suffering from some sort of foot ailment, according to the foot experts.

More than 85 per cent of senior citizens are afflicted, 40 per cent of school children by age six and more than 70 per cent by high school age.

The nation's foot doctors claim that not all foot ailments are caused by corns and calluses. Other causes include weak arches, hammer toes, ulcers, imbalance, heel spurs, skin diseases, fractures and tumors.

Household Hints

A coat of wax on the chrome trim of kitchen chairs and tables keeps them from rusting.

Remove splattered paint from tile with nail polish remover.

Wool should be treated for moth protection — now.

A gasoline bath will bring back the sparkle of rhinestone pins. After the pins have soaked five minutes, rub the jewelry dry with a flannel cloth.

When using a ladder on soft ground, put each leg of the ladder into a one-pound coffee can firmly secured.

After using grits, corn meal or other items poured from a spout, tape the spout with a piece of cellophane tape. The ingredients will stay fresh longer.

Wax wood floors every six to eight months.

Baking soda added to baked beans makes them more digestible.

When boiling old potatoes, use a little milk in the water to keep the spuds from turning dark.

Gilt picture frames will have a lovely luster if they are rubbed with a little turpentine.

If your cement or flagstone terrace needs brightening, hose down, sprinkle with dry sal soda concentrated and leave over night. Next morning wet it again, go over it lightly with along handled scrub brush and the job's done.

The median age of all women workers is now 41 years, reports the U. S. Department of Labor.

Women Work

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The total number of working wives is approaching 13.5 million or one-third of all married women with husband present.

New Department of Labor findings about the economic contribution of working wives to family income show that they supply about 35 to 40 per cent of their families total income when they work full time and about 15 to 20 per cent when they work part time.

Family Dinner

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Make up these refrigerator cookies and bake them as needed.

Skillet Lamb Chops
Stewed Tomatoes
Mashed Potatoes Bread Tray
Fruit Brown Sugar Cookies

Brown Sugar Cookies

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
½ cup medium - fine chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and brown sugar; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients, then walnuts. Pack firmly into empty frozen fruit-juice concentrate (6-ounce size) cans; cover tightly with foil or plastic wrapping; dough will almost fill 3 cans. Chill several hours or overnight. Remove bottom of can; use bottom to force out dough. Slice ⅛-inch to ¼-inch thick. Place, several inches apart, on lightly greased cookie sheets; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven for 8 to 12 minutes. Do not overbake; cookies should be a pale brown color. Yield will depend on how thick you cut cookies.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
4 ◇	Pass	4 NT	Pass
6 ◇	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♠

The selection of the best opening lead involves something more than a mere study of the 13 cards held by the leader. His holding must be considered in the light of the bidding sequence which led to the final contract. And occasionally even a thought must be given to the probable mental processes of the adversary who directed the final contract.

The bidding is reported as it took place, without indorsement and for what it may be worth. The South player was employing the Blackwood convention and expected to obtain an answer advising as to the number of aces North held. North, however, took matters into his own hands. He felt confident there was a slam in the hand when South was able to make a jump shift with an apparent broken trump suit. He feared that if he made the dutiful response of five diamonds, showing only one ace, his partner might lose heart and pass, so he leaped to the slam. This under the convention denotes a hand on which the proper response would have been in the agreed trump suit. In this case, diamonds, and therefore indicating one ace.

West had the opportunity to make a very safe lead with the queen of hearts. But he was not concerned so much with safety as with aggressive tactics to beat the hand. He himself held a surprisingly great amount of honor strength in view of the vigorous nature of the adverse bidding, and he set about visualizing the type of hand which would have induced the enemy to venture so far.

It was evident that North was very strong in diamonds, which would mean that South's trump suit was not a very powerful one. What then persuaded South to make a jump shift instead of a mere temporary take-out of two diamonds? West concluded that South must have been influenced to a certain extent by a mild spade fit, because with a nonsolid trump suit and a misfit in partner's suit it is not probable that he would have given an immediate slam signal.

Now, if North happened to have a five card spade suit, and South had three, East would have a singleton. On this line of reasoning he elected to lead the ace and another spade which defeated the contract. It all sounds very thin, but it seems to me rather interesting. Furthermore, who are we to argue with success?

M. Keith Stump Weds Miss Linda Sue Henesey

Miss Linda Sue Henesey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Henesey of Mound City, Kan. was married to M. Keith Stump of Colorado Springs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Stump of Hutchinson, Kan., at 7:30 Tuesday evening, June 11, at the Federated Church in Mound City. The Rev. Fred L. Meyer, of the Episcopal Church of Hutchinson, performed the double ring ceremony.

A large bouquet of white mums, in antique baskets, stood on each side of the altar. This setting was completed by three antique candelabra holding the lighted tapers. On each candelamrum was a white bow touched with the turquoise color.

The aisle leading to the altar was lighted by hurricane lamps on each pew and in the front of the church.

The bride was escorted by her father, Alvin Henesey. Her gown was of silk organza over tissue taffeta. Pearls and sequins accented the scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The bodice was accented with alencon lace motifs outlined with pearls and sequins, repeated on the front of the skirt. The skirt extended into a chapel train, below a double loop bow, covered with the Alencon motifs outlined with the pearls and sequins. Tiny covered buttons closed the bodice back. Her bouffant illusion veil was held by a crown of borealis crystals, with pearls and sequins. She carried a Bible, with a white orchid and feathered carnations.

Mrs. Duane Simpson, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Miss Pamela Henesey, cousin of the bride and Miss Dorothy Lund of Colorado Springs, were the bridemaids. They wore sheath dresses of turquoise delustered satin, featuring overskirts of the same material, with matching shoes and head circlets of satin covered with scalloped veiling. They carried white baskets filled with yellow pompon mums, with net and turquoise ribbon.

Mrs. DeeAnn Brown of Wichita, and Miss Karen Jo Davies of Kingman lighted the white tapers. They wore sheath dresses of the turquoise delustered satin, with cummerbunds in a loop bow. They wore yellow pompon wrist corsages.

The soloist, Orval Henesey, uncle of the bride, sang "At Dawning," "The Pledge" and "As We, O Lord have Joined Our Hands," accompanied by Miss Rebecca Peterson at the organ.

Jerry Felmlee, of Muncie Ind., was the best man. Groomsman and ushers were Duane Simpson of Kansas City, Mo., Jim Lund, of Colorado Springs. They wore white coats.

Craig Simpson, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer, wearing white coat and dark trousers. Kathy Kopper, cousin of the bridegrom, was the flower girl. She wore a yellow dress with a flower tiara, and carried a white basket of rose petals.

The bride's mother chose a dress of dusty rose cotton lace, with the rose accessories. The groom's mother wore a sheath dress of gold sation with matching accessories, and each wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Kopper of Hutchinson, were special guests in the reception line. Mrs. Kopper wore a green dress with a white corsage.

A reception was held in the church annex. The bride's table was centered in front of a white backdrop, framed with the turquoise net. The table held the four-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, surrounded by yellow carnations, flanked wth lighted turquoise tapers on one end of the table. The bride's bouquet lay by the tapers, while on the other end of the table was a bouquet of yellow and white carnations.

Mrs. Bernard West, assisted by Mrs. Judy Laderer and Mrs. Laura Beth Dennis served the wedding cake.

Mrs. Jackie Fultz, of Pleasanton, and Mrs. Rosemary Norbury of Hume, served at the punch table. Turquoise punch was served from an antique punch bowl, flanked with yellow carnations around its base. One of the bridesmaid's basket of yellow pompons was placed by the punch bowl for decorations.

Mrs. Rosemary Norbury had charge of the guest book, and Mrs. Judy Laderer, Mrs. Laurabeth Dennis and Mrs. Ora Irwin had charge of the gifts.

Albert Irwin, Mrs. Cettie Laird, Mrs. Arlene Stuart, Mrs. Ferne Bearly, Mrs. Ruth Klopfenstein and others assisted with the reception.

The bride chose for travel a yellow silk linen dress with a silk loop jacket and a yellow hat, with white accessories. She wore the white orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet. They spent several days in the Ozarks.

The bride graduated from the Mound City Schools and will graduate from the University of Wichita in Music Education. She will teach music in Security, Colo.

The bridegroom graduated from the Colorado Springs High School and from the University of Wichita in 1962, and teaches music in the Colorado Springs schools.

The couple will live in Colorado Springs this fall, where both will teach in the public schools.

College Mixes Arts, Sciences

MORAGA, Calif. (UPI) — St. Mary's College, a four-year liberal arts school located in a verdant valley 25 miles east of San Francisco, is trying to give its students more than just "random courses in the humanities."

The college, which has an enrollment of about 800, has recently introduced courses designed to give students an idea of the relationships among the arts, sciences and social sciences.

The school offers an "integrated curriculum" to some students. Such a curriculum is intended to give students an idea of the links between science and mathematics, on the one hand, and history, literature and philosophy on the other.

All students also must take a course in "Great Classics," which introduces them to Freud, Marx and Einstein as well as Plato, Aquinas and Shakespeare.

Family Supper

Egg Rolls with Chinese Mustard
Chow Mein Rice
Fruit Fortune Cookies

Chow Mein

¼ cup salad (not olive) oil
2 cups thin onion strips
2½ cups thin celery crescents
1½ cups clear chicken stock
Soy Sauce Mixture
2 Cups cubed leftover roast pork
1 can (1 pound) bean sprouts, drained
1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced

In a large skillet heat the oil; stir in onion, celery and chicken stock. Cover and boil gently for about 10 minutes. Add Soy Sauce mixture. Cook and stir constantly over medium heat until thickened. Add pork, bean sprouts, mushrooms and water chestnuts; mix well and reheat. Serve topped with chow mein noodles. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Soy Sauce Mixture: Stir together 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar; add 3 tablespoons soy sauce. Gradually stir in ¼ cup chicken stock or bean-sprout liquid, keeping smooth.

Aims to Dampen Fires on Farms

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Carelessness in using and storing gasoline, kerosene and other petroleum products is responsible for the annual loss of 500 lives and more than $5 million damage from farm fires.

University of Illinois safety specialist O. L. Hogsett says farm families can safeguard their lives and property against the hazards of fire and explosion by careful storing and handling of flamable liquids.

Hogsett says never pour kerosene into a stove or furnace that is still warm from a previous fire.

Keep lamps, lanterns, heaters, stoves and brooders in a safe place and guard against over heating.

If home dry-cleaning must be done, do it out of doors and use a non-flammable cleaning fluid.

Store gasoline in an underground tank or a shade steel drum away from all buildings, says Hogsett, and never handle gasoline or kerosene in n open container.

Ever try this way of cooking green peppers?

Veal Chops Mashed Potatoes, Fried Peppers, Salad Bowl, Crusty Rolls, Fruit and Cheese, Beverage

FRIED PEPPERS

1 pound long thin tapered light-colored green peppers
2 to 4 tablespoons olive oil
1 clove garlic, peeled and halved
Salt and pepper

Halve peppers lengthwise and remove seeds and membranes. Cut into strips that are about ¾-inch wide; if peppers are very long, they may be halved crosswise. In a large skillet, heat olive oil with garlic; add peppers; cover and cook, turning often, until peppers are as soft and browned as you like. Remove garlic. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

Girls in Need Dial 'The Trouble Number'

By MYRAM BORDERS
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "Any girl in trouble, call the Salvation Army."

The message in a classified advertisement here has caused about 8,000 women, a majority of them teenagers, to phone Booth Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles.

Last year, the women in need ranged in age from 11 to 40.

The message is repeated in each of the 37 areas nationwide where facilities such as Booth Memorial are operated by the Salvation Army for "girls in trouble."

The one here opened its doors in 1924. It is typical of the Salvation Army's havens for unwed mothers.

Maj. Vivian K. Johnson, head of the Los Angeles hospital, has devoted 20 years of her life to Salvation Army work.

"Girls pregnant out of wedlock represent a pretty good cross section of American society," Maj. Johnson said in an interview.

"Such pregnancies are symptomatic of what is going on. I've seen many fine families walk through those doors — in tears, some in anger," she said.

Most women who go to Booth Memorial here and elsewhere for help are "trying to keep their pregnancy secret." Usually they move into the hospital for the last three months before the child is born.

Three to four girls share a room. Hospital activities include arts and crafts, entertainment, schooling, pre-natal instruction, health, chapel, counseling and medical care.

Qualified instructors from local high schools teach classes for those teen-agers who were forced to drop out of school because of pregnancy.

Out of nearly 500 women residents last year, 415 of them were between 13 and 19 years old.

"There is so much sex play that goes on before marriage," said Maj. Johnson. "Our society does little but scream when a girl becomes pregnant. Then when she is pregnant, she's a square."

"The great crisis of course is the question of what, if anything, society can do about changing morals. Sex education is not broad enough in our schools. It does not point out the responsibility of parenthood.

"Proper education should cover the whole gamut of what happens if a girl gets into trouble," said Maj. Johnson.

She is amazed at the number of girls at Booth whose parents skirted the subject of sex when their children asked questions.

Eighty per cent of the infants born at Booth are put out for adoption through agencies. Ten per cent of the mothers who attempted to keep their babies later turned them over for adoption.

What of the unwed fathers? Maj. Johnson said that the father of a child born out of wedlock has no legal claim to the baby.

"I've seen some fine young men here," she said. "Of course, others leave their 'girl friends'—and some can't face up to the responsibility," she said.

Maj. Johnson sympathized with the plight of such men and recalled an incident one Christmas Eve.

A wealthy businessman rapped on the door. He put money into Maj. Johnson's hand and said tearfully that he could not forget his first child, an infant he never knew. The man was 17 when his girl friend became pregnant.

His parents would not allow him to assume the responsibility of marriage and fatherhood. The man later married another woman and had five children.

"But he said he could not forget his first child," Maj. Johnson said.

AUSTIN, Tex (UPI) — A Uuniversity of Texas dean says the idea that marriage makes for better students is a myth.

"We find marriage seldom makes a good student out of a poor one," Dean of Students Glenn Barnett says.

Barnett warned that mixing marriage and college can mean troubles for both husband and wife.

"If the wife was a competent student and dropped out for marriage," Barnett says, "she frequently feels an underlying resentment if her student husband doesn't excel."

"In many cases," he adds, "his grades go down as the time and concentration needed for his work are nibbled away by the demands of family life."

Barnett also says that a student-father can grow extremely sensitive about his own position while his wife plays the role of breadwinner.

"When a girl tells me she is quitting to get married," Barnett says, "I try to impress upon her the importance of continuing her own education some time, whether soon or many years from now.

"The boy she marries is going to continue to grow and probably become a leader in his profession and his community. Her growth will have to keep pace with his if the marriage is to succeed," Barnett says.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Once Burnt, Twice Shy!

DEAR ABBY: We have just returned home from a week-end with some friends who have a beautiful, expensive, push-button home. The guest room was unbelievably furnished. There was one three-quarter-sized bed. (The room was large enough to accommodate one large double bed or a pair of twin beds.) There was one small, decrepit straight-back chair, a tiny hooked rug and one thin blanket. The mattress sagged in the middle, and to top it off, there was NO mirror in the room. My husband said that they intentionally furnished the guest room poorly to discourage guests from returning. Considering that the rest of the house was so elegantly and comfortably furnished, could my husband be right? — NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO: Your husband is very probably right. I can't think of a more effective way to discourage overnight guests.

DEAR ABBY: Somewhere in a modest home is the luckiest woman alive, and I'm sure she isn't even aware of it. The "Other Woman" usually writes a tale of woe. I am the "other woman" but I have no "tale of woe" because of a decision I have just made. This wife I speak of is lucky because her children are healthy and well-behaved. They have a pleasant, middle-class home, with good food, good clothes and a good car. Their lives are secure. Her husband is with her, and he always will be. If I could tell this wife one thing, it would be to LOVE her husband and let him know it. He wanted me, and I wanted him, and only God knew how much. But when people are basically good, they refuse to hurt innocent people. Especially children. He's the man I've been searching for all my life. I love him and he knows it. But he is HER husband, and THEIR father. And he has integrity. I wish he were mine. But he's not and he never will be. Thank you, Abby, for letting me say this. I feel better now.

TOOK AN OATH

DEAR ABBY: We have neighbors who do not have a telephone, but they have given all their friends OUR telephone number, and we have to run and get them when they get phone calls. When they first moved in, we told them they could use our telephone for emergency calls, but so far they have been using it for gossip and gabbing and we are getting tired of this. How can we tactfully get our point across? — FED UP

DEAR FED: Don't waste your energy with "tactful" cover-ups. Tell your neighbors that you will be glad to deliver an "emergency" message, but if they want the use of a telephone or social chitchat to get their own.

DEAR ABBY: There is a darling boy who collects tickets at the theatre in my neighborhood. The last time I was there he gave me a special look that he never gave me before. I have secretly liked him for a long time and think he likes me a little. My problem is that he is on the shy side and so am I. How can I let him know I like him without being forward? TIRED OF POPCORN

DEAR TIRED: There is NO way a girl can let a boy know she likes him without being forward. The quickest way to kill your chances with a shy boy is to let him know you like him. Let HIM blaze the trail — if there is going to be any.

What's on your mind: For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills Calif.

New Designs Soften Womanly Impressions

By GERALD S. SNYDER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women are finally coming back down to earth. And manufacturers of floor coverings couldn't be happier.

According to fashion experts, the reign of the lofty—and lethal—stiletto heel is over and the "sportive" (that's the word this year) look of lower stacked heels is "in."

Not since 1956, when the spike first made its appearance, has the heel come in for so much change —or attention.

Under the flood lights at a press conference in the Waldorf-Astoria recently, a wisp of a blonde in three-inch-high stilletos showed some of the damaging heritage left behind.

Playing secretary, she leaned back in her chair and drove her spikes into the synthetic tile floor covering. She demonstrated the walk, with the cold chisel-like heel doing its deadly work.

Pressure such as this has led to a serious floor problem. The stileto heels have been punching, pitting and pounding floors in public and private buildings.

Industry spokesmen estimate they have caused an estimated $500 million damage.

Even an elephant—bless his big well-padded feet—exerts less pressure than a woman wearing stiletto heels. An elephant foot exerts 50 to 100 pounds of pressure per square inch.

Women in spike heels exert from a quarter-ton to a ton per square inch for each heel.

Consider the evidence:

—A floor laid in 1759 in Gunston Hall in Washington, D.C., withstood the ravages of the American Revolution and the bombardment of the English during the War of 1812. It was destroyed in one afternoon by stiletto heels.

—The city of Mobile, Ala., passed a law that women could wear the spikes only at their own risk. That was after a woman caught her heel in the sidewalk, fell and sued.

—An aircraft company had to redesign the traditional honeycomb aluminum floors of airliner cabins when the floors disintegrated under the impact of stiletto heels.

The age of the two and ¾ inch heel is indeed dying. One large shoe company estimated that the sale of stiletto styles is now 60 to 70 per cent off its peak.

But still remaining are the ravages wrought to floors.

A Wisconsin - based company (Johnson's Wax) said it may have the solution with a new "spike healing" method.

The process involves smoothing down the pock-marked flooring material with an ordinary commercial floor machine and abrasive discs.

Garden Club to Have Program on Birds

Pikes Peak Garden Club will meet at 1 p.m. Friday in the home of Mrs. Floyd Drummond, 412 Lynn Ave., Stratton Meadows.

Mrs. H. J. Wagner will present the program "Birds and Bird Feeders."

Election of officers is planned for the meeting.

Double Wedding Held at East Methodist Church

The weddings of twin sisters took place in a double ceremony held at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 6, in the East Methodist Church. Miss Jackie Jean Bartell became the bride of Johnny F. Johnson, and Donna Kay Bartell became the bride of Wilmer N. Leptien. Both brides are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Bartell of 222 N. Royer St. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of 2608 Beacon St. Mr. Leptien is the son of Mrs. Regina Leptien of Montrose.

The Rev. Harold Knudsen officiated at the ceremony in a setting of candelabra and basket arrangements of blue and white carnations and stock. Grace Illian at the organ played traditional selections.

Mr. Bartell escorted his daughters to the altar and gave them in marriage. They wore identical floor length gowns made with bell skirts and fitted bodices, appliqued with lace daisies. Their bouffant veils were attached to pill boxes trimmed at back with white roses. Their cascade bouquets were of white rosebuds and daisies.

The brides had the same maid of honor and bridesmaids. Miss Faye Evans was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Susie Sather, Linda Smith and Kathy Johnson. All wore blue street length dresses styled with full skirts and matching accessories. Their colonial bouquets were of white carnations with net streamers, and they wore blue net hats trimmed with chiffon roses.

The bridegrooms acted as best man for each other and ushers were Jerry Bartell, Jack Smith and Doug Johnson. All wore ice-blue dinner jackets.

Mrs. Bartell wore for her daughters' wedding a pink sheath with matching accessories. Mrs. Leptien wore a blue and white lace sheath with white accessories, and Mrs. Johnson wore beige, with beige accessories.

The table at the reception, which was held in the church parlor, was centered with daisies and decorated with white wedding bells. Assisting in serving were Miss Judy Wilson, Miss Diana Sather, who poured the punch; Miss Bonnie Meller, Miss Carol Holcomb who were in charge of the gift table; Mrs. Margaret Wells and Mrs. Roselyn Lee, aunts of the bride who served the cake; and Mrs. Douglas Johnson who was in charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson spent their honeymoon at Glenwood Springs and are now at home at 1317 N. Weber St. Mrs. Johnson wore for traveling a peach-colored suit with white accessories and a white rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Leptien spent their honeymoon at a mountain resort and are living at 1126 N. Tejon St. Her going-away suit was mint-green with white accessories and her corsage was of white roses.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Cool of Casper, Wyo., Mr. and Mrs. George Hill and daughter of Aurora; Miss Carol Well, Ft. Collins; Mrs. Regina Litien, Montrose; and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Christie and family of Denver.

The brides attended Western State College at Gunnison.

NEW YORK (UPI) — You can "re-do" dirty or tarnished brass or brass-finish hardware without disturbing any "antique" finish.

First, advises the Cleanliness Bureau here, remove and oil the screws. Then combine vinegar and salt in a ceramic dish and apply this mixture to the hardware with a soft brush.

Finally, suds, rinse, and dry each piece carefully.

Woman Hitches Her Dreams in Sweet Recipe

DETROIT (UPI) — With Mrs. Eula Knipple, the proof is not in the pudding—it's in the frosting!

Her own special kind of frosting, that is. It is called "peanut frost."

The frosting is frozen and ready to spread.

Mrs. Knipple, 43, said — "Everyone I know has raved so much about peanut frost that I think it has a good chance."

So does a Chicago manufacturer (the Sokol Co.) which has a complete line of processed foods for restaurants and institutions. It plans to give the full treatment to the product, a family recipe for years.

Mrs. Knipple, a diminutive Livonia housewife, said much of the credit for the apparent success of the frost has to go to Mrs. Sheila Forshee.

Mrs. Forshee, 43, is also a innovator of sorts. She invented an industrial spray paint booth device some years back and had a time putting it on the marktt.

When it finally succeeded, she decided she would donate some of her time seeing that other women inventors had the path cleared for them.

"I could make the stuff but I'll be darned if I knew how to sell it," Mrs. Knipple said.

With Mrs. Forshee acting as industrial liaison they finally contacted Sokol.

Sokol people had Mrs. Knipple whip up a few batches of peanut frost, involving peanut butter, confectioner's sugar and vanilla and a few secret ingredients.

The samples kept disappearing from the freezer at the Chicago plant. This convinced the firm that it had a good thing on its hands. At best, it pleased sweet-toothed employes.

Mrs. Forshee will get half the profits. Mrs. Knipple will split the rest with the Chicago firm.

She doesn't mind though.

"I hope to make a fortune," she said.

When a recipe calls for a bouquet garni, you may tietogether some sprigs of parsley, a celery top and some dried thyme and use this combination.

TO WED THIS MONTH—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Pollitt of 2606 Wood Ave. announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna Lorraine, to David L. Givan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orvil H. Smith of 1919 W. Cucharras St. The wedding will take place July 27 in Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, 819 E. Vermijo St.

Great Books Group to Hold Summer Session

The Wednesday evening Great Books group will meet for a summer discussion from 8 to 10 p.m. Wednesday, July 17 in the periodical room of the public library, 21 W. Kiowa St. Ruth Anne Earle will conduct the questioning on William Golding's "Lord of the Flies." For vacation reading the group selected this 1962 novel put out by Coward-McCann and with a foreword by E. M. Forster.

Another meeting in August also will be for an assignment of a contemporary novel. In September the regular semi-monthly discussions will be resumed with a list of readings in philosophy, history, biography, and poetry. Sybil Bashor is acting as chairman for the preparation of the list of readings.

This program is part of an adult education project sponsored by the public library and coordinated thru the Great Books Foundation of Chicago. No requirements for participation are established except that those who attend this session or any series of meetings must read the text as assigned in order to qualify for a part in the discussion. Summer visitors are welcome. Further information will be given by Myrtle Allen, 635-8540 or Margaret Gibson, 633-3397.

Olson-Bennett Nuptials Held at First Methodist

Miss Marriett Lou Olson and Richard Glenn Bennett were united in marriage June 15, at the First Methodist Church, the Rev. Ben F. Lehmberg officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Olson of 306 E. Las Vegas St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bennett of 1711 N. 7th St.

The altar was decorated with white carnations and mums and lighted by candles.

Nuptial music included "The Lord's Prayer" and other traditional selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length dress of white lace, and carried white carnations.

Linda Sue Olson was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Sherry Bennet, Diane Bennett and Jo Ann Zimora. Their flowers were white carnations.

Robert Husband attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Mike Olson and Allen Lindlholm.

The bride's mother wore a light blue dress with white hat, shoes and gloves, and the bridegroom's mother also wore blue, with white accessories.

Marlene Fitzgerald and Kathy Andereatta assisted at the reception which was held in the church parlor.

After a wedding trip to Salt Lake City, Utah, Idaho, and Yellowstone National Park, the couple lives at Rainbow Falls Park, Woodland Park.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lindholm, Allen and Richard, Mrs. Alfred Olson, Raymond Olson, Mrs. Julius Heglurg, Kathryn Heglurg, Ann Butsche, and Mrs. Nellie Bennett.

Assorted Ice Cream Balls
Cornflake Crisps Beverage

Cornflake Crisps

4 cups cornflakes
½ cup coarsely chopped pecans
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
1-3 cup molasses
1 3 cup semi - sweet chocolate pieces

Put cornflakes and pecans into a large mixing bowl; reserve. In a saucepan, stirring constantly, bring butter, sugar and molasses to a full boil; remove from heat-stir in chocolate until melted. Pour mixture over cornflakes and pecans, mixing well as you do so. Drop slightly heaped teaspoons of the mixture, several inches apart, onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 6 minutes. Cool slightly before removing to a wire rack. Makes about 3 dozen.

Penny Ruth Sunter Becomes Bride of Lt. Lloyd Probst

Miss Penny Ruth Sunter of Colorado Springs and Lt. Lloyd J. Probst, who was graduated June 5 from the U. S. Air Force Academy, were united in marriage at 10 a.m. June 8 at the Sacred Heart Church in Rockne, Tex.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sunter of Riverside, Calif. She is a registered nurse and was graduated from the Beth-El School of Nursing at Memorial Hospital in Colorado Springs.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Probst of Rockne, Tex.

The Very Rev. Claude R. Foust officiated at the nuptial mass. Arrangements of white gladioli were placed on the altar, and nuptial music was played by Mrs. Earl Callahan at the organ, and the Sacred Heart Choir also sang.

Given in marriage by James D. Bacon, the bride wore a floor length gown of white taffeta with long, tapered sleeves, and a portrait neckline trimmed with Chantilly lace and pearls. A bustle effect was created with a rose at the waistline in the back, from which the chapel train flowed. Her flowers were white feathered carnations centered with a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses, and arranged in a cascade with white satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Imelda Moe, Geraldine Probst, and Charlotte Wilhelm. All wore street length dresses of blue satin, with fitted bodices and pleated skirts. They wore matching satin shoes, single strand pearl necklaces and white gloves. Their headdresses were matching flat bows with blue net and their flowers were pink sweetheart roses surrounded by pink tulle and ribbon and arranged in colonial bouquets.

Best man was George A. Nocrelli and ushers were Gordon Probst, David Fiebrick, and Vernon Bartsch.

The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua shantung sheath with matching accessories.

A wedding dinner was held at noon in the church hall, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Riverside, Omaha and Colorado Springs. They will make their home at Reese Air Force Base, Tex., where the bridegroom will be stationed.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Lt. George Nocrelli, John McTosney, Jack Kachonski, Mrs. John Bartsch of San Antonio, Mrs. J. D. Brown and sons from Grand Junction and Donald Sunter of Riverside.

The Rev. Harold Hamon of Malta, Mont. performed the ceremony.

Candelabra decorated with greenery lighted the center aisle and satin bows marked the pews. The altar was decorated with palms and baskets of white gladioli and lighted by cndelabra.

Miss Cynthia Eaton of Columbus, Mo., played the traditional processional and recessional, and Lt. Jerry Daughtery of Texas sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "O Perfect Love," and "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk faille made with fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt was enhanced by appliques of Swiss lace, and the full back flowed into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion cascaded from a crown of peau de soie rose petals. Her flowers were pink roses with satin streamers entwined with lilies of the valley, and centered with a removable corsage.

Mrs. Carlin Kielehesk was matron of honor and bridesmaids were the Misses Gwen and Marcia Elliott of Greeley. All wore dresses of pink silk organza styled like that of the bride. Their flowers were dusty-rose carnations arranged in a glamorette with long stem lemon leaves, and carried debutante style.

Candlelighters were Miss Joyce Grimes of Kansas City and Miss Libby Griffin, sister of the bridegroom, who wore dresses of pink silk organza, with full tucked skirts. The candles were decorated with pink rose buds.

Miss Susan Pearsall as flower girl wore a dress of white organdy trimmed with lace.

Joe Griffin acted as best man for his brother and groomsmen were J. A. Hess and Carrol Hess, brothers of the bride. Ushers were Wilson Snively, Gene Hayes, and Jim Hayes, cousins of the bride, and Lanny Williams.

The bride's mother wore a knit dress of blue silk ribbon, with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore rose-beige lace with beige accessories. Their corsages were white carnations with pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Virgil Snively and Mrs. Cecil Hayes, aunts of the bride, served the cake at the reception which was held in the church parlor. Mrs. Ronald Searcy, sorority sister of the bride, poured the punch, and Mrs. Eldon Williams presided at the guest book.

The table was covered with pink net over white satin trimmed with satin ribbon, and caught up with clusters of roses. The cake was topped with fresh roses.

The couple left for Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, Tex., where they will reside while the bridegroom takes pilot training. He was graduated from the U.S. Air Force Academy June 5, and will receive his wings in September.

The bride chose for traveling an aqua silk sheath with white accessories and a pink rose corsage. She attended Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville, where her sorority was Sigma Sigma Sigma. Her major was music and she has been employed for the past two years as Elemenetary Music Instructor at the Air Force Academy.

Walker-Appleton Nuptials Held in Gorham, N.H.

The marriage of Miss Susan Pamela Appleton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Francis M. Appleton, Gorham, N. H., to Stanley Neal Walker of Colorado Springs took place at 2 p.m. June 15 in the garden of the bride's home on Prospect Terrace, Gorham.

The bridegroom is the son of Cmdr. and Mrs. Charles H. Walker U.S. Navy, Ret., 2314 McArthur Ave., Colorado Springs.

The Rev. Daniel Novotny of the United Church of Christ, Durham, N. H., performed the double ring ceremony against a background of garden flowers in their natural setting with other arrangement of white gladioli, iris and lupine.

Dr. Appleton gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a daytime length white cotton eyelet dress and jacket, white pillbox with butterfly veil, and carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Miss Deborah Appleton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow and white cotton dress and wide-brimmed straw hat decorated with daisies. Her bouquet was yellow daisies. Gary B. Stuck of Bloomington, Ind., was best man.

There was a garden reception for approximately 100 guests following the wedding ceremony. Miss Marion Walker, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Samuel Stallard, sister of the bride, were in charge of the punch bowl.

After a wedding trip to the coast of Maine, the young couple will make their home in Gorham.

The bride was graduated from Gould Academy, Bethel, Me., and attended the University of New Hampshire. The bridegroom is a graduate of Palmer High School, and of Colorado State College class of 1960, holding a B. A. degree in art. He is currently employed as a teacher in the Gorham public schools.

Fair Question

NEW YORK — A recent New Yorker cartoon of a husband and wife driving past a sign announcing the future New York World's Fair:

The wife says, "Do you think they'll give away those little green Heinz pickles again?"

Overweight people are apt to be either unhappy or immature, according to three medical researchers who surveyed to records of 1,660 people.

Based on a recently completed correspondence school survey, an estimated 2.5 million Americans were home study students in 1962.

Close to 1.6 million American women will marry this year some 200,000 of them during June, the Population Reference Bureau reports.

Dog Does '35' Pads to Heart

ST. LOUIS—Teddy, a large red dog, made his way to the Thompson home in suburban Chesterfield, Mo.

To get there, the animal had to cross the Mississippi River and walk through the city of St. Louis.

The dog, part Labrador retriever and part Collie, was donated to the Humane Society after being suspected of killing sheep. The society sold the dog to a Madison, Ill., family.

But Teddy didn't stay long in Illinois.

Teen-ager Mary Thompson figures it this way:

"Teddy apparently didn't like Illinois. He walked all the way from Madison to our house in Chesterfield, a distance of about 35 miles."

Salad greens make a refreshing noontime salad. Both the eggs and beans will benefit from being prepared ahead and allowed to chill. This way flavors develop. But take the eggs and beans out of the refrigerator about 15 minutes before you serve them.

MR. AND MRS. TOM MURR

Murr-Stagg Vows Recited In Immanuel Lutheran Church

Miss Patricia Stagg and Tom Murr were united in marriage recently in the Immanuel Lutheran church Rev. Henry Fingerlin performed the ceremony. The bride is the grand niece of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chambers and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Warner. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Murr. The church was decorated with blue and white carnations, and was lighted by candles.

Kenneth Schlueter at the organ played nuptial music and Edward Geisler sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Paul Chambers gave the bride in marriage. Her gown was full length, with train and trimmed with rows of lace, pearls and sequins. Her veil was waist length.

Miss Arlene Stagg, sister of the bride and Barbara Brighton, bridesmaids, wore dresses of lace and nylon in blue and white and carried carnations. The bride carried sweetheart roses.

Bob Murr cousin of the bridegroom was best man, and Bill Murr, brother of the bridegroom was groomsman. Joe Martin was ring bearer and Dennis Lewis gift carrier. Ushers were Bret Stagg and Fred Murr.

Mrs. Paul Chambers chose a blue fitted silk dress with lace jacket and white accessories and wore blue and white carnations. Mrs. Virgil Murr wore a beige sheath dress.

A reception was held in the church basement. A bouquet of gladioli in peach and white decorated the punch table. The cake was three tier with pale blue trim.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Margaret Sargent of Delta; Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson, mother and step father of the bride of Norwalk, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Warner and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Warner and Mike of Guffy, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pick and three children of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Moser of Greeley, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Chambers, Everett and Agnes of Yoder, and Claude Murr of Peyton.

Debbie Kelsey took care of the guest book.

For their honeymoon, the couple spent two weeks at Yellowstone Park. Both young people are graduates of Palmer High School. The bridegroom is employed by the Denver Equipment Co. They are living at 3001 N. Cascade Ave.

Pan-Am Highway Direct Route

PANAMA CITY—Motorists can now drive from anywhere in the United States through Mexico and Central America along the Pan American Highway to Panama City, capital of the Republic of Panama. The trip from Laredo, Tex., covers 3,213 miles, or 3,270 miles if one wishes to visit capital cities of all nations en route.

This section of the road which will one day link Alaska with Chile is called the Inter American Highway and is in satisfactory condition for standard automobiles. Some 2,697 miles are paved, and the remaining 520 miles have an all-weather surface. Some delays, however, may be expected during rainy season, from June through October.

Literature about a vacation in Panama, and a one-page sheet outlining information about the Inter American Highway are available from the Panama Government Tourist Bureau, Room 375, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y.

RUNNING IN TWO DIRECTIONS

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Indecision caused a man to knock out his wife here, Patrolman William Dailey reported.

Dailey said he was speeding on a police emergency call with his car's red lights flashing when he spotted a couple in the middle of the street.

Each tired to run a different way. Then the husband tried to pull his wife by the arm the way he was going, but the sudden pull caused her to fall to the pavement.

Dailey said the fall knocked her unconscious briefly and gave her a black eye.

Wheat Germ Drop Biscuits

- 2 cups biscuit mix (bought or homemade)
- 1-3 cup wheat germ
- ½ to ¾ cup milk

Stir together biscuit mix and wheat germ. With a fork stir in enough milk to make mixture a little softer than regular biscuit dough. Drop into greased small muffin pans filling cups almost to top. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. If muffin pan cups each hold 2 tablespoons, recipe will make 18 biscuits.

DEER HAVE A CHEW

Yes,' complained farmers in the Trammel community. Irate farmers were busy this spring trying to fence out or chase away wild deer they said nibbled tobacco plants in both the plant beds and the fields.

Poor Eat More

NEW YORK (UPI) — A survey by three doctors in New York City showed a startling relationship between obesity and socio-economic status.

Thirty per cent of the women from the poorest levels of society were overweight. Only four per cent of the women in the top brackets were classified as obese.

Although many such births are not reported, it is estimated that there were 89,000 births out of wedlock born in 1940, 141,000 in 1950 and 224,000 in 1960, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

TRIPPED OVER THE PAST

MAUMEE, Ohio (AP) — Ricky Gulvas, 15, appears to have stumbled, literally, over a relic of the War of 1812.

He stubbed his toe while playing along the banks of the Maumee River near his home. Looking down, he found a half-buried cannonball. The spot is across the river from the site of Fort Meigs, and Maumee historians think the shot may have been fired during a siege a century and a half ago.

OPPORTUNITY RAINED

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP)—A recent flood was disastrous to many residents along the Big Sandy River but to four enterprising men it was a glorious business opportunity.

They soon ran into a backlog of orders after establishing a house-raising service. They raise the houses on jacks and put in higher foundations, out of the water's reach.

Roach-Wooten Ceremony Held in Elwood, Ind. Church

Miss Martha Ruth Wooten became the bride of Charles Stephen Roach recently at the Elwood Ind., Pilgrim Holiness Church with Rev. Arlace Duncan of the Elwood Wesleyan Methodist Church officiating. Both are former Colorado Springs residents. The bride's parents are Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Wooten of Elwood. The Rev. Wooten was formerly the pastor of the First Pilgrim Holiness Church of Colorado Springs. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Roach of Alexandria, Ind.

Music was provided by Larry Goins at the organ with Betty Frakes singing, "God Gave Me You," "Each For the Other," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated in the bride's colors of blue and white and lighted by candles. A white arch was placed in the center, entwined with white and blue flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full chapel train bridal gown with a white taffeta overskirt enhanced by dainty flowers combined with two tiers of chantilly lace. She carried white orchids.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister Mary Alice Wooten, who was dressed in blue chiffon over taffeta. She carried blue and white flowers. Rachel Ann Webb, another sister served as bridesmaid, dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Gay Harmon was the flower girl, also in blue chiffon. David Wooten, brother of the bride, as ring bearer, was dressed as a minature bridegroom.

Serving as best man was David Roach, brother of the bridegroom who wore a white jacket and dark trousers, and black bow tie. Bill Webb as groomsman, and Leland Goins and Dick O'Haver as ushers were dressed like the best man.

The bride's mother wore a blue dress with black and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece beige suit with bone accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Wilkie High School Cafeteria. A four-tier cake was served by the bride's aunt, Miss Martha Rhine.

Mrs. Roach graduated with the class of 1962 from Wilkie High School and Mr. Roach graduated in 1959 from Alexandria High School. The couple is now residing at 309½ Lincoln Ave., Alexandria.

Guests attended from Elwood, Alexandria, Anderson, Frankton Marion, Summitville, Frankfort, Muncie, Kokomo, Portland, Uniondale, Fowler, Franklin, Shelbyville, and Rockville.

William Francis Stubbings Weds Darlene Rae Atwell

The Palmer Heights Church of the Nazarene was the scene of the wedding of Miss Darlene Rae Atwell and William Francis Stubbings, at 8 p.m. June 22. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Atwell of 2834 Merry Ln. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Stella Stubbings of Detroit.

The Rev. W.R. Donaldson officiated at the candlelight ceremony, against a background of palms and basket arrangements of white gladioli and green carnations. Traditional selections were played by Irene Vernon, who also accompanied Mack Smith as he sang "Because," and "Whither Thou Goest," and as the couple knelt at the altar, he sang "The wedding prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white satin. The lace bodice was styled with wide neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins. The full skirt was accented at the back with tulle ruffles and lace, and her fingertip veil, trimmed with matching lace, fell from a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. Her flowers were orange tea roses surrounded by white carnations, and were carried on a white Bible.

Miss Dorothy Stubbings, sister of the bridegroom was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Marlene Atwell, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Mary Fawk, sister of the bridegroom. All wore sheaths of green brocaded taffeta with overskirts of chiffon. Their accessories were white heels and gloves, and they wore mint green pillboxes trimmed with veils. Their flowers were feathered white carnations with mint-green net and streamers.

Kimberly Hicks, cousin of the bride was flower girl, dressed like other attendants. She scattered rose petals from a basket in the path of the bride.

Doug Atkinson was best man and groomsmen were Harold Dean Atwell, brother of the bride and Barry Fawk, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Doyle Henderson and Barry Fawk, and candlelighters were Connie Harper and Richard Treaster, cousin of the bride. Hurt Atwell, nephew of the bride as ring bearer, wore formal attire as did the bridegroom and his attendants.

The mother of the bride wore an oyster-white suit with brown and beige accessories and a white carnation corsage with brown puffs and ribbon. The bridegroom's mother wore blue lace with blue accessories, and a white carnation corsage with blue puffs and ribbons.

Mrs. Ruth Leverett was in charge of the reception, assisted by Mary Atkinson, Dorothy Treaster, aunt of the bride, and Yvonne Adams, a cousin. Evelyn Stubbings, sister of the bridegroom and Phyllis Doty, cousin of the bride, were in charge of the gifts, and Donna Adams, also a cousin, presided at the guest book.

The wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Rugh Ager, aunt of the bride, decorated by Mrs. Ruth Leverett, and served by Bessie Hicks, cousin of the bride. The flowers for the reception and bridal attendants were arranged by Mrs. Lona South.

Following a honeymoon in the northern mountains, the couple will live in Colorado Springs. The bride chose for traveling an olive green suit with white accessories and an orange tea rose corsage.

Out of town guest were Mrs. Stella Stubbings, Evelyn Stubbings, Dorothy Stubbings, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Fawk, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Atkinson, all of Detroit; Mrs. Olive Meiras of Walled Lake, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Allison and daughter Sue of Matheson, and Loren and Kelvin Atwell of Santa Fe, N.M.

Quiz Measures Your Appliance Know-How

CHICAGO (UPI) — Modern appliances offer convenience at the homemaker's fingertips, if she knows which switch to flip.

But recent surveys show that the housewife is not always aware of all the improved features of her new appliances.

Test your "Appliance IQ" with this "true-false" quiz designed by the Whirlpool Corporation. Score 6 points for each correct answer. For a score of 60-56, consider yourself brilliant; 42-36, pretty smart; 24-18, average; 12 or less, confused.

—1. An automatic burner performs the same function as a thermostatic burner.

—2. Frost never forms in an automatic defrost refrigerator.

—3. Technical advances in gas ranges make it possible to fry an egg in a paper plate.

—4. A timed-electrical outlet can be used to operate the coffee perculator automatically, turning it on or off when the coffee has perked for the length of time selected.

—5. A timed-electrical outlet performs the same functions as a minute timer.

—6. Wash 'n wear cycles in automatic washers eliminate drip drying.

—7. It is possible to use the kitchen faucet while the automatic dishwasher attached to it is in operation.

—8. Surveys show that most housewives use too much detergent in their automatic washers.

—9. A bleach dispenser is an unnecessary "extra" on an automatic washer.

—10. Dishes should be rinsed before being loaded in an automatic dishwasher.

Answers to Appliance Quiz

—1. True. The automatic burner permits complete control over surface heat, eliminating boil-overs, burning, curdling.

—2. False. In the automatic defrost, frost forms in the freezer section but never in the fresh food section. In the no-frost or frost-free type, frost never forms in the fresh food section, or in the freezer section.

—3. True. Engineers have improved the gas range by inserting a cushion of air between the flame of the burner and the pan. This permits heat to be distributed evenly over the entire surface of a pan, preventing burning, even on a paper plate.

—4. True. The timed electrical outlet, which permits selecting a starting time in advance for any electrical appliance, is often overlooked because of its small size.

—5. False. A minute timer serves only as a convenient warning that the sauce has simmered the determined number of minutes.

—6. True. Wash 'n wear cycles in automatic washers include a cool-down period during which clothes are rinsed in cold water to prevent heat-set wrinkles.

—7. Tsue. A bleeder valve is attached to some dishwashers and water can be drawn while the appliance is in operation.

—8. False. Many women are afraid to use an adequate amount of detergent to do a thorough cleaning job. Surveys have shown that too little detergent results in tattle tale gray and yellowing problems.

—9. False. Dispensers prevent expensive spotting and burning problems by accurately diluting and dispensing bleach into the in the wash cycle at the proper time.

—10. False. The newer dishwashers only require excess food to be scraped before loading.

Third Summer Concert To Be Given by CC Friday

The third concert of the Colorado College Summer Series will be presented by the artist faculty on Friday, at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Auditorium.

In this program, violinist Giorgio Ciompi will be the featured artist. He will play Beethoven's spirited sonata in G major, op. 30 No. 3, with Max Lanner at the piano.

Mr. Ciompi, who is head of the string department at the Cleveland Institute of Music and leader of the famous Albeneri Trio, joined the Colorado College summer music faculty in 1959.

His distinguished career started at an early age when he came to the attention of Albert Spalding, the noted American violinist, who urged him to compete for a scholarship at the Paris Conservatoire.

Making his American debut in New York in 1938, he has concertized extensively in Europe and America.

The concert will open with Schumann's string quartet in A minor, op. 41 No. 1. This is the first of three string quartets from this composer's pen. Schumann, a contemporary and life-long friend of Chopin, belongs to the group of early romantic composers who started to write music when Beethoven was still alive.

His quartets show both the influence of the classic and the new aesthetic ideals of the romantic. Mr. Ciompi will be assisted by Miss Sue Fulghum, second violin, Abraham Skernick, viola, and Leslie Parnas, cello.

After intermission, Robert Jones will again join the members of the string quartet, providing the second viola for the performance of Mozart's string quintet in G minor (K. 516).

Only a very few works of the entire chamber music literature have become so widely popular as this particular quintet.

It is certainly one of the most moving and inspired masterpieces that any composer wrote. Tickets for the concert will be available at the evening box office.

Revamping of Judicial System to Be Costly

BOULDER (UPI) — An amendment to the Colorado Constitution calling for a revamping of the state judicial system is "flexible," but could prove costly to install, State Sen. Carl Fulghum, R-Glenwood Springs, said Friday.

Fulghum, speaking at a meeting of jurists, said he expected a barrage of protests on the costs of putting the amendment into effect by its deadline of Jan. 1, 1965. Colorado voters approved the amendment last November.

He said he was not sure whether the people voted for the amendment or against the justice of the peace courts, which would be eliminated under the new system.

"But it's here, and we must implement it to provide as efficient and workable a system as possible," he said.

Doors Close Once More on Marilyn's Mother

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—After 24 hours of freedom, the doors have closed once again on the mystery woman in the life of the late Marilyn Monroe—her mother.

The woman who held many clues to the brief life and early suicide of the famed movie star has been in nursing homes and sanitariums off and on for the past 29 years.

On Thursday, Mrs. Gladys Baker Eley, 60, escaped from the Rockhaven Sanitarium in a foothill section of Glendale.

Early yesterday a Baptist minister found her sitting on the steps of a church 15 miles away in the Sun Valley section of the San Fernando Valley.

"I'm looking for a Christian Science institution," she told the Rev. Brian Reid. "I don't like it where I am now."

She identified herself as Marilyn Monroe's mother, and explained:

"I don't want any of Marilyn's money. If I had it I would give it away to needy people."

The actress' will left most of her $1 million estate to her former acting coach, Lee Strasberg. But it provided $5,000 a year for the care of Mrs. Eley.

"This was the first trouble we've had with her in the 10 years she has been here," said a sanitarium spokesman.

She said Mrs. Eley knotted together two nurse's uniforms, slipped out through an 18-inch square window in a closet, and lowered herself 8 feet to the ground with the makeshift rope.

Gladys Baker was a Hollywood film cutter when Norma Jean Baker was born out of wedlock in 1926. She suffered a nervous breakdown when the girl was 8, and the child who was to become Marilyn Monroe was raised by a dozen sets of foster parents.

Intelligence Man Defects to Soviets

BERLIN (AP)—A British Army Corporal apparently has defected to the Communists and a British Army spokesman Saturday identified him as a member of the Intelligence Corps.

The spokesman made the disclosure after the official East German News Agency ADN said Cpl. Bryan Patchett had asked for political asylum in East Germany.

ADN identified Patchett as a member of a communications unit at the British military airport at Gatow, a suburb of West Berlin.

Apparently Patchett was engaged in communications intelligence which includes monitoring of East German and Russian radio communications.

The British Army confirmed that a Corporal Patchett had been absent without leave since last Tuesday. Informants said Patchett left a letter behind indicating he intended to defect to the Communists.

Zachary Taylor, the nation's 12 president, did not cast a ballot in an election until he was 62 years old. He spent most of his life as a soldier, never staying in one place long enough to qualify as an elector.

Boys Find They Must Clean Up Big Mess

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—Recipe for trouble: A sack of flour, ketchup, raspberries, maple syrup, peanut butter—and two idle boys, 14 and 15 years old.

Boys put ingredients in pile on floor, mix well, then fling goo on ceilings and walls.

Police said the boys admitted entering a recently-vacated house through an open window to stir up the trouble Wednesday.

Under police supervision, the boys toiled 10 hours Friday to clean up the mess. Today they return to paint the woodwork.

Trophy Won By AFA Cadet

The air officer commanding of the 17th cadet squadron, winner of the Air Defense Command trophy for overall military excellence and the Melanaphy trophy for best performance in intramural athletics for the 1962-63 academic year, will receive the Air Force Commendation Medal for his leadership of the unit.

Capt. Robert D. Carter "distinguished himself as AOC of the 17th Squadron. During his tour at the Academy, the captain "applied his knowledge, experience, and leadership abilities with purpose and determination." He also "developed programs within the squadron which markedly improved his organization in academics, intramural athletics, and all facets of military achievement."

Capt. Carter also worked out a system of accounting for the performance of the 24 cadet squadrons in eight competitive areas. The system has been successful in maintaining an orderly program entirely acceptable to the Cadet Wing.

WEDDING BANDS

The wedding ring generally is worn on the third finger of the left hand because of an old belief. People supposed that a vein runs directly from this finger to the heart, thus heart and hand are offered together. The custom continues though the belief is untrue.

Effect on Shaving Told in Jama

Scientific studies have proved that shaving has no permanent effect on the rate of hair growth in human beings, according to Dr. Howard T. Behrman, New York City.

Writing in the current Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Behrman said altho there is an immediate increase in the rate of hair growth after shaving, this increase is followed by a decrease within the next few hours. The net effect of the shave on the rate of growth, therefor, is zero, he said.

Dr. Behrman also said cutting or shaving the hair does not make it darker or coarser. However, he said, a hair shaft is darker and coarser at the root than at the tip, and cutting it near the root makes the hair appear darker and coarser.

Looking at Hollywood

"LILIES OF FIELD'GREAT MOVIE ON SMALL BUDGET

HOLLYWOOD — It's been said that low budget pictures won't sell; that you've got to shoot the works and hire the biggest stars. I saw "Lilies of the Field," which will make many of our spectacles look sick. It stars Sidney Poitier (unless a better actor comes along, he's got my vote for the Oscar); features Lilia Skala, a German refugee and a qualified engineer who's managed to scratch a living acting since she she escaped from Hitler but never before got off the ground, and four amateurs: Lisa Mann, secretary; Pamela Branch, the production manager's daughter; and two Tucson housewives.

Picture was produced and directed by Ralph Nelson at a cost of $247,000 from a screenplay by James Poe based on William Barrett's short novel. Story's about an ex-GI (Poitier) who stops at a farm in the desert to get water for his station wagon, becomes entangled with five nuns, who are convinced God sent him. Before he gets away, he's built them a chapel, despite his protestations that he's not a Catholic, but a Baptist.

"Lilies" will be released abroad before it opens in New York in the fall, and will do more to repair the American image overseas than any film ever made. And Poitier will be hailed as one of our great, great actors.

Anita Loos, after a 25-year absence, took a sentimental journey to her birthplace, Etna, a small town in northern California. I asked how it looked.

"When I left," she said, "the population started going down. Hasn't changed at all."

She's here visiting her niece, Mrs. Richard Sale.

I asked about the play She planned with Carol Channing.

"We had to postpone it," said Anita. "The actor Fred Coe and I found to play the king became violently ill after reaching New York and had to return to England. Now we have to start all over again. When Carol plays Queen Anne of Cleves, she must have the perfect king opposite her."

Orry-Kelly went from painting canvases to clothes in a hurry. He'll dress Ava Gardner for "Seven Days in May." Their last reunion was for "One Touch of Venus.

Bette Davis is losing a daughter but gaining a wonderful son-in-law in Jeremy Human, who has about everything, including good manners and looks. I've rarely seen a more shining, happy couple. When I said to Bette, "I don't know how it feels to be BD's age," she replied, "Neither do I. But then we were never 16."

The wedding takes place end of December. The bride's gown will be designed by Stella of Bullock's Wilshire. At the engagement party Bette gave, I met the doctor who delivered BD. He's known Bette more than 30 years.

"You should write the story of her life," I told him. "I could," said he.

Nat King Cole spotted Pete Barbutti, young comic from Scranton, Pa., on TV, and signed him for Nat's 40-city tour of U. S. A in "Sights and Sounds of '63," starting in September.

Ginger Rogers met up with Pat Boone in Dallas, so what? So Ginger's trying to persuade him to make a picture with her and her husband in Jamaica.

Jack Palance hasn't made a film here in several years, but since he's doing "The Greatest Show on Earth" for Desilu in connection with Ringling Brothers circus, he'll go on tour and sell the show.

Arthur Hiller thinks Fred MacMurray should switch from comedy and play a serious role — a senator in "A Matter of Principle." Some senators can be pretty comic.

While the Gordon MacRaes play Chicago, their daughter Meredith takes time off from "My Three Sons" to star in "Wildcat," in Kansas City, which Lucille Ball did on Broadway.

Before Howard Keel joins the national company of "No Strings" he'll play the starring role in the Broadway company.

Court Declares U.S. Has Control Over Airline

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The Nebraska Supreme Court ruled here the federal government and not the individual states has authority over the activities of an airline operating in both interstate and intrastate commerce.

The ruling came in the high court's reversal of a State Railway Commission decision which ordered Frontier Airlines to continue service on a route stretching from Omaha across northern Nebraska to Casper, Wyo.

The Civil Aeronautics board (CAB) in 1961 had given Frontier permission to discontinue the northern route, called Segment 13.

In its decision the high court said "the federal government is paramount in this area and the conflicting directive of the state's agency interferes with the national policy."

When oral arguments in the case were heard, the court was told that it was proven after a trial period that the cities in Nebraska on Segment 13 failed to measure up to the CAB's minimum traffic requiremests.

Under the CAB's "use it or lose it" policy, communities were expected to produce a minimum of five passengers daily.

The Supreme Court was told that continued operation of the route would not be feasible economically and might well result in a loss estimated at between $50,000 and $200,000.

Arguing on the other side of the question, special Asst. Atty. Gen. Rush Clark of North Platte said Frontier never gave the cities on the route a chance to prove a need for the service.

In its written opinion, the Supreme Court said it was apparent that Congress had adopted a general plan to regulate aviation in interstate commerce.

Segment 13, between Omaha and Casper, had intermediate points at Lincoln, Columbus, Norfolk, Ainsworth, Valentine, and Chadron in Nebraska, and Douglas and Lusk in Wyoming.

SERVICES MERGE

FORT COLLINS (UPI) The Colorado State University extension service announced Friday two Western Slope counties have joined their extension services. Mesa and Delta counties joined and James Doyle, Mesa County agent, is the director of the two-county service.

LT. COL. FLOYD C. ETHRIDGE

* * *

Former Teacher Named Director At AFA

A member of the original Air Force Academy teaching staff is returning to the Academy as the new director of Candidate Advisory Service.

Lt. Col. Floyd C. Ethridge reports to the Academy after a tour as information officer with the 28th NORAD Region, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

The colonel was selected as a member of the original Academy staff and joined the faculty at Lowry AFB interim quarters in April 1955. He became chief of the Navigation Training Division, serving in that capacity until June 1959 when he was assigned to the Long Beach, Calif. Reserve Center.

A native of Taylorville, Ill., Col. Ethridge entered the service as an enlisted man in September 1940 and served as an aircraft mechanic instuctor until entering cadet training in 1942.

During World War Two he was assigned as a navigator-instructor and combat crew navigator in the Pacific. Following the war the colonel was a SAC combat crew member and an instructor and education staff officer in the field of navigation. From 1953-55 he served with the RAF in England under the officer exchange program.

Col. Ethridge received a BA degree in psychology from Sacramento State College and completed off-duty graduate work in the field at Baylor and the University of Denver.

He is also a graduate of the Boston University course in public relations and communications.

Col. Ethridge is the father of five children.

Williams Ends Eight-Night Stand at Broadmoor

Audiences have emerged all week from the Broadmoor International Theatre suffused in the happy glow that comes from hearing a superb artist present his special talent for their enjoyment. And this Roger Williams has done unstintingly and will do so again tonight in the closing show of his current engagement.

It is easy to understand why Roger Williams has come to be recognized as one of the top popular instrumental concert artist in the world, and why his records sell in the millions.

A personality of rare charm, combined with piano artistry, make his show a delight to all who attend. He plays the hits he made famous and traces the history of modern piano, playing a series of tunes in the styles made famous by other greats in the field. The program also includes an interpretation by Williams of Brahms Hungarian Dance No. 5, and one secton of the program is devoted to the ensemble, a magic blending of harp, two guitars, bass and percussion.

Tickets for tonight's performance, and all succeeding shows, may be obtained by calling the International Theatre boxoffice, 634-1660, which is open from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.

On July 16, Harry Belafonte and Company will open a six-night engagement at the International Theatre. The two-act program, called simply "Belafone and Company", will feature 14 dancers, nine singers, a score of instrumentalists a new songstress, Joan Toliver, making her professional debut in this tour.

This undertaking is an ambitious one for the international singing star, in as much it will play engagements in large theatres for longer periods than ever before attempted by any other major single attraction. Most oustanding among these is a just compleed three-week stand in Toronto and an unprecedented four week engagement at the Creek Thatre in Los Angles. Belafonte has been the only attraction ever to play the Los Angeles outdoor spot for more than two weeks, playing to SRO audiences there for three consecutive weeks in 1957, 1959 and 1961.

This concert tour is one of the biggest productions Belafonte has ever taken on the road, featuring dancers for the first time. The first two dates of his tour, Rochester and Toronto, were sold out the first week the boxoffices were open. There are negotiations at present to bring Belafonte to he USSR late this year under the sponsorship of the U.S. State Department. He has also been asked to take this concert tour into he New York Ziegfeld Theare for a limited engagement later this year.

Produced by Phil Stein, choreographed by Walter Nicks, with lighting by Ralph Alswang, costumes by Alvin Colt and conducted by Howard Roberts, the company of 35 will play in cities in the U.S. and Canada on their current tour.

GOOD REASON

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—After issuing an order for his children to start making their own beds on weekends, William Latz held Saturday morning inspection.

All the beds were lumpy except 10-year-old Kathy's, which was faultlessly in order. Latz called attention to how well his daughter had made her bed.

"You know why her bed is made so well?" explained her brother. "She slept on the floor last night."

RIGHT START

TORRINGTON, Conn. (AP) — Couples who purchased marriage licenses from City Clerk Fred P. Bruni during June got a real bargain.

Bruni turned the regular $2 fee over to the city, then dug into his own pocket to present the applicants with a shiny silver dollar as a good-luck memento.

STOPWATCH SHOPPING

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—A housewife's dream came true for a 26-year-old man when he was turned loose in a supermarket and given all the foodstuffs he could carry to the checkout counter in 15 minutes.

Jerry Shaw, winner of "Shoppers Sweepstakes" conducted by a bottling company, is a bachelor. He conducted a "dry run" through the store in advance to find out where everything was located.

Lettuce, native to Asia, was introduced to Europe in the 1300s. The vegetable contains vitamins and roughage.

College Board Trustee Is Appointed by Love

DENVER (UPI) — Gov. John Love appointed Stuart W. McLaughlin to a 6-year term on the Board of Trustees of State Colleges Friday.

McLaughlin, a Rangely, Colo., oil man, replaces Thomas Girault of Denver. His term expired.

Algerian Chief Wants New 'Popular Front'

ALGIERS (AP) — Premier ahmed Ben Bella has called for dissolution of the National Liberation Front (FLN) as Algeria's single political party.

In its place, he proposed forming a new popular front.

The Mercury spacecraft Faith 7, manned by Maj. L. Gordon Cooper, traveled at a speed of 17,546 miles per hour.

Pueblo Art Show Features Works of Irving Amen

The works of Irving Amen, internationally famous graphic artist, will be shown at the Gallery-7th Red Door, 1401 Elizabeth Ave., Pueblo, Sunday thru July 27. Mrs. Robert Pierce, 1840 Bonforte Blvd., Pueblo, will be on hand at the opening coffee Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. demonstrating woodblock techniques and tools to the public, to further understanding and appreciation of the medium. There will be wood available for visitors who wish to try the tools themselves.

Amen, who was born in New York City in 1918, has studied in the United States, Italy, France, and Mexico. One-man shows of his work have appeared in New York, Washington, and Los Angeles and many other cities in the United States. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Museum and others in Paris, London, Germany, Austria and Jerusalem include his work.

Jacob Kainen, curator of the Smithsonian Institution, says of Aman: "Such artists are rare; the difficulties of controlling the stubborn, inflexible plank, particularly in color compositions, are so formidable that few can make it speak a live, resilient language.

The true woodcutter's knifestroke, gouge or scrape has a decisive but intimate quality that seems to release the voice of the wood."

"Amen's technical brilliance is not that of the virtuoso but of the master who can conjure up the special properties that make the woodcut so fascinating, so nobly rude and yet so limpid and elegant. His draughtsman's line is powerful and imaginative but it is not the line of the pen or brush.

It is the woodcutter's line . . firm, crisp, and wtih the appearance of having been carved or hewn.

"His color, applied flatly, is not realistic but is used to create rich and harmonious ensembles. With these gifts it is understandable that Amen should be attracted to the color woodcut as his vehicle of expression."

The prints selected by the gallery for his Pueblo show vary widely in size and subject matter. They range, according to gallery owner Mrs. C. E. Brady, from "clear, transparent colors and crisp lines to soft, muted tones that many critics say give some of his work a mystical feeling. Venice, Folk Singer, Sleeping Girl, Magic Flute, Equestrian, Going to the Fair, Lament for a Bull Fighter, Why Does the Bird Sing, are some of the titles which give clues to the artist's interests and the subject matter of his work.

UP SALT RIVER

LOUISVILLE (AP) — There's an old saw in Ketucky that defeated political candidates are "Up Salt River."

It stemmed apparently from the presidential campaign of 1832 when Kentucky statesman Henry Clay opposed Andrew Jackson.

Clay was vacationing near the mouth of Salt River a short distance from Louisville and was due in the city to make a speech. Clay missed the speech, a factor deemed crucial in his defeat.

Word Received Of Local Service Men

Word was received last week of a number of Colorado Springs men in the Armed forces.

Marine Pvt. David L. Mayo, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Mayo, 500 Crestridge St., on June 5 completed individual combat training at the Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton, Calif. Newly enlisted Marines are indoctrinated to field maneuvers, tactical planning and the use of infantry weapons.

John E. Rasmussen, son of Mrs. Jean D. Rasmussen, 17 Loma Linda Dr., is undergoing recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

David J. Kelty, constructionman apprentice, UDN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kelty, 3215 N. Institute St., was part of the main group of Naval Mobile Construction Battalion Five, which recently embarked aboard the transport ship USNS General Hugh J. Gaffey, bound for Guam. Upon arriving at Guam the battalion begins a nine-month deployment consisting of various construction projects at naval installation on the island.

Marine Pfc. Kenneth J. Barnett, 2607 Manitou Blvd., is visiting in Colorado Springs on a 20-day leave from the U. S. Marine Corps. He is currently stationed with the 2nd Battalion of the 7th Marine Regiment at Camp Pendleton, Calif. He is a gunner in an 81mm mortar squad.

Neil J. Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid O. Erickson, 1217 La Salle St., departed Friday for active duty with the U. S. Marine Corps. Erickson, who elected to enlist for aviation duty, originally joined the Marine delay enlistment program March 11. He attended the Widefield High School.

Army Specialist Five Ray A. Archuletta, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael T. Archuletta of Florence, Colo., participated in a massive display of missiles, artillery and engineer equipment in honor of President Kennedy's visit in Hanau, Germany. Also participating was Army Pfc. Delbert E. Henry, whose wife Evelyn lives in Genoa, Colo. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Henry, of Genoa.

Airman Third Class Monty L. Whitney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Montfort Whitney, 1019 Sunset Rd., is being reassigned to Brooks AFB, Tex., following his graduation from the U. S. Air Force technical training course for accounting specialists at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

Thomas W. Thacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Thacker, 506 Chatfield Dr., has been promoted to airman second class in the U. S. Air Force. He is assigned to the 40th Field Maintenance Squadron as an aircraft instrument repairman.

Region Students Enter KU Art, Music Camp

Janice K. Berendt, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Herbert W. Berendt, Fox Road, Cascade, and Cathy Cornett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cornett Jr., Green Mountain Falls, are among more than 1100 students enrolled in the Midwestern Music and Art Camp at the University of Kansas.

The course will be a six weeks highly concentrated session, in essence an accelerated secondary program, giving high school students an opportunity to study in their chosen field on an advanced level in a scholarly atmosphere.

Both of the local girls are enrolled in the art division of the camp.

Scientists Study Comet-Making Methods

How do you make a comet? This is a problem that NASA scientists would like to solve and they hope that a series of sounding rocket experiments will provide some answers.

If the experiments show that making a comet is successful, NASA would consider launching an artificial comet around the sun to provide resesearchers with a chance to study the sun's action in interplanetary space.

Explains Andrew E. Potter, Jr. scientist with the Reaction Kinetics Section at NASA's Lewis Research Center, a successful manmade comet would answer a lot of questions. Information obtained, he said, would be most helpful in future space missions beyond the moon.

"If the simulated comet duplicates the behavior of an actual comet, we will have a better understanding of natural comets." Mr. Potter said.

This is imporatant because a current theory holds that comets are composed of the materials of our solar system at the time it was formed. Knowing precisely what this cometary material is may tell us something about the conditions in the universe at the time our solar system was born," he added.

The first sounding rocket tests will be aimed at finding out if chemical reactions initiated in space can produce gas and dust clouds similar to those of a comet.

Chemicals will be ignited at altitudes of about 70 miles and researchers hope that large clouds of colorful glowing gases will be produced.

Most natural comets are invisible in interplanetary space beyond Mars. They begin to light up and become visible as they near the sun.

A comet does not generate all its own light. Apparently sunlight stimulates a comet to produce huge clouds of gas and dust which reflect the sunlight very well.

Wool is elastic enough to stretch about 30 per cent beyond its length yet spring back to its original measurements.

John Hall Spends Naval Leave in Colorado Springs

John R. Hall Sfc., son of Thomas M. Hall, 410 East Hills Rd., St. Paul, Minn., whose wife is the former Jeanne V. Coniff, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Coniff, 729 W. Buena Ventura St., has spent the past two weeks leave in Colorado Springs. The family, including three children, renewed acquaintances, and visited relatives.

The Hall's said it was nice getting back to old familiar grounds after being absent for a long spell.

The Halls are now residing in St. Paul, Minnesota. Hall is presently stationed at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, Navy Island, St. Paul, Minn. as the station recruiter.

AFA Cadets Bone Up on Close Order Drill

Some members of the class of 1967 now undergoing basic training at the Air Force Academy may be convinced their journey to space will be taken the hard way — on foot.

Basic cadet training at the Academy lets the newcomers "put their foot in it" from the start. Now in the second week of the eight-week training program, basics are busy boning up on such military fundamentals as close order drill.

Too, future Air Force officers find the infantryman's basic weapon, the M-1 rifle a constant companion. In addition to learning nomenclature, assembly and disassembly, and the manual of arms with the weapon, basics fire the M-1 on the Jacks Valley range.

This week, basics are learning the intricacies of squadron drill preparing for their first parade Saturday. Saturday will also mark the first full scale inspection — both of quarters and in ranks.

But the eight-week course is not to be without an Air Force flavor. Between July 29 and Aug. 10 the entire class will receive orientation flights in both T-29 propellor driven aircraft and T-33 jet trainers.

The flights are preceded by intensive orientation courses in flight procedures and equipment including a session in the Lowry AFB altitude chamber.

The Defense Department is responsible for spending nearly 10 per cent of the national income, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.
